

LAUNCH STATE DRIVE TO FIND ILLINOIS JOBS

Unemployment Commission Will Be Named by Governor Emmerson.

By United Press
CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Illinois forces of business, industry, banking, labor, church, social welfare and state government will be organized definitely Wednesday to plan immediate relief for the unemployment situation.

A state commission on unemployment, with an unlimited representation from all these organizations, and probably others, will be appointed by Governor Louis L. Emmerson and will endeavor to solve its problem within sixty days, it was decided late Monday at a preliminary conference called by the Governor.

Early Relief Necessary

"Whatever remedy is applied, it must come within the next thirty or sixty days," Albert Fisher of the Illinois Federation of Labor told the conference.

"The worst hasn't come in my opinion," said Fisher. "I don't know what is going to happen. These people won't see their wives and children starve, not even if they must starve."

Others of the dozen speakers who explained to Governor Emmerson conditions in Illinois were not as pessimistic as was Fisher, but there were few notes of real optimism in any of the reports and it generally was agreed the situation was worse than in any years since 1921.

Barney Cohen, state superintendent of labor, estimated there were 400,000 unemployed men in the state. He said employment had decreased 17.3 per cent this year and that Illinois is facing its hardest winter in a decade.

Suffering Is Very Real

Expressing a desire not to "paint the picture darker than it is, but to face facts as they are," Governor Emmerson, who had just returned from a similar conference in New York, explained the purpose of the meeting.

"While I believe present industrial conditions are the backwash of depression and financial insecurity in European nations and are to a considerable extent due to state of mind on the part of the public, nevertheless, the resultant lack of employment and the suffering of many thousands of people is very real," he said.

G. O. P. TABLOID TO BE ELECTION WEAPON

New Campaign Journal Will Appear Saturday at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—A week tabloid journal dealing with government affairs from the administration standpoint will make its appearance Saturday as an additional Republican campaign weapon.

While the Republican national committee was understood today to be sponsoring the journal, its financing was said to have been arranged by a group of President Hoover's close friends.

Distribution on a national scale of some 75,000 copies weekly was planned to continue at least through the November elections, and possibly indefinitely.

David Hanchaw of New York, formerly associated with Republican publicity, is the editor.

The tabloid will be printed here as "Washington, A Journal of Information and Opinion."

MILK FLOODS STREETS

Dairy Wagon, Ice Truck Collide; Both Are Overturned.

Milk and ice covered Belmont avenue at Michigan street early today when a milk wagon driven by Harry Snyder, 28, of 1756 North Tibbs avenue, was struck by an ice truck driven by Aldus Wilson, 25, of 354 South Roan avenue.

Snyder was cut and bruised and the horse he was driving was also injured. Both the milk wagon and the ice truck overturned.

Security Buying Public Apparently Cured, Asserts Banker.

By United Press
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14.—The security-buying public apparently has been cured of its speculative craze, and in that factor lies a solid foundation for renewed prosperity of the United States, in the belief of Trowbridge Calaway of New York, president of the Investment Bankers Association of America, now in session here.

PRIDE REARS HEAD

New Dependents Hard to Help

Salvation Army Leaders Point to Types Made by Depression.

BY SHELDON KEY

Winds of fate may toss the "down and out" to and fro before an unheeding world, but they do not the pride of a gentleman.

It is with this unbending pride Salvation Army workers must deal. It's pride that is causing the jobless to sleep on sidewalk pallets rather than ask succor of charity.

This was revealed by the conference of Salvation Army leaders in Indianapolis today at which William A. McIntyre, Salvation Army commissioner for eleven midwest states, is presiding officer.

New Kind of Dependent

"Recent unemployment has brought forth a new kind of dependent—the man who is out of a job for the first time, and are studying how to help him without hurting his pride," McIntyre declared at the meeting today.

Here is how it's being done in some cities of the midwest.

