

$20 CAR LEADS DRIVER TO JAIL AFTER CRASH

Two Children Bruised; Find Auto Lacks License Plates.

Edward Graham, 16, of New Bethel, today pondered the amount of trouble one can bump into with a $20 auto.

Bad luck rode with him along Stop 6 road, near Emerson avenue, Monday night when he forced another car, driven by Fred Bechold, 902 Gladstone avenue, into a ditch, bruising Robert Bechold, 8, and Roy Bechold, 5.

Today he awaited trial on charges of reckless driving, having improper lights, no certificate of title and no license plate.

He admitted, police said, that the one license plate that dangled from a rear fender had been found in a junk yard.

Held for Attack

Accused of an attack with a billiard cue on Lee Mathews, Japanese boy at the Indianapolis Country Club Sunday night, Walter Stegall, 18, of 2314 West Walnut street, today was charged with assault and battery with intent to kill.

After the fight Stegall fled to Columbus, O., where he was arrested Monday.

Admits 20 Thefts

Earl Monroe, 17, of 430 East St. Clair street, today faced burglary charges following his admission to detectives Monday afternoon that he robbed more than twenty groceries, lunch rooms and gasoline filling stations within the last few months.

He said he obtained cigarettes, candy, food and small sums of money. Recently he left the city, fearing arrest, but Monday returned home, where he was arrested.

Beer Explodes, Cuts Man

Ila Reeves, switchboard operator at police headquarters, today supplemented to the national Constitution with a personal edict against liquor, home brew in particular.

A quart bottle of home-made beer stored in his room after a recent raid, exploded Monday afternoon, and bits of the glass cut his face.

Hires' Men, Gets $20

An "agent" of a fictitious dairy concern today was sought by police after two men reported they gave $10 bonds to insure good care of milk trucks they were to drive for the company.

In both cases the agent hired men from the employment agencies in the city and made appointments to deliver the trucks. The victims were Ed Able, 1321 Oliver avenue, and Cecil Wayland, 1314 Oliver street.

Two Held on Arms Count

Charges of vagrancy and carrying concealed weapons were lodged against Jim Fisher, 33, of 420 North Delaware street, and Joe Rae, 28, of East Washington street, when they were found sitting in a parked car in front of Fisher's home at 2 a. m. today.

Police said Rae attempted to hide a .38-caliber revolver in the back seat of the car. A .45-caliber gun was found at Fisher's side. Both carried extra cartridges.

Drivers Held for Perjury

Arthur Battley, 3007 Hoover street, today was held for the grand jury, and Benjamin Johnson, 116 West Walnut street, faced charges of perjury that state police say were committed when they applied for automobile operator's licenses.

Both are said to have denied previous felony convictions which are recorded against them.

ESTATE CLAIMS FILED

Additional claims totaling $2,917.92 were on file today in the probate clerk's office against the estate of Will H. Latta, former Indianapolis attorney, who was killed in an automobile-train crash in Hamilton county several weeks ago.

The major claim filed was that of George L. Foote, internal revenue collector for the government, for unpaid income tax amounting to $2,497.92. The other claims were: J. A. Burton, $388, and the H. Lieber Company, $32.

"Diploma Mills" Are Routed

WASHINGTON, July 23.—A combination of unfavorable publicity and stringent laws have rid the national capital of its former host of "diploma mills," or hall room universities selling everything from fake ministerial degrees to medical paraphernalia. Miss Pearl McCall, assistant United States attorney, has stated.

Clinic Blast Takes New Victim

NEWARK, O., July 23.—Death of Ronald Coonour, 7, brought the toll of dead from the Cleveland clinic disaster of May 15 to 129. The boy died late Monday at the home of his parents here. Physicians said his death was hastened by fumes he inhaled at the clinic, where he had gone for treatment.

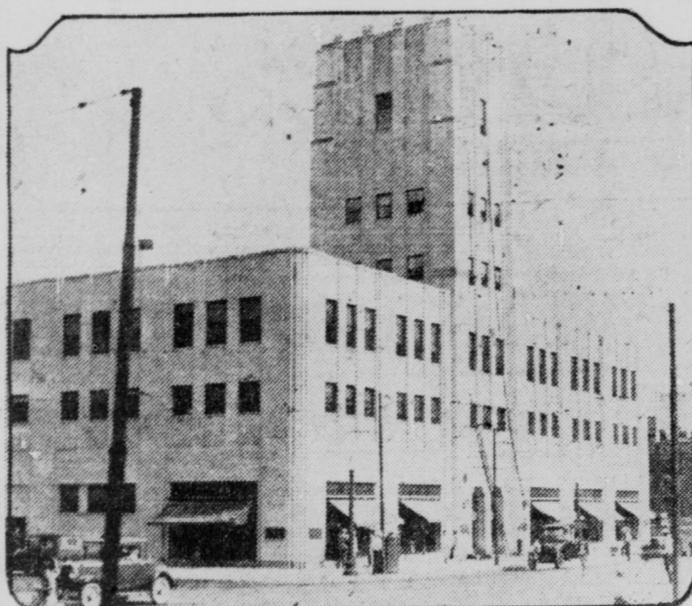

Famous Pianist Is Dead

PARIS, July 23.—Edouard Risler, 32, celebrated throughout Europe as a pianist, and known particularly for his interpretations of Beethoven, died Monday night.

