FIFTY YEARS IN U.S.: FACES DEPORTATION

By United Press
WATERBURY, Conn., Aug. 29.— Fifty years after he first came to the United States, Sadiro Ubaldi today faced possible deportation to his native Italy under a law passed in 1923.

He was to be arraigned before a United States commissioner at Hartford today on a charge of entering this country illegally with his wife, whom he brought back from Italy in 1923 by way of Canada.

Ubaldi is the father of seven children, five of whom were born in this country and two in Italy. He has been employed as a brass worker.

Hold as Illinois Fugitive Mrs. M. Estella Jewell, 65, of 431 East Warsaw street, was held to day as a fugitive from justice, said to be wanted in Tuscola, Ill., in connection with theft of $700 from the estate of her late brother. She is a cripple.

said to the Konjola Man:

"There is nothing unusual in my desire to tell the world about Kon-jola for I hear the same story almost every day. Still I hope my experience with this medicine will help others to regain their health.
I suffered terribly from kidney, liver and bowel troubles. I had to get up as often as six times during a single night, and my back hurt and ached all the time. Constipation filled by system with poisons; my liver was sluggish, and I became very nervous."

"After reading so much about Konjola, I put my faith in this medicine and began the treatment.
I soon began to feel better, and I was so happy for it is the first medicine that helped me. Seven bottles of Konjola brought an end to my health troubles and I felt fine. That was three years ago, and not one of my ailments has returned to this day. I occasionally take a few doses of Konjola just to keep me in good health."

Mrs. Black gave this testimonial hoping that other sufferers will profit thereby.

DRY LEAGUE IS ENTANGLED IN OIL SCANDALS

Colorado Czar Is Accused of Pushing Stock Onto State Politicians.

By E. T. LEECH
Editor Rocky Mountain News

DENVER, Aug. 29.—In the midst of Colorado's bitterest political campaign, and with prohibition playing a prominent part in the contest, the Antisaloon League just has been exposed in the role of selling wild-to office holders, politicians, and candidates in the present campaign.

Finch is president of the Fitzsimons Oil and Leasing Company.

The promotion scheme originally was engineered by E. B. Dill, who is now a fugitive, following his indictment in connection with the collapse of another promotion scheme.

After Dill fled the state, stockholders of the oil company took over its affairs and elected Finch president. Previously he had been a stock salesman for the company.

Investigation of the league's activities by the senatorial campaign investigation committee headed by Senator Nye is expected to result.
