

MEN BOW TO BLONDE GIRL IN RADIO CONTEST

Boots' Brantley Winner of Listeners' Endurance
Race at Lyric.

Hall's Queen of Radio Listeners.

At 4:12:20 Sunday afternoon, Miss Boots Brantley, 21-year-old blonde, of 1104 East Vermont street, was crowned empress of the ether in the Lyric ballroom after ninety-two hours, twenty-one minutes and twenty seconds of battling off sleep in front of a radio loud speaker.

The listeners' contest, conducted by The Times, Lyric theater and the Sylvania Products Company, was concluded when J. D. Inman, 41, of 412 North Alabama street, No. 46—Miss Brantley's last competitor—slipped into dreamland.

Miss Brantley's victory won for her a $25 Zenith phonograph and radio combination donated by W. J. Holliday & Co.

The last few hours of the contest provided a three-cornered battle between sleep and Miss Brantley, Inman and Philip Hayden, 54, of 2238 Plerson avenue, rubbing their eyes and pacing the floor in an effort to win the contest's first prize.

Hayden, the oldest entrant of the ninety-one who started the contest at 7:51 Wednesday night, dropped into snoreville at 1:48 p. m. and the duel between Inman and Miss Brantley began.

Inman, who weighed 207 pounds when he entered the contest, found a sofa too soft and abandoned the fight along with seven pounds in weight.

Miss Brantley was so near the Land of Nod that she hardly realized her victory. She merely shook her head and told her the contest was over.

As winner of the contest's second prize, Inman received a $185 ten-tube Lyric All-American console donated by the Duco Corporation of Indiana.

The woman's prize was awarded Mrs. Almeda Whitcomb, 40, of R. R. 7, Box 573. She received a $140 Atwater Kent, model CRL, donated by the Wagner Radio Company. Mrs. Wagner left the ballroom floor early Sunday morning.

Winning endurance contests is not a new experience for Miss Brantley. Last summer she was victor in a rocking-chair title held at one of the city amusement parks. She is employed by an Indianapolis optical company.

Meals throughout the contest were served by Wheeler's restaurants. Winner of the $250 Howard neurotomy to be awarded to the spectator guessing the closest to the number of hours, minutes and seconds of the contest's duration will be announced as soon as judges complete a check of the guesses.

When Henry and George broadcast their program of minute dramas from the hotel in which they are employed, over station WFBM and the Columbia broadcasting system at 7 o'clock, Monday evening, they believe they will find a responsive chord in the heart of every listener who has ever visited a doctor, hired a new maid or made a long distance telephone call.

Something entirely new in the way of orchestras for the presentation of old and not-so-old popular tunes, will be heard during the Ceco Couriers program, broadcast from WFBM and stations of the Columbia broadcasting system at 7:30 o'clock, Monday evening. Merle Johnston, under whose direction the program is broadcast, has assembled a baritone saxophone, a bass saxophone, a guitar, a muted trombone and strings for these broadcasts, feeling that radio requires an entirely different set up from the concert stage for the proper playing of those numbers whose charm is largely in their treatment.

Fred Daniels, tenor, and Adele Vasa, soprano, will be heard as soloists during the Voice of Columbia program to be broadcast over WFBM and the Columbia broadcasting system at 9:30 o'clock Monday night.
