Oscella Wilson, Negro, was fined $1 and costs and given four months in the penal farm for issuing a fraudulent check. Hershel Day was fined $10 and costs for making a false statement to a certificate of title on a motor car.

He is alleged to have stolen several articles from the home of Allen Lloyd, 960 East Washington street, June 2.

Found guilty of petit larceny and burglary, John Battering, 22, was sentenced to serve one to five years at the reformatory.

On parole from the reformatory on charges of vehicle taking and unlawful possession of an automobile, Marvin Wyatt, 27, was returned as a parole violator when found guilty of the same charges Tuesday.

Clarence Wheeler, 16, 155 Bright street, was given a four-month state farm sentence on a charge of larceny. The sentence was suspended during good behavior.

For Auto Theft

Orville Day, 27, Greeley, Colo., received a one to ten-year sentence at the reformatory on a charge of vehicle taking. Henry McKinney, 31, was sentenced to the state prison for three to ten years for second degree burglary.

He is said to have admitted stealing the car of William Spice, 2135 North Meridian street, June 18.

Bevington admitted wrecking the car at Sixty-third and Meridian streets.

SUIT TO OUST GOVERNOR OF WISCONSIN FOUGHT

Challenge Holds Impeachment Only Method of Removal.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 4.—Challenge of the civil suit to oust Governor Walter J. Kohler was made today before Judge James Wickham by the Governor. The suit, which demurs to the action by which La Follette progressive leaders would remove Kohler as Governor on a charge of violating the corrupt practices act, Kohler's attorneys argued impeachment is the only method by which the state's chief executive can be ousted.

The action is a forfeiture procedure outlined in the corrupt practices act. It is based on the charge $100,000 was spent with the knowledge and consent of the Governor to secure his election. Attorney-General John W. Reynolds authorized the suit in the name of the state.

WHISKY FREIGHT RATE FOR MEDICINE UPHELD

High Charges by Railways Approved by Examiner.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Reductions in freight rates on medicinal whisky, which sells at $9.50 a gallon, was held not justified today in an examiner's report to the interstate commerce commission.

The American Medicinal Spirits Company, Brown Foreman Distillery Company and R. E. Warthen Co., all of Louisville, contended whisky in cases and barrels, shipped from Louisville to Los Angeles and San Francisco, were taxed excessive rates.

The report recommended that, inasmuch as whisky does not move in sufficient volume to warrant application of commodity rates, the railroads were justified in charging high rates. It also added the carriers' charge of $150 for guarding whisky seemed fair.

SEEK AID OF BUSINESS MEN

More Donations Needed for Police Radio Fund.

An appeal was made today by the Citizens Police Radio commission to more than 16,000 Indianapolis manufacturers and business and professional men for subscriptions to complete a $25,000 fund to equip the police department with a radio system.

The commission hopes to complete its drive within ten days, although donations will be received until Oct. 1, according to Andrew J. Allen, general chairman. If the goal is not reached then, he declared, the project will be dropped.

Other officers of the commission, which recently was appointed by Mayor L. Ert Slack to collect the funds, are: Donald J. Angus, Sinceneth Club, vice-chairman; Herman E. Snook, Junior Chamber of Commerce, secretary, and Frank D. Stalnaker, Indianapolis Clearing House Association, trustee for the subscriptions and equipment donations.

Tests soon will be made with the WPBM emergency station to determine whether the city has any dead spots for radio reception, due to interference of geological nature, or from tall steel buildings.

ATTORNEYS PROTEST

Declare Law Enforcement Program Incomplete.

Members of the special law enforcement committee of the Indiana State Bar Association are dissatisfied with the tentative program for the state law enforcement conference called by Governor Harry G. Leslie.

They will meet with the arrangement committee, headed by Senator C. Oliver Holmes, Gary, at the office of Attorney-General James M. Ogden, president of the bar association, to iron out difficulties next Saturday.

A letter from J. A. Van Osdel, Anderson, chairman of the bar committee, addressed to Holmes asked the meeting be held. Van Osdel points out he feels sufficient stress has not been given the part in law enforcement to be played by the lawyers and courts.

