

LABOR, CAPITAL JOIN TO STAMP OUT GANGLAND

Chicago Prepares for War Against Capone Group of United Hoodlums.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Battle lines were being drawn today for a "revolutionary" war to the finish between two powerful "co-operative" armies in Chicago.

On one side were aligned the city's gangsters and her racketeers, rallying to the battle cry of Al Capone, whom they must fight together or perish together.

The forces of law and order, big business and labor made up the contingents of the opposing army. They rallied in answer to the defiant challenge of Judge John P. McCorty that "the racketing must be stamped out now and forever."

Challenge to Jury

The judge's challenge was delivered to the September grand jury with orders the body must open a "relentless warfare against those who seek to erect a super-government in the metropolitan area of Chicago." He ordered, also, that succeeding grand juries continue the war.

Capone, according to reports, is attempting to build a "super-government" within the city, with himself as head of a dictating "cabinet," composed of a secretary of war, secretary of beer, secretary of vice, secretary of gambling, etc.

Recognizing the dangers of the gangs eliminating themselves by warring on each other, the enemies of Capone are joining his forces, with leaders of rival and less powerful groups accepting the secretaryships in the super-gang.

Opposing Army Forms

The opposing army is forming rapidly. John A. Swanson, state's attorney, was to go before the grand jury today, offering the services of his department in the new "co-operative" movement.

Support of organized business, which is estimated, has lost $136,000,000 yearly to racketeers, was pledged by Colonel Robert L. Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce, and Gordon L. Hostetter, executive secretary of the Employers' Association.

Miss Francis now has long hair, parted in the center, covering the ears and caught in a large, tight knot at the back of the neck. That, according to the movies, is the way all Russian women wear their hair.

The Davidsons, who agreed to purchase 600 shares of stock in the newspaper from Pulliam and Thomas in 1928, charged misrepresentation as to the value of the business and asked an adjustment of the purchase price. NEW ARGENTINE REGIME WORKS FOR NORMALCY

Tries to Stabilize Finances; Offered Huge Loan by Bank Group.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 10.—The provisional government of General Jose E. Uriburu, apparently gaining the confidence of the nation, made progress today toward returning Argentina to financial stability.

Simultaneously with an important meeting of the cabinet to discuss the financial situation, representatives of fourteen banks met and decided to offer the government a loan of 50,000,000 pesos for 180 days at 5 per cent interest without any guarantee. It is understood the offer probably would be formulated today.

Government officials believed the improvement in Argentine bonds and in the pesos is one of the chief victories of the revolution, indicating the confidence of the nation and the world in the new regime.

In addition to the rapidly forming financial reconstruction plans, the government is faced with the delicate and highly important problem of disposition of the deposed president, Hipolito Yrigoyen, who is ill and held incommunicado at the La Plata.

It was understood Yrigoyen will not be removed from the headquarters of the Seventh infantry in La Plata until two leading Argentine physicians, Dr. Aroz Alfaro and Dr. Mariano Castex, have examined the former president.

It was emphasized the former president received a pledge of his personal liberty when he signed his resignation.

Chrane had been superintendent of Boonville schools for eighteen years, hundreds of the city's residents had been his pupils, and he was known to every one in the town.

Pleading that his captors kill him to save him from being tortured by a mob that demanded vengeance for the superintendent's death, Vlski was taken Tuesday night to the state prison at Jefferson City.

Vlski was recaptured shortly after he escaped from the reformatory, stole a revolver, stopped Chrane on a downtown street, forced the teacher to drive outside the city, killed him and tossed his body into the field.

A mob formed quickly and attacked officers who had Vlski in custody. The officers fought off the mob and later took Vlski to the state prison.
