

ONLY with a radio can you be entertained so brilliantly. The greatest opera stars sing for you. The famous dance orchestras play for your merry-making. Football and prize fights are relayed to you, play by play, amid the shouts of the crowds. You could not go—otherwise—to all the shows and sport events where a radio takes you!

(2) With a radio you keep up with the world! News is flashed to you as fast as it happens . . . a plane starts across the Atlantic . . . a few seconds after it ends its hazardous trip, your radio brings the news! The happenings of the world troop out into your living room . . . making life more vivid than possible without a radio.

(3) A radio acquaints you with famous folk, important folk! The President talks to you in your own living room. Thomas Edison chats intimately on his birthday every year. Lindbergh, Commander Byrd, Tunney, Dempsey—all have spoken into any home which had a radio. As fast as heroes are made, they make friends with you—if you're a radio-listener.

(4) Your easy chair is on the front row of the world's greatest show . . . if a radio is beside it. Think of the ease of being entertained without stirring outside your own home!

(5) A radio gives you so much information which will be of use and pleasure to you. You learn to know the most glorious operas. You become familiar with foreign words . . . you never have to fumble for the pronunciation of "Gigli" or "Czecho-Slovakia." Explorers carry you to strange corners of the world. Life becomes richer because of the variety which tumbles out of your radio.

(6) The best entertainment can be the cheapest—when it comes through a radio. For a six-tube set will play a three-hour program for only two cents!

(7) What's your mood this evening? Choose a radio program to chime with it . . . get a soothing stringed quartet . . . or Sousa's band . . . or anything else! For there are so many stations with such a medley of programs that you can find one to suit your mood almost any hour of the day or night!