SEARS, ROEBUCK TO OPEN CITY STORE

The new Sears, Roebuck & Company Retail Store.

Mayor Slack Will Unlock Doors Thursday; 400 Are Employed.

With Mayor L. Ert Slack formally unlocking the doors, the new Sears, Roebuck & Co. retail store at the intersection of Alabama and Vermont streets with Massachusetts avenue, will be opened to the public Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

The big department store, employing 400 persons and offering the wide variety of merchandise that has characterized the company's mail order service, will be open daily after Thursday from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. The store will remain open until 9 o'clock Saturday night.

Located outside the restricted traffic area, for convenience of shoppers, the store offers a parking space adjoining the building. The new structure is 120 feet high, including the tower; fronts 154 feet on Alabama street and 148 on Vermont street. Each of the three full floors affords 22,500 square feet of space.

Offices on Third Floor

The basement, first and second floors will be used for merchandise, while the third floor will be devoted to offices. A cooling system is contained in the tower.

Forty-two distinctive departments will be found, John Burke manager, said today.

On entering the store the customer sees first immediately to the right front the jewelry and silverware counters, and across the aisle from them the men's furnishing counters. To the immediate left are the departments carrying handbags, hose, gloves and notions, and to the immediate right men's hats, men's furnishings, cigars and tobacco. Beyond, to the right, is the men's clothing departments.

Down the aisle the visitor finds the drug counters and, adjoining the stationery department. Across and boys clothing, and behind them men's work clothing and the shoe department.

Soda Fountain Installed

To the right of the main aisle, at the wide cross aisle, are seen the departments for wash goods, piece goods, towels and toweling, silks and stockings and linens. To the extreme right of the main aisle is the soda fountain and luncheonette and the candy counters. In the corner is the music department, with sheet music, pianos, photographs and records.

On the second floor are the departments for women's ready to wear, with fitting rooms adjoining, millinery, lingerie, corsets, infants' wear, draperies, shades and blankets.

Across are the furniture departments, floor coverings, reading and stand lamps, sewing machines, linoleum, musical instruments and the offices of the cashiers, route desk, adjustment desk and other store departments.

CONVICTS IDLE AS REVOLT IS BEING PROBED

Attempted Jail Break Suspicions Point to Chicago 'Cowboy' Gangsters.

By United Press DANNEMORA, N. Y., July 23.—A fearsome holiday hung over Clinton state prison here today. No prisoner labored. Only the officials of the prison worked.

The 1,568 desperate convicts here yearned for labor to break the deadly monotony and tense expectancy of an investigation of the attempted jail break of Monday.

Thirteen hundred of those 1,568 prisoners who made a desperate plunge for freedom, minus the three who had found death instead, shivered in their narrow cells expecting the worst.

Prison officials were attempting to find the source of the well-plotted concerted attempt.

"Cowboy" Gangsters Suspected

Suspicion pointed to Dick and Leon Kraemer, brother members of the famous "Richard Reese White" "cowboy" gang, who headed an attempt in November, 1922, frustrated before it got as far as Monday's daring dash.

Officials realized the unlikelihood of finding a "squealer" among the 1,300, mindful as all of them were of the nearly fatal stabbing of Herman Linderman by Leon Kraemer.

Linderman, later pardoned for his "squealing" on a former attempt, was employed to "pep up" towns along the route.

Eleven Convicts Wounded

Warden Harry M. Kaiser in a brief letter to Charles Jones, acting commissioner of correction at Albany, reported only six of the eleven wounded in the riot, which entailed the burning of two prison factories, required hospital treatment.

A complete report of the riot was prepared today for submission to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt at Albany.

The Governor, now engaged in a

Killed by Pony

By United Press CHICAGO, July 23.—After saving his pennies for five years Cyril Watson, 11, realized his life's ambition and bought a Shetland pony.

On his first ride Monday night the animal trampled him to death when it became frightened by a cat.

TOWN TO BACK CROQUET TOUR

Rule, Tex., Furnishes Money for 'Marathon.'

By United Press

RULE, Tex., July 23.—Lean days are gone forever for Barber G. C. Hart and Tailor L. R. Rose, who made a second start on their croquet marathon to New York today with the money backing of their home town.

The soaking partners were forced to abandon their fantastic journey at Bryan, Tex., after 100 miles of thwacking when, as they expressed it, "the bacon ran out."

Back they came to their home town, expecting to be greeted with jeers, for Bryan had laughed heartily when they first started.

Instead, they were welcomed with enthusiasm and enough money was contributed to properly finance their trip, which will start from Bryan this time.

Besides this, an advance agent was employed to "pep up" towns along the route.

tour of state institutions which will bring him here within two weeks, expressed concern over the riot by 1,300 convicts when he communicated with prison officials Monday night.

The men slain were Harold F. Brunner, 33, of Tioga, Pa., serving a life term as a fourth offender; Herman Reis, 46, of Buffalo, a fourth offender serving a life term; and Clyde Shackelford, 30, sentenced to from twenty years to life for second degree murder from Albany county.

Clinton prison is the "tough" prison of the state. Hardened criminals, men who have proved incorrigible at other institutions, and convicts sentenced for particularly brutal crimes, are lodged here.
