

DEMOCRATS TO SLAP SILENCER ON REFERENDUM

Party Chiefs Regard Move as Dangerous Politics, Gossip Indicates.

BY BEN STERN

If trends of thought among Democratic leaders gathered at French Lick over the week-end for their harmony sessions are indicated by their gossip, the Democratic state convention not only will refuse to approve a plank asking for a wet and dry referendum, but may not be given an opportunity at all to act upon such a resolution.

The three committees which will act as a barrier to all plank proposals are expected to be able to withstand the assaults of friends of the referendum; and when the finished resolutions will be presented to the delegates for approval, the referendum question will be noticed because of its absence.

No matter how the majority of Democrats feel personally about the wet and dry issue, they regard insertion of any pronouncement for a vote on the questions as dangerous politically.

Formal announcement of his candidacy for the nomination for secretary of state was made by Arthur J. Hamrick, Clayton, three times nominated for the post. At same time, Dr. T. A. Sigler, Greencastle, also from the Fifth district, has indicated he may become a candidate. Sigler is Putnam county chairman.

Shouse Flays President

Address of Jouett Shouse, chairman of Democratic national committee, and Frederick Van Nuyts Indianapolis, former United States district attorney, were heard by more than 450 party leaders and workers.

Shouse undertook the task of puncturing stories concerning "Hoover, the miracle worker and paragon of efficiency."

"Standing behind the President has become more and more difficult for the statesmen of the President's party," he said. "In fact, it has transformed these standpatters into grandstand jumpers."

Shouse concentrated his attack upon the President's policies with regard to the tariff and the stock market collapse.

He attributed the present "bewilderment and distress of the country to the amazing series of legislative spectacles which has attended the writing of the tariff bill. . . . The bill pleases no one. It does not help the farmer, as promised. It threatens business everywhere and living costs will be higher for all," he asserted.

Brands Tax Board Moves

"Wholesale tax evasions in Lake county with the cognizance of the state administration are responsible for the heavy tax burden upon Indiana," Van Nuyts charged. He stood the party leaders in their seats as he asserted.

"Governor Leslie's state tax board does not use its power to increase assessments in Lake county because the Calumet region is the balance of power which gives G. O. P. state tickets their winning votes."

"Leslie will not act. His hands are tied. It was the vote of Lake county and the corrupt Tenth district Republican machine that elected him Governor. Lake county's tax valuation should be twice that of Marion county whereas in 1928 the total assessed valuation was little more than half of that in Marion county."

255 Prefixes of 45 States Declare Drinking by Students Lessening.

By United Press

EVANSTON, Ill., June 2.—Presidents of 255 colleges in forty-five states believe there is less student drinking, that there is a larger number of nondrinking students than ever and a growing trend of student opinion against liquor according to a questionnaire sent out by the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

The 255 answers in regard to present conditions as tabulated and made public today by national headquarters of the W. C. T. U. follow:

Less drinking than before prohibition. 146
No drinking ..... 44
Drinking either unknown or almost unknown ..... 47
Same amount as before prohibition. 47
Drinking conditions bad ..... 7
Drinking conditions better than before prohibition ..... 3

"The views of the presidents," the W. C. T. U. said, "coincide with the statements of the two famous football coaches, Alonzo Stagg, University of Chicago, and Fielding Yost, Michigan, who told the judiciary committee of the house that student drinking was vastly less since prohibition and are in disagreement with the idea expressed by Coach W. W. Roper, who said drinking conditions are so bad that he hesi-

Doran Charges Disregard of Federal Statutes in Wet Sections.

BY CECIL OWEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 2.—On the eve of the federal government's supreme effort to enforce prohibition through a new alignment of investigating and prosecuting agencies under Attorney-General Mitchell, the administration has launched a new appeal for better co-operation from the states.

In an analysis of prohibition enforcement made public by Prohibition Commissioner Doran, failure to obtain effective liquor law enforcement was blamed squarely on some state officials who were said to have disregarded their sworn duty because of wet sentiment in their communities.

"If state officials were as active in enforcing the national prohibition act as it is clear they have the duty and obligation to be," Doran said, "it becomes at once apparent that prohibition could be enforced successfully."

The W. C. T. U. said the inquiry was undertaken "because of widespread propaganda that college is unsafe."

Charged with conspiracy to accept bribes, Roy Lyle, above, federal prohibition commissioner of the Pacific northwest district, including Washington and Alaska, faces trial at Seattle. Four of Lyle's subordinates also were indicted by a federal grand jury.

tated to send his children to college.

"Presidents report almost three times as many colleges where there is no drinking as the organized wettes have put forward as institutions where there are more drinkers than non-drinkers."

The W. C. T. U. said the inquiry was undertaken "because of widespread propaganda that college is unsafe."

enforcement commission has urged more co-operation from the states.

Inadequate prohibition enforcement in New York state was laid by Doran on the refusal of local authorities to initiate prosecutions in the larger cities.

States not fishing dry acts of their own still are required by the current clause of the eighteenth amendment to assume equal responsibility with federal officials for enforcing prohibition, Doran said.

KNOWLEDGING WHAT TO DO—and doing it—that's what carries a man up... and a cigarette, too.

PUTTING FIRST THINGS FIRST—good taste, uniform quality, aroma, flavor—Chesterfield's popularity is built on knowing what smokers want... and giving it unfailingly.

TASTE—THAT'S THE ANSWER and that's what smokers get in Chesterfield in fullest measure—the flavor and aroma of mellow tobaccos, exactly blended and cross-blended, all to a single, satisfying end... "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.
