Notre Dame Coach Looks for Real Battle on Part of I. U.

HAS FEAR OF WILDCATS

Knute Figures Wolverines to Beat Iowa.

BY KNUTE ROCKNE, Member All-America Football Board (Iowa, U. S. Patent Office)

This certainly has been a hazardous fall for picking teams. The strenuous schedules no doubt are responsible for the fluctuations in form. This Saturday Indiana plays Purdue. Regardless of the outcome Purdue is the champion of the Big Ten and everybody's hat goes to Jimmy Phelan and his gallant little band who, with very few substitutions, waded through their schedule in such an effective fashion.

It is not, however, without the bounds of possibility that Purdue will let down enough to let Indiana win, but it is hardly likely. There is too much at stake in this annual Hoosier classic. I pick Purdue.

Predicts Iowa Slump

Illinois seems to have a slight edge on Ohio State and I pick Michigan to win from Iowa. Iowa has played its heart out for two Saturdays in a row and they are bound to slump. The Wisconsin-Minnesota game looks like a tossup with the edge in favor of Wisconsin. Doc Spears has had some serious injuries.

As a matter of fact, Wisconsin in the three games it has lost has lost to top-notch teams only and they are the only teams so far to win over Colgate. The University of Washington invades Stagg field for what ought to be an interesting struggle. I pick Washington to win.

Northwestern Feared

Notre Dame should win from Northwestern Saturday, but you never can tell. Slung to the quick by their unexpected defeat by Indiana last Saturday, Dick Hanley's boys probably will be out there rooting like a lot of infuriated hogs, whereas Notre Dame is bound to crack somewhere along the line.

Northwestern has played fine ball in the hot spots of its schedule this year. The line from end to end has ranked with the best, while Berghorn at full back has shown himself to be one of the most versatile gridgers in the country. It will take a lot to beat the Wildcats Saturday.

Oregon State, which startled the football world a year ago by its victory over the great New York University team, invades Detroit to play Gus Dorais' superb eleven. It is doubtful, however, if Oregon State can repeat their upset of a year ago. The Wabash-De Pauw annual fray looks like an even up proposition, but I give a slight edge in favor of Wabash.

Rockne's Selections for Saturday Tilts

Purdue to take Indiana.
Illinois has slight edge over Ohio State.
Michigan to win from Iowa.
Wisconsin favored over Minnesota.
Washington to defeat North-western.
Notre Dame should beat Northwestern.
Oklahoma to win over Oklahoma A.C.
Oregon State to beat Detroit.
Drake to tie Temple.
Wabash slight edge over De Pauw.
Iowa of Chicago to take South Dakota State.
Grinnell to beat Creighton.

New York Boxer Here Monday Has Met Star Opponents

Tony Pellegrino, New York Italian, who tackles Lou Terry, St. Louis, at Tomlinson hall here Monday night, boasts of scoring a short knockdown on Al Singer, famous Gotham pug. Pellegrino met Singer in a Brooklyn ring and put up a great fight, though losing on points in ten rounds.

Tony has victories in his record over such well-known lads as Al (Rube) Goldberg, Pancho DeLeon, Marty Silver and Johnny Lawson, and a draw with Young Zazzerino, one of the recent fistic sensations in the east.

Indianapolis fans are familiar with Lou Terry's caliber, for he performed at the Armory last winter and beat Jimmy Borden and battled on about even terms with Eddie Anderson. Terry does his boxing at St. Louis now, but he is

Gene McEver

DIXIE sport writers are boosting Gene McEver for high consideration when the experts start picking their all-America teams. McEver is the speed merchant half back with the University of Tennessee, and in the opinion of numerous scribes down that way is one of the greatest ball toters and all-around grid performers the south ever has produced, which is saying a lot. He stands 5 and 9 and weighs close to 185. His legs are extremely heavy, but do not cut his speed. His specialty is running back kick-offs for long gains.

Wabash Gridmen Ready for Annual Battle With De Pauw

Early Home-Coming Fans Arrive for Thirty-Third Renewal of Classic; Rivals Appear Evenly Matched.

By Times Special CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 22.—Light workouts completed Wabash's preparation for the thirty-third annual rivalry contest with De Pauw here Saturday.

