Active Fight Will Be Made by Workers Against Glossbrenner.

Sixteen thousand men and women members of Indianapolis trade unions today began vigorous campaign to defeat Alfred M. Glossbrenner, Republican candidate for mayor.

Day and night meetings are scheduled by the trade unionists, who have opened headquarters in the English under the name of the Workers' Nonpartisan Political Action League.

Rallies have been arranged by the speakers' bureau and three meetings were held Wednesday night with the Molders, Metal Polishers and Bookbinders. The latter union appropriated $200 for the campaign fund. Adolph Fritz, secretary of the Indiana State Federation of Labor.

Sullivan Is Indorsed

Reginald Sullivan, Democratic candidate for mayor, has been endorsed by the organization.

Although mud-slinging will not be countenanced, officers of the league said, they will point out that the Republican candidate is not in sympathy with child labor legislation; that he has conducted a nonunion printing establishment for many years and that he is a former president of the "closed-to-union shop division" of the United Typotheticians of America.

Statements made by Glossbrenner in the house organ of the Levey Printing Company, the Shield, showing his opinion on public matters will be used in the campaign.

LESLIE READY TO NAME NEW ARMORY BOARD

Retiring Adjutant-General Says Real Action Can Be Expected.

Governor Harry G. Leslie soon will announce a new armory board, which will function as a board," Adjutant-General William G. Everson declared today, upon his retirement from the state post.

General Everson leaves for the west coast to attend a national guard officers' meeting as the first act of his administration as major general and chief of the federal militia bureau.

He is succeeded in the Indiana adjutant-generalship by Manford G. Henley, Indianapolis, who was at the statehouse today.

Everson also stated that there will be no more building of armories under the "closed corporation" plan which prevailed under his predecessor, Adjutant-General William H. Kershner. This plan was condemned roundly by the 1929 legislature, following a senate investigation.

DuShane is well known throughout the state, being a former president of the Indiana State Teachers' Association. He is one of the most active school men in Indiana politics.

The general's reference to the new armory board "functioning as a board" was interpreted to be a reflection on the figurehead part played by the board in the huge armory construction program.

Under the administration of former Governor Ed Jackson, armories were built throughout the state, all financed the Peoples State Bank and built by the bank's construction company, the Ostrom Realty and Construction Company.

Senators investigated and condemned this proceeding and Governor Leslie assured them that he would carry the investigation into construction costs.

The bill asking that this be done was given an "emergency clause" for immediate action. The 1929 statutes have become law, but the Governor has made no report on his findings.

Terms Have Expired

Present armory board members' terms expired March 17, but, as with other appointments, Governor Leslie has let the matter drag. He is now "about ready" to announce their successors, Everson stated.

Members of the Jackson-Kershner armory board are Major-General Robert H. Tyndall, State Senator Robert L. Moorehead, Clarence G. Wysong, state insurance commissioner; Wilbur F. Smith, and Lewellyn A. Turnock, architect for the "closed corporation" built at Wrigley field.

Government investigators learned Ralph Capone owns seven race horses, has accounts in five banks, each in a different name, and that his bank balance has averaged round $240,000 recently.

SOURCE OF CAPONE'S FORTUNE IS SOUGHT

By United Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Federal agents sought to discover today exactly how Ralph (Bottles) Capone, brother of the notorious "Scarface Al," got to be a millionaire, while Capone was at freedom on $35,000 bond, following his arrest on a warrant charging he dodged payment of income tax.

The arrest was made Wednesday. Capone, his pockets stuffed with world series baseball tickets, fumed up with thirty-five new $1,000 bills and Capone got out in time to see the last two innings of the game at Wrigley field.
