

PLANS FINISHED FOR NEWSPAPER GROUP SESSIONS

Democratic and Republican
Editorial Associations
Meetings Set.

Arrangements have been completed for midsummer meetings of both the Indiana Republican and Democratic editorial associations' meetings.

The Democrats will meet at Bedford next Friday and Saturday.

Following a visit to the quarries of the Indiana Limestone Company during the day, the banquet will be held Friday night at which Waller Myers, Indianapolis candidate for state representative; Claude Gregg, former mayor of Vincennes; and Dale J. Crittenberger, Anderson publisher, will be the principal speakers. E. B. Crowe, Third district congressional nominee will preside.

Conference Is Slated

While editors and their friends inspect the new state park at Mitchell Saturday the state committed an congressional and state candidates will hold a joint conference. R. Earl Peters, state chairman, announced.

Republican editors will meet at Michigan City June 21 and 22.

Following a tour of the Dunes and a visit to the state prison in the afternoon, dinner will be held at which Dr. Allen D. Albert, assistant president of the Chicago world fair centennial celebration, will be the principal speaker.

FT. WAYNE Editor Speaks

A luncheon meeting will be held Saturday at the Long Beach Country Club where Arthur K. Remmel, editor of the Ft. Wayne News Sentinel, will discuss the Indiana tax situation. H. R. Misener, editor of the Michigan City News, will preside.

Both the senior and junior Indiana senators, James E. Watson and Arthur K. Robinson are scheduled to speak at a dinner Saturday night. Governor Harry G. Leslie, who also was invited to speak, will not be able to do so as he plans to attend the conference of Governors at Salt Lake City, Utah.

DUGOUT IN BASEMENT STILL HIDING PLACE

Police Charge Seizure of Booze-making Equipment.

A dugout in the basement was hiding place of a still which police allege they found in operation in a raid on the home of Louis Komlanc, 732 North Warman avenue, Thursday night. Komlanc, charged with operating a still, was turned over to federal officials.

Police allege they found a small quantity of whisky, two small copper stills, nine empty wine barrels and fifteen tubs of mash. The dugout was reached by a trapdoor from a bedroom, and two other trapdoors were found in the house, leading to dugouts not in use, the raiders claim.

GREAT WAR DRAMA NOW AT THE CIRCLE

"Journey's End," With Colin Clive in the Chief Male Role
Which He Created in London, Opens Today.

TIFFANY'S special production of the year, "Journey's End," opens today at the Circle.

This famous play by R. C. Sherriff, which has been dramatized many times on the stage, is said to come to the talking screen unchanged.

The players in this production are men who have seen more of the speaking stage than of the screen, and therefore are said to be of peculiar interest.

Billy Bevan is the best known to the screen. Ian MacLaren has played several parts in silent pictures, and Anthony Bushell has been seen in "Disraeli" and Charles Gerard in numerous roles, but, with the exception of Bevan, all are of great speaking stage fame.

Colin Clive, playing the lead in "Journey's End," is making his screen debut, traveling from London to Hollywood to do so—and then returning to the same role in the stage production. David Manners is said to bring a new and fresh young face to the screen.

This production as directed by James Whale. The picture does not include a single feminine player but it's appeal to women is said to be great.

During this week Lester Huff has prepared something different and interesting in an organ solo which is entitled "Shades of Blue." On the same bill is a Mickey Mouse sound cartoon, "Barney's Concerts." A Paramount news reel in sound will complete the program.

CARROLL MOVIE OPENS AT INDIANA

A new Nancy Carroll, who temporarily forsakes songs and dances, is to be seen in her latest starring picture, "The Devil's Holiday," which opens today at the Indiana.

The stage presentation during this week is "Magic Melodies" featuring Helen Lewis as mistress of ceremonies with her all girl band.

In "The Devil's Holiday," written and directed by Edmund Goulding, maker of "The Trespasser," Miss Carroll creates the most important dramatic role of her career, it is said. It is said to be a role which enables this popular titan-haired star to give full play to her talents as an actress, to rise to emotional heights.

In this picture Nancy Carroll is cast as Hallie Hobart, a professional good girl, managing men—for what she can get out of them. Hallie's beauty and charm fascinate all who come in contact with her, but she herself is about cold, indifferent to the feelings and emotions of others.

One thought dominates her mind—a holiday in France with enough money to live in luxury. To this end she devotes all of her time, finally trickling a prosperous young man who loves her blindly into marrying her.

The cast supporting Miss Carroll includes Phillips Holmes, Zasu Pitts, Hobart Bosworth, Paul Lukas, James Kirkwood, Ned Sparks and Morgan Farley.

"Magic Melody" the stage offering, ha! Helen Lewis and her all girl band as its feature. The supporting cast includes Williams and DeLeon, M. Duval and Company and Violet Dobos. Ed Resner is offering an overture entitled "Echoes of the Bayou" in which he is featuring "Song of the Bayou."

Dessa Byrd is at the organ and a Paramount sound news completes the bill.

Other theaters today offer: "The Golden Galt" at the Apollo, new double bill at the Ohio, Otto Gray and his Oklahoma cowboys at the Lyric, "Caught Short" at the Palace, and movies at the Colonial.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13—Declaring it was only a "sensational publicity stunt," Attorney-General U. S. Webb today refused to make public an affidavit sent him by Eugene Moizer, ex-service man, charging Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, had "framed" Alexander Pantages, wealthy theater magnate.

Bernard Nugent, attorney for Moizer, revealed the contents of the affidavit, however.

Moizer alleged he had been accosted on a Los Angeles street by Eunice Pringle and asked to go to a hotel room and rumple her dress and scratch her face and body before she kept an appointment with Pantages, wealthy theater magnate.
