

JAZZ OUTLAWED IN SOVIET LAND AS CAPITALISTIC

Some Is Bootlegged, but Is Viewed by Communists as Disreputable.

MOSCOW, April 21.—Jazz is a contraband and dishonorable thing in this land—a symbol of the benighted capitalist world, a dread temptation to proletarian youth. A tremendous amount of it is "bootlegged," as it were, in private homes. But it dare not raise its syncopated voice in public. Not in respectable public, that is to say, such as workers' clubs, Communist youth affairs, popular restaurants and the like.

A few haunts of the comfortably outlawed bourgeoisie, like the Grand hotel and Hotel Europa in this city, provide jazz dancing in evenings.

Foreign Patrons
But no self-respecting citizen of the soviets would venture there for fear of that music, which therefore is utilized only by foreigners and the few Russians who have sufficient reason for associating with foreigners.

Two clubs until recently did occasionally provided their customers with jazz—the Kruzhok, an artists' rendezvous, and Dom Gertzena, a writers' gathering place. These semi-Bohemian places, it was thought, could include in a little of the contraband stuff.

Suffered in Drive
But jazz in recent months has suffered in the general drive against kulaks, and other remnants of the capitalist past. Both the Kruzhok and Dom Gertzena no longer are permitted to play those American strains—though one might say, in parenthesis, that their jazz usually was played so badly that it could not be recognized as such.

There is nothing in the law, of course, against the playing of jazz. The compulsion is far stronger than a law.

Law of Opinion
It is the compulsion of respectable Communist opinion, which frowns on frivolity of any sort and especially on frivolity that seems to suggest the middleclass outside world.

About the worst thing you can say here of a young man or a young woman is that he or she is a "fox-trotter." It at once connotes that person to a category of socially unfit of those unworthy to share in the new Soviet life.

When you hear the strains of jazz in a theater, you know at once that the curtain will rise upon a scene of capitalist debauchery.

ROME BIRTHDAY TODAY

Most of Italy Joins in 2,683-Year Anniversary.

ROME, April 21.—Rome became 2,683 years old today, and the greater part of Italy joined her in celebration.

Banks, stores and offices were closed and Romans in a body joined in observing the holiday created by Premier Mussolini several years ago to replace the old "red" labor day, which used to result in a complete cessation of activity in Rome.

JAPANESE PRINCE SAILS

Brother of Emperor Will Return Call of British Duke.

YOKOHAMA, Japan, April 21.—Thousands of Emperor Hirohito's subjects gathered at the pier here today to bid farewell to Prince and Princess Takamatsu, sailing for Europe on the Koshima Maru to repay the visit of Britain's Duke of Gloucester to Japan. Prince Takamatsu is a younger brother of the emperor.

Typhoon Takes Heavy Toll

MANILA, P. I., April 21.—Ninety per cent of the population of the province of Leyte was homeless today after the devastating typhoon which swept the land. Only two persons are known to have perished. Thirteen towns are in ruins.

GOOD RESULTS

FROM CARDUI

Arkansas Lady Tells How This Medicine Helped Her on Several Occasions.

"When I was 15 years old, I suffered from backache and headache, and most of the time I was in bed," writes Mrs. R. D. Axtell, Huntsville Ark.

Mrs. Axtell says she was advised to take Cardui. "My mother had used it and found it helpful," she adds. "So I took it with good results. I never was bothered any more with aches and pains."

"I am now 45 years old, and am the mother of eight children. I have taken Cardui since I was married and have gotten good benefit from it."

"About two years ago I felt run-down and weak. My health was not what it should have been, so I took three bottles of Cardui, and it helped me a lot. I was able to do all my work and raise a garden."

If you are run-down, nervous or suffer every month, take Cardui, a purely vegetable, reconstructive medicine, used by women for over fifty years.

Thousands of women praise Cardui for the benefits they have felt after taking it.
