

SNOWY SIERRAS GIVE UP FAMILY LOST IN STORM

Victims of Forced 5-Day
Stay in Mountains All in Good Spirits.

BY OTIS T. CANTWRIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Out of the frozen fastnesses of Niagara creek, 7,000 feet above sea level, H. Mermo led the Nightingale family to safety Thursday night.

Mushing through snowdrifts two to eight feet deep, Mr. and Mrs. John Nightingale of Stockton, and their son Stanley, 7, arrived at Cow creek on snowshoes and skis just as new searching parties were being organized.

None had suffered from the enforced stay of five days among the Sierra Nevadas. All were in good spirits and expressed concern over the fate of a canary left in their apartment in Stockton.

Mermo and Jasper Meuli, another mountaineer, found the Nightingales cooking their dinner in their mountain cabin Wednesday evening. Plenty of food had been found among the supplies kept in a nearby cabin by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company for mountain line-men.

Mermo, in a telephonic report to the United Press declared that the family made the trip out in great shape to Cow creek, and that in the early morning the journey would be resumed toward Strawberry and thence to Long Barn and Sonora.

At Long Barn it is expected that the rescuers and rescued will be met by automobiles under the leadership of Mayor C. C. Wood of Oakland, father of Mrs. Nightingale.

GARDNER ON PLAN BODY

Incorrectly Announced Member of City Park Board.

Fred C. Gardner (Rep.) city councilman, was selected to represent the city council on the city plan commission and not the park board as incorrectly stated with a picture in The Times Thursday. He is ex-officio member of the plan commission and formerly was a member of the park board.

Dog Likes His 'Petting'

Between a 10-year-old bantam hen, a 14-year-old, snow-white cat that hasn't missed having kittens yearly—and white ones at that—and a shepherd dog that makes love to a hen yard, Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Price of 433 East Morris street, are assured protection from life's ennui.

In the above photo an effort was made to sneak up on Don, the dog, just as he attempted to kiss Deedie, the 10-year-old hen. Don likes hen, and not just to pull their tail feathers, either.

The aged cat, Snowball, who has a 7-month-old kitten called Snookum, set her foot down on being photographed and ran under the house, followed by the youthful and "young-ideal" Snookum.

Snowball has never had a litter of kittens that haven't been white.

SEX DISCUSSION FOUND GENERAL

College Professors Decry
Suppression Effort.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The controversial subject of sex discussion among boys and girls of college age was before the American public today in a form which linked it with epochal struggles for liberal education through the ages.

A committee of the American Association of University Professors, after investigating the University of Missouri sex questionnaire dispute, reported it had found that sex is discussed frankly in the fraternity and sorority houses of American schools and even between young men and women attending.

The report severely rebuked President Brooks and the university board of curators for suspending Max F. Meyer, who had served as a professor in the sociology and psychology departments for twenty-nine years, and for dismissing Harmon O. Degraff, an associate professor in psychology.

The committee said attempted suppression of the subject of sex was against the interests of liberal education.

DEATH THREAT GIVEN IN LETTER TO WRITER

Huntingburg Man Demanding Probe of Business Failures Menaced.

By Times Special
HUNTINGBURG, Ind., Jan. 10.—A letter containing a threat against the life of William E. Ellsworth, writer of newspaper articles, urging investigation of the failures a year ago of the Wallace Milling Company and Huntingburg bank, is in the hands of postal authorities.

Judge John E. Sumner has called the grand jury to convene Monday to probe the failures.

The letter to Ellsworth follows: "Bill, you have been a quarrelsome and trouble-maker all your life. Now be silent if you don't want a stick of dynamite, a bullet or poison. Warning, if anything starts."

WOMAN, HIT BY TRUCK, SUFFERS FATAL INJURIES

Mute Is Killed on Her Way
From Funeral Rites of Auto Victim.

Returning home from the funeral of John Elmore, 67, of 1338 Eugene street, blind broom peddler, who was injured fatally when struck by an automobile Sunday, Mrs. Mary Schaefer, 60, deaf-mute, living at the same address, was killed instantly at the same corner when struck by a truck Thursday afternoon.

It was the fourth traffic fatality of the year and the second within five days at the corner of Thirtieth and Elmira streets.

Both Elmore and Mrs. Schaefer were struck at Thirtieth and Elmira streets. Witnesses told police that Mrs. Schaefer stepped from behind a parked automobile into the path of a truck driven by Bailey C. Edwards, 27, of 1437 West Thirtieth street. She died instantly from a broken neck and other injuries.

Edwards was arrested on charge of involuntary manslaughter. Mrs. Schaefer had lived in the city twenty years and had been a deaf-mute since she was 7. Her husband, Frank Schaefer, three sons, Clyde and James R. Schaefer, Indianapolis, and Clarence B. Schaefer, Anderson, and a daughter, Mrs. Melva Donaldson of Akron, O., survive. Funeral services will be held at Kirby & Dinn funeral parlors, 1901 North Meridian street, at 1:30 Saturday afternoon and at St. Paul's M. E. church at 2. Burial will be at Crown Hill cemetery.

When his automobile hit one of four horses running loose in the road near Maywood late Thursday,

Contest to End

Tonight at midnight, the Shakespeare contest for boys and girls going to school closes. This essay contest is being conducted by The Times in relation with the appearances of Miss Genevieve Hamper and her company at English's in plays of the bard. You have time to send in your essay of around a hundred words to the Genevieve Hamper Contest Editor of The Times, giving the characteristic traits of the characters played by Miss Hamper. You can write on any of the following: Juliet, Portia, Rosalind, Ophelia, or Lady Macbeth. The thirty winners will be announced Saturday noon in The Times.

Many have sent their essays into The Times. Each of the winners will receive a ticket for the Saturday night performance of "Romeo and Juliet" at English's.

Alexander W. Knox of 3727 Salem street, was bruised and cut. The horse was killed after the accident. Owner of the animals has not been located.

Mrs. Stella Conley, 64, of 2002 1/2 Central avenue, was cut and bruised when struck at Central avenue and Thirty-fourth street Thursday night by an automobile driven by Abe Reese, Negro, 35, of 2514 Shrover avenue. Reese was arrested on charges of assault and battery.

Tragedy Victims to Be Buried

By Times Special
WALTON, Ind., Jan. 10.—Double funeral services were held here today for Errol Packard, 51, and his wife Pearl, 48, victims of a murder and suicide at their home near here. Governor M. B. Stewart advances a theory that during a mental lapse Packard killed his wife, and, remorseful after regaining his senses, committed suicide. A shotgun was used in enacting the double tragedy.

HELPED AT CHANGE OF LIFE

MRS. CORA CALAHAN
216 E. Ashton Ave., Grand Island, Nebr.
"I am going through the Change of Life. At times I would cry for hours. I got tired of trying other remedies so I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken the first bottle I began to get better. I have taken eight bottles now. I feel that it has saved my life. I work for a family of six, washing, cooking and do all my own work. People say I look like 25."—Mrs. Cora Calahan.

MRS. F. C. HELMING
822 E. Harrison St., Portland, Ore.
"Lydia E. Pinkham did for me what others failed to do. When the Change of Life began I was very poorly. Now at 55 I do all my own work, attend two dances a week and it is hard to make people believe I am over 40. I never see a woman in ill health but I advocate your medicine because I know its value. Every woman should take it, not just for a month or two but until they have passed the critical period."—Mrs. F. C. Helming.
