

COUNCIL BANS ALL-NIGHT TOY GOLF COURSES

Paves Way for Naming of Assistant Manager at City Airport.

City councilmen Monday night voted a blow to all-night miniature golf in Indianapolis, when they passed an ordinance requiring course operators pay license fees of $15 a month and close the courses at 1 a.m.

The ordinance, which will be effective after signing by Mayor Reginald H. Sullivan, sets a penalty of $100 upon course operators who fail to obtain the license and close at the required hour.

The law will apply to indoor golf courses which will operate in Indianapolis this winter.

Block Rules Suspension

Way was paved for the appointment of Charles E. Cox Jr., former operations manager for the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, as assistant manager at the new municipal airport.

Move to pass the ordinance under suspended rules, was blocked when Councilman Charles Morgan and George A. Henry objected. Leo F. Welch sought immediate action, pointing out that the appointment is to take effect Oct. 1. The airport is to be opened Oct. 15.

Cox, a major in the air corps reserve, has been flying since 1917. He served in the air corps on the front in the World War.

Ground Is Leased

Other ordinances introduced: Transfer of $2,100 from the police salary fund to the police radio fund; transfer of $21,425 from the work board salary fund to the street commissioners fund; leasing of ground at municipal airport for federal weather bureau; transfers $1,400 to the national position as sergeant in the police department, and authority of installation of a switch from the Indianapolis Union Railway to the American Foundry Corporation at Draper and Van Buren streets.

City employees are being assessed to pay the expenses of the Democratic campaign for the fall election.

Throughout the city hall and police and fire departments, it has been "suggested" that employees interested in their party and personal welfare "might" contribute to the campaign fund.

Leaders of the collection movement resent highly that any one should inquire into the assessment program and let as much be known.

On the other hand, they point to more severe assessments in the days of the old Republican regime.

The schedule calls for employees making up to $1,800 annually to "kick in" 1 per cent, and up to $3,000 2 per cent, with others above that being given the impression that
