

HOOVER LEADS IN ARMISTICE DAY CEREMONY

Honors Unknown Soldier at Arlington: U. S. Marks End of War.

BY LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—President Hoover led the nation today in observance of the eleventh anniversary of the armistice which silenced the guns of the World war. The tribute of more than 110,000,000 people to the valor and heroism of the war dead and wounded was symbolized in the President's decision to forsake the duties of his high office for a time to motor to Arlington National cemetery at 11 this morning to place a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Tonight, the chief executive will deliver an address at American Legion memorial services in Washington auditorium. Three weeks of diligent preparation of his text, which is expected to be devoted largely to foreign affairs, forecasts a speech of unusual importance. The address will be broadcast over a nation-wide radio chain beginning at 8:30, eastern standard time. Special services to honor the memory of the war-time President were arranged at the tomb of Woodrow Wilson in Washington cathedral at 3 p. m.

London Is Silent

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The deep voice of the "Big Ben" clock in the houses of parliament marked the anniversary of the World war armistice today as London stood silent for two minutes in a light, drizzling rain.

With the usual predominant note of militarism missing at the ceremonies this year, the quiet scene at the cenotaph in Whitehall was in keeping with the efforts of Prime Minister MacDonald toward world disarmament and security.

The Queen of Spain stood with Queen Mary, the Duchess of York and Princess Beatrice of Spain, on the balcony of the home office overlooking the cenotaph, where rain fell much as it did a year ago today when King George stood bereaved before the shaft.

France Parades Flags

PARIS, Nov. 11.—Paris observed Armistice day in beautiful weather with a bright sun heating down on the Arc de Triomphe where the principal ceremony was held.

All France observed a minute of silence at 11 a. m.

President Gaston Doumergue and Premier Andre Tardieu took part in the main ceremony in Paris, standing before the tomb of the Unknown Soldier surrounded by cabinet ministers and representatives of the army and navy.

President Doumergue placed a wreath of flowers before the eternal flame at the tomb as the signal for the period of silence was given. Then the 250 battered, but proud, battleflags of dissolved regiments were paraded along the Champs Elysees, the colors sparkling bravely in the bright sunshine.

The Woolworth employees, Joseph Soeder, 23, of 3124 College avenue, and Thomas Brothers, 24, of 414 East Fifteenth street, went to the store shortly after noon to do some work. They surprised the bandits at work on the strongbox, were covered with shotguns and trussed together.

Two charges of nitroglycerin opened the compartment in which the money was locked. More than two-thirds of the loot was in silver, according to John M. Gloin, manager.

JEWETT CLAIMS TO BRING PROBE

City Purchasing Bureau to Be Investigated.

Edward B. Raub Sr., city council president, tonight will appoint a committee to "investigate" charges hurled at the city purchasing department by Charles W. Jewett, former mayor and "Boss" George V. Coffin's apologist, in the city campaign.

"At tonight's council session I will name a committee to confer with Jewett," Raub said. "The nature of the investigation will be entirely up to the committee. Under the circumstances, I think it is better to conduct a thorough investigation and come out with the truth."

Raub pointed out that Jewett's attack on Oran S. Hack, city corporation counsel, who represented Dilling & Co. in the sale of flood prevention lands for $100,000, was unfair, because the award was made by a court.

Hack did not hold a city office at the time of the settlement of the case. Acceptance of the appointment as president of the works board was delayed two months by Hack, pending adjudication of the suit against the city. A previous board had agreed to pay Dilling & Co. $142,000.

HOME SWEET HOME

'Dry Law' Held Club Nemesis

THOSE cheery words of "tak' o' cup o' kindness yet" no longer are heard in fraternal circles, according to James R. Nicholson, of Milwaukee, past exalted Elks ruler, who says that prohibition drove liquor from the clubroom into the homes.

"Prohibition has brought membership worries to fraternal organizations," he told the Indiana Elks Association Sunday, "and now the household head of yesterday, who swore undying loyalty to his clubs, is forsaking the fraternity for other activities."

The queer aspect of prohibition "that has made liquor a popular and accepted part of home life" was advanced as one of the reasons for change in club ideals by Nicholson.