In eighteen of the previous battles, the Scarlet gridgers have triumphed, ten victories going to De Pauw and four battles ending in ties.

Early home-coming arrivals were on the campus today, and festivities are to begin tonight with a pep session and parade. The largest crowd of the season is expected at the game, which will end the 1929 campaign of both teams.

On paper, the two teams appear evenly matched. Both lost to Butler by two touchdowns. Wabash has had a hectic season and has played inconsistent. Coach Vaughan has instructed his squad in several new formations to use against the Old Gold, and the Wabash gridgers have shown more enthusiasm in their drills this week than for any other contest of the season.

A shift in the Scarlet line-up is expected for Saturday's game. Reberry, former Evansville player, continued to hold down a tackle berth in the workout Thursday. Sullivan and Edwards are expected to start in the half back roles, although Weist, star ball-carrier who has been handicapped by injuries, is expected to see action.

TIGERS SET FOR CONFLICT

By Times Special GREENCASTLE, Ind., Nov. 22.—Hampered by cold weather, Coach Bish Hughes sent his De Pauw Tigers through a long but light drill here Thursday in preparation for the invasion of Wabash Saturday.

The Old Gold squad appears in the best condition in weeks, and Hughes hopes to have full strength for the scarlet contest.

Ebbets Battles Foreign Champ

By United Press NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Rene Dubois, champion middleweight of Europe, and Harry Ebbets, Presport (L. I.) slugger, met tonight at Madison Square Garden for the privilege of fighting Mickey Walker in a titular bout later in the winter.

The bout is the main event of an all-star card, which also includes ten-round bouts between Eugene Huat, European flyweight champion and Black Bill of Cuba, and a pair of young heavyweights, Joe Banovich of Birmingham and Joe Barlow of Boston.

POCKEY SCORES CLOSE

By United Press NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Close scores for Tuesday night's National Hockey League games, all of the three games being decided by a single point with overtime periods being required in two of the contests.

Thursday night results: New York Rangers, 2; Montreal Canadiens, 2; Montreal Canadiens, 3; Toronto, 2 (overtime); Chicago, 6; Chicago, 5 (overtime).

Long Prelim Card Filled for Tuesday

Greene Lines Up List of Ten Boxers; Wagner to Train Here.

The Eddie (Kid) Wagner-Billy Rose feature at the Armory Tuesday night will be preceded by a six-round semi-windup which the matchmaker promises will be of the "redhot" brand, and as soon as contracts are returned the names of the contestants will be made public.

In the meantime, Major Greene has completed the task of matching up ten prelim performers in five four-round scraps, as follows:

Bruce Britt, Terre Haute, vs. Willard Brown, Indianapolis; featherweights.

Henry Brenlinger, Terre Haute, vs. Young Jess, Indianapolis; flyweights.

Young Leach, Indianapolis, vs. Young French, Indianapolis; bantamweights.

Rex Whitehead, Anderson, Ind., vs. Jimmie Reynolds, Ft. Harrison; lightweights.

Bob Sparks, Anderson, Ind., vs. Soldier Goolsby, Ft. Harrison; middleweights.

The top six, between Bruce Britt and Willard Brown, looks especially promising. Brown is the boy who knocked out Spike Kelly at the Armory two weeks ago.

Eddie (Kid) Wagner will wind up his training here at the Arcade gym over the week-end, and will box with sparmates both Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Talking It Over

Gigantic to San Antonio. McGraw will carry his club into Mexico for a couple of games over some nice week-end.

But the grand tour of the republic to the south has been abandoned, for reasons quite similar to those which keep the Giants and other big league clubs from training in Cuba.

THERE are rumors, disturbing and hardly to be believed. The wise boys out in Chicago say that the "great" Shires, champion of American League dugouts, never will take part in that boxing match for which he is reported to have signed in the garden here. They do say that Judge Landis will step in and stop Shires from "defiling" his baseball reputation with actual appearance in the professional ring.

There is no objection to Shires' continued use of White Sox managers as sparring partners. That matter will entirely in the hands of Owen Bush, who has taken the place of Lena Blackburne, a notable set-up for Shires either on the field or in hotel rooms. But Landis is reported to be opposed to the public appearance of the soul of the White Sox with boxing gloves on his fists.