LESLIE RETURNS TO STUDY TAX BOOST FIGURES

Considers Appointments After Absence of Several Weeks.

Governor Harry G. Leslie returned to the statehouse today, after an absence of several weeks, to find his desk piled with appointments needing consideration and figures from which he will obtain aid in deciding the state tax rate.

Necessity for a 6 or 7-cent increase in the present state rate of 23 cents is conceded.

Decision will be made soon by the Governor, members of the state tax board, state auditor and state treasurer.

Among the first callers at the Governor's office, upon his return, was Estes Duncan of Cloverdale, who seeks the post of O. H. Greist, Winchester, as executive secretary of the Indiana state teachers' retirement fund. He held the post before Greist was appointed, under the Jackson administration.

Duncan is said to have Leslie's approval. The decision is to be made at the meeting of the state board of education, Sept. 13.

William A. Hough, Greenfield, chairman of the state tax board, also was among the callers, but failed to see the Governor before noon. His term expired Sept. 1. He has been a member of the board for the last eight years.

Calvin Paris, Muncie, parliamentarian of the house of representatives, and James Showalter, Wabash, are mentioned as possible successors to Hough, with the former holding the post position.

Will Not Comment

The Governor refused to comment whether or not Hough will be reappointed.

Alfred E. Hogston, state fire marshal, is scheduled for reappointment Oct. 1, and it is reported that numerous changes are being made in his personnel staff so that the retention of the post will be assured.

Rollie Granger, one-time prominent Ku-Klux Klan worker, is said to be the next on the schedule to leave Hogston's office, several others having been shifted recently.

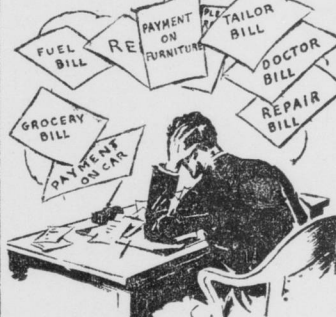

Leslie has been slow on making appointments and it may be that some of these positions will hang fire, as did the adjutant-generalship for many months.

Man, Knifed in Drunken Brawl, Dies in Hospital

John Ellis Is Victim of Wounds Inflicted in Quarrel.

John Ellis, 34, died early today in city hospital from knife wounds said to have been inflicted by a woman Sunday morning during a quarrel which police say climaxed an all-night drinking bout at 911 North Capitol avenue.

Mrs. Lavina Taffe, 29, who for three days sobbed her remorse and prayed for Ellis' recovery, collapsed in her jail cell when Sheriff George Winkler gave her the message she knew doomed her to face first degree murder charges.

"Oh, I don't care what happens to me now," she cried.

"All of Us Drunk"

"We were drunk, all of us," she said, including John's brother, William, 31, and Vern Hutto, 43, of the North Capitol avenue address, who are held on vagrancy charges as material witnesses. Mrs. Viola Ellis, the dead man's ex-wife, who went to the house after the stabbing, also is being held as a witness.

For ten years, since she came to Indianapolis from New Albany, Mrs. Taffe told the sheriff this morning she and John had been friends. Then, after her husband's death in February, which Corner C. H. Keever termed a "probable suicide," they became lovers.

For a week prior to the party that ended with the stabbing, they had been drinking heavily, she said.

Illustrates Stabbing

"When John was drunk he was touchy," Mrs. Taffe told Winkler. "I don't remember what we quarreled about. I was cutting bread in the kitchen and he struck me."

Two swollen, purple eyes testify that he, or some one else, hit her. "I grabbed the knife and cut him—here." She drew her hand across her right breast. "I don't remember it, but they say I tried to take poison after that."

The other members of the party sent Ellis to the hospital, and took Mrs. Taffe riding in an automobile. Returning to the house later all were placed under arrest, and Mrs. Taffe is said to have admitted wielding the knife.

No survivors are known except Ellis' brother and divorced wife.