MOSES STANDS BY HIS GUNS

Wants to 'Kill Tariff Bill in Its Tracks.'

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—If the English language has a more fitting term for radical senators, Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire will substitute it for "sons of wild jackasses," he wants the world to know.

After spending Sunday with his grandchildren at Hinsdale, Ill., the chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee was emphatically ready to stand by his guns on the "jackasses" incident, and added that he would "like to kill the tariff bill in its tracks."

Moses came to Chicago Saturday particularly to see his grandchildren, he said, although politicians saw in his visit an opportunity for conferences with western Republican leaders.

"The conditions have put high duties on things which industrial communities must eat and low duties on things which industrial workers must make and sell to get money to get the things to eat."

'Tongue-Twisting' Drug, Diet Halt Teeth Decay

'Hexylresorcinol' and No Sweets Answer, Says Specialist.

Fifteen letters of the alphabet and a well balanced diet minus sweets will stop the decay of teeth.

That's a fact—but the arrangement of the alphabetical letters must be such that it spells out the word "hexylresorcinol"—a drug—and the drug must be used as a mouth wash in connection with a diet, asserted Dr. R. W. Bunting, of Ann Arbor, Mich., today.

Dr. Bunting will speak tonight at the monthly meeting of the Indianapolis Dental Society in the Lincoln.

He says experiments conducted with the above "tongue-twisting" drug, combined with proper diet, have halted molar sloth.

The doctor decries magazine and newspaper advertising that avers "four out of five" persons have pyorrhea.

"The figures are exaggerated grossly," the doctor said in defending the condition of America's teeth.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 11.—Speeding around a curve in the mountainous section, near Glenn Mary, Tenn., the northbound Southern railway train "Ponce de Leon" left the rails early today, the engine and nine cars overturning.

Screams of the injured, according to telephone advice, echoed in the early morning over the adjacent countryside. Farmers hurried out of bed and aided in rescue work.

A special train of doctors and nurses was dispatched from Chattanooga, Tenn., and the injured were being brought there.

Less drastic reductions in the educational department also were expected, it was said today.

BANK IS STEADY DESPITE SUICIDE

Friend of Al Smith Takes Life in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Fears of a possible run on the County Trust Company following the suicide of its president, James J. Riordan, proved unfounded today.

Two hours after the bank opened, it was reported doing its usual Monday morning business. Former Governor Alfred E. Smith, a member of the board of directors and close friend of Riordan, issued a statement saying there had been more deposits than withdrawals.

Friends of the dead banker were understood to have pledged themselves to deposit almost unlimited funds if a run had developed.

Examination of the bank's books showed the County Trust Company to be "even stronger than the average institution," State Banking Superintendent Joseph A. Broderick reported.

While the motive of the suicide of Riordan, reputed to be a multimillionaire, was not disclosed, his act was believed to have been prompted by losses in the stock market decline.

PREPAREDNESS ADVOCATED BY VICE-PRESIDENT

Curtis Declares Adequate Arms Will Save Cost in Wartimes.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Preparedness as a peacetime policy was advocated by Vice-President Charles Curtis today in an Armistice day address before members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks here.

"Much of the cost of the last war was caused by the fact that we were unprepared for it, and this was the second such occasion in twenty years," he said. "I hope the lesson taught by unpreparedness may not be forgotten. With our wonderful prosperity and great resources our country always should be prepared for national defense. Such a course will save many lives, millions of dollars, and untold suffering; it will greatly lessen the possibility of war."

"In this country we do not believe in a large standing army, nor do we believe in having an over-large navy, but our people want both army and navy to be ample for national defense."

"The people of the United States are, and always have been, peace-loving as a whole. They are industrious, generous, and not quarrelsome as a nation. They concern themselves with their own affairs and do not meddle in the affairs of other people. They are sympathetic with the woes and distress of the people of the world. They ask nothing more than to be permitted to work out their own destiny without interference, and they freely concede this right to others."

Curtis spoke of the nation's hope, on the anniversary of the settlement of its last war—that future wars might be avoided.