In discussing the Carnegie Foundation report recently, Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame, made an interesting observation. He said that football and the so-called abuses dug up by the Foundation's probes did not present the most serious side of the college's task in setting itself right with the public.

"We are most concerned now with the false idea of college life given by motion pictures," said Father O'Donnell. "Football can take care of itself. But now about those films of wild parties, drinking and the like which convey to the general public the idea that every college is a sort of country club."

OREGON MEETS DETROIT

By United Press EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 22.—The Oregon State football squad left here early today for Detroit, where it will play the undefeated University of Detroit team Saturday. The team worked out Thursday at the Northwestern university stadium.

Local Gridder in State Tilt

Paul Balay

ONE of the most important cogs in the Indiana university football machine is Paul Balay, former Tech star, Pat Page's most versatile back. The husky ball-toter is one of the best punters in the conference, and has been doing most of the forward pass tossing for the Crimson. His blocking has accounted for several long gains by his teammates. Page has used Balay at quarter, half and full.

Frosh Down Varsity Men

Butler Yearlings in Win Over Regulars.

Butler's promising freshman football team added insult to injury Thursday when they took the Bulldog varsity into camp for an 8 to 0 victory. As a result, Coach Patsy Clark has ordered more intensive drills in preparation for the Thanksgiving day battle here with Loyola.

Fumbles, which helped Millikin defeat the Blue and White machine here last week, again marred the play of the Clarkmen.

The yearling eleven held a weight edge over the varsity. Sammy Polzotto, speedy Gary product, scored in the first three minutes of play, taking a lateral pass on 10-yard line and galloping across. Forbes, 200-pound freshman lineman, blocked Royce's punt for a safety.

TOMMY LOUGHARAN has gone to the estate of a friend in Cynwyd, Pa., where he's doing an Uzeudum in the forests . . . and weighs 205 pounds. . . . Says he thinks a whole year's vacation from the back-bruising business wouldn't hurt him. . . . Larry Sutton, the Brooklyn scout, has been hunting a catcher. . . . Nibs Price to Match Wits With Pop Warner; Victory for Bears Means Coast Title.

By United Press SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—Ninety thousand persons will jam the Stanford university stadium Saturday to witness the annual game between California and Stanford.

If two certain coaches—Clarence (Nibs) Price of California and Glen (Pop) Warner of Stanford—were certain of the outcome as any of those enthusiastic fans, two hearts would beat a little more steadily. Stove League Chatter

BY EDDIE ASH

IT'S all fixed for Wallie Pipp to take the place of Charlie O'Leary as New York Yankee coach, according to some inside info released by Joe Williams, sports editor of the New York Telegram. If it happens it will be a tough break for O'Leary, for he has been on that job for many years. Charlie managed the Indianapolis club years ago when he still was cavoring as a short stop. O'Leary has done a lot of good turns in his life despite the fact some people want to see him bounced out of the Yankee stadium.

Speaking of tough breaks, many workers for Henry Ford got it when they were knocked out of employment shortly before he announced a wage increase.

It is said Outfielder Eddie Roush, the prominent Hoosier, is to remain with the Giants next season but won't attempt to play the entire schedule. Yes, age is creeping up on the former Indianapolis Federal.

OWNIE BUSH, manager of the Chicago White Sox, is thinking of cooking up a deal for Shortstop Warbler of the Indians, stove league rumors say. Many fans would enjoy seeing Warbler given a chance in the majors and if he goes to the Sox they would be delighted to see the Hoosiers obtain Ernie Smith.

Pitt, Colgate May Clash in Charity Game

Officials at both institutions are reported to favor the contest because of their long standing rivalry. Both Andy Kerr, Colgate head coach, and Jack Sutherland, Pittsburgh leader, are products of the Glenn Warner school of play.

Although beaten by Wisconsin in an early season game, Colgate has won all its eastern contests and is a strong contender for sectional honors, which are also claimed by the unbeaten Pitt team.

HEEKSTRA STEPS UP

By United Press SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 22.—Johnny Heekstra, retired undefeated middleweight champion of Michigan, won his first fight in the light heavyweight division here Thursday night, defeating Jack Scarton, Detroit, in ten rounds.
