

50,000 to See Irish Perform at Northwestern

Capacity Crowd to Be in Purple Stadium for Grid Feature.

BOTH TEAMS ON EDGE

Hanley Sees Chance to Score Upset.

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 22.—Northwestern's Wildcats, capable of playing both championship and mediocre football, hope to reach the highest point of the season here Saturday in the renewal of their rivalry with Notre Dame in Dysch stadium. Fifty thousand spectators a capacity crowd, will be on hand. All tickets were sold three weeks ago.

Still stinging under the 19 to 14 defeat at the hands of Indiana last week, one of the major upsets of the mid-western season, the Purple warriors have shown excellent power in this week's workouts.

Hopes on Berghem
Coach Hanley has pointed his charges for this game, and will throw his full strength at the Ramblers. Al Moore, sophomore half back who was injured in the Indiana game, will be ready to start. Hanley believes chances are good to trip up Notre Dame.

Rus Berghem, Northwestern's great full back, will make his bid for honors. He has battered, kicked and passed his way to victories over Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio State and hopes to prove his true worth against the strong Irish line.

Power Against Speed
Northwestern waited seventeen years for a victory over Illinois, and won this year. It has been twenty years since the Purple last waved over the Old Gold and Blue from South Bend, although the school in the last three games have been a touchdown or less.

The game sizes up as a battle between Northwestern's power and aggressiveness and Notre Dame's speed and cunning.

Despite the absence of Rockne and the chances of a let-down after the spectacular victory over Southern California last Saturday, Notre Dame, with its vast reserve strength and speed, continues as the heavy favorite.

Leads Harvard in Yale Fray

HARVARD has a red-head in the role of captain. He is L. T. Barrett, (above) regarded as one of the best linemen since the days of Hubbard, who won all-American recognition two years in succession. The Crimson leader plays tackle, and he'll lead the Crimson warriors against the Yale rivals Saturday in the big game of the east.

High School Heads Meet

Important Matters Up for Decision Saturday.

By United Press
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 22.—Members of the Indiana High School Athletic Association board of control will meet here Saturday to decide upon two important matters.

Action likely will be taken on the protest of Homer Stonebraker, Logansport, who complained that players on the Thornton football team made abusive remarks toward him after the Lebanon-Thornton game, Nov. 3.

Also, there is the matter of Muncie's protest over the ruling which declared Lowell Justice, star basketball player, ineligible to compete on the Bearcat court squad. Subsidizing was charged in ruling against the net star.

In view of the recent threat of Roy M. Friedley, state senator from Muncie, to introduce a bill in the legislature to take high school athletic control out of the hands of the board and give it to the state, the board's decision in the Justice controversy is attracting wide interest.

Promoter Seeks Forfeit Clause in Big Match

By United Press
LONDON, Nov. 22.—Promoter Jeff Dickson is negotiating for a return bout between W. L. (Young) Stripling, American heavyweight, and Primo Carnera, Italian giant, under a contract which specifies that if either man is disqualified on a foul his share of the purse will be given to charity.

Stripling, who lost to Carnera on a foul at Albert hall Monday night, is reported to have signed for the return bout to be staged in Paris early in December.

Leon See, Carnera's manager, is said to be willing to sign the proposed contract, but is awaiting final settlement of terms before definitely postponing Carnera's departure for America.

PLAYGROUND TO AID GEOGRAPHY TEACHING

New Park in Paris Will Show Features of World.

By United Press
PARIS, Nov. 22.—The municipality of Paris has decided to build a park for children, in the form of a flat world to teach them geography. Adults will be kept out of the playground.

In the square, the world will be outlined, with the continents in profile. In Africa will be a sandpile at the place of the Sahara, so that children will associate the sand with the desert.

In each of four corners will be fountains and statues depicting native life or fruit of America, Asia, Africa and Oceania, while Europe will be portrayed on the walls of a covered playground for rainy days.

RUBIO IN MEXICO CITY

President-Elect Denies Charges of Coercion and Fraud.

By United Press
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 22.—Pascual Ortiz-Rubio, president-elect of Mexico, returned to the nation's capital today confident that final tabulation of Sunday's election would show that his majority was the largest ever accorded a presidential candidate.

Ortiz-Rubio issued a statement denying that the defeated anti-re-electionists had been prevented from voting, as charged in numerous protests filed with the attorney-general's office in Michoacan.

SLEAZY CLOTH IS USED

Army Finds Surplus War Goods of Value in Work.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Experts of the quartermaster corps have accomplished what any war time soldier would have pronounced impossible—they have found use for sleazy cloth of which a large supply was left over from the war.

It is a flimsily woven material, but proves suitable for repairing roofs and binding pamphlets and maps. The corps announced today 500,000 yards had been used in this way since Nov. 11, 1918, and the surplus is exhausted.

BUILD NOVEL LIFEBOAT

Device Rising to Surface, After Ship Sinks, Is Tested.

By United Press
LONDON, Nov. 22.—A new life saver for use on ships has been demonstrated by its inventor, Joseph Kelly. It is a water-tight compartment, attached to the side of a ship.

This, in time of accident, can be entered through a door connecting with the ship's hull, and can be cut away from the boat. If under water, it will float to the top. Supplies of oxygen, water and food are carried within.

FORDHAM HAS LONG DRILL

By United Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Coach Frank Cavanaugh sent his unbeaten Fordham football team through a long session Thursday in preparation for the Maroon's final game of the year against Bucknell at the Polo Grounds Saturday. Cavanaugh indicated he would start his regular lineup.

THE Minute Men of Washington high school, an organization of senior boys with scholastic averages of B or higher, banqueted members of the 1929 Washington football squad this week at the school. Lawrence Lentz acted as toastmaster.

A desk set was presented to Coach Henry Bogue by Capt. Emil Unser as a gift from the team. Bogue spoke highly of the players and presented each with a football watch fob bearing their initials, the year and the name "Washington."

W. L. Hughes, athletic director of De Pauw university, was principal speaker, and other speakers were: James Shockley, reserve team coach; R. B. Morrison, athletic manager; William Bock of the faculty; Walter G. Gingery, principal of the school; and Dick Miller of The Times. The team was highly commended by all speakers on its record of eight games won and three lost.