In Chicago, where Salvation Army leaders say conditions are worse, William Wrigley Jr. has helped solve the problem. In a five-story building, donated by Wrigley, two thousand jobless men are given lodgings and food.

But as McIntyre explained, "This is not a 'free gratis' institution. Instead, it is a co-operative settlement in which the men work for one another."

Unlike Owen's New Harmony society, the midwest's earliest example of common, community living, the Chicago project is succeeding. Necessity is its own master.

Work to Earn Bread

It banishes pride because men, brought in from the streets, are given work by which to earn their bread. They may even follow their own particular trades.

The barbers do the barbering, cooks prepare the food, tailors mend the clothing, cobblers repair the shoes until the wants for all are provided in this way.

"We had to repair the building in Chicago," McIntyre said, "so we surveyed our army of jobless men and picked out the brick masons, carpenters and helpers and set them to work under a capable contractor."

"In ways such as this, the Salvation Army leaders of the midwest are aiming to aid the unemployment problem," McIntyre declares.

EARL AND ELZA GET ALONG 'JUST DANDY'

Friendly Notes Pass in Mistake on Election Letter.

A little humor was injected in the state political campaign today through the exchange of polite notes by the state chairmen.

In the mail addressed to R. Earl Peters, Democratic chief, was a letter from an Elkhart county G. O. P. worker containing a printed list of county workers.

Peters mailed the list to Elza O. Rogers, Republican leader with a note saying that although he knew many Republicans were Democratic in their sentiments this year, he had not expected that list of workers would be submitted to him.

Rogers countered with a letter declaring:

"You see we are conducting this campaign absolutely on the level and my instruction to all of my precinct committeemen and women is to submit lists of workers to you for your approval. I believe in cooperation."

EATING A SWEET IN MID-AFTERNOON RESTORES VIGOR

Fatigue Quickly Overcome by Sugar Content of Candy, Cake or Beverage

"Fagged out" at four o'clock is an experience that nearly every business man and woman faces daily. As a matter of fact this condition has become so apparent that it has been studied by medical men and food scientists.

One of the best "remedies" discovered for this mid-afternoon fatigue was "something to eat." Experiments showed that when a few pieces of candy, ice cream or cookies were eaten, vitality was quickly restored. The same was true when a flavored beverage was drunk—such as water sweetened with sugar.

The refined sugar content of these foods is responsible for the renewed vigor. For when refined sugar is eaten it almost immediately supplies nourishment to the body. And when the system is nourished fatigue disappears.

American business people are fortunate in being near places where candy, ice cream and beverages are sold. With practically no loss of time and very little expense, a mid-afternoon snack can be enjoyed. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

MILLIONS WILL BE SPENT FOR RADIO TALENT

New Programs to Be Added to Old Favorites for Winter Season.

BY PAUL HARRISON
NERA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Radio is answering the demands of its airwise audience—a vast army of listeners estimated to be increasing at the rate of 400,000 a month—and is entering the fall and winter season with advances in every branch of its service—entertainment, education, advertising and the promotion of international relations.

The ten-year-old industry, an industrial art, an established commercial success, is preparing to pour vast sums into its already large budgets for talent and broadcasting facilities.

Practically all the program favorites of last year are to be on the air again, and will be generally available to larger areas of reception. A number of new programs are being started which promise to rank high in popularity when they are established.

Most important of new radio features probably is a series of seven-seventeen concerts by the New York Philharmonic symphony, famed 88-year-old organization, which never before has been on the air. Columbia is putting this, as well as a series of fifteen concerts for children and young people, on its nation-wide network.

Wells to Be Heard

Other Columbia programs include 105 broadcasts in the 1930-31 American School of the Air, specially prepared for classrooms, "The Radio Follies" and a number of other widely varied sustaining features, including a series of broadcasts from London. The latter will bring the voices of celebrities such as John Masefield, Viscount Astor, H. G. Wells and Lord Beauchamp.

Several new commercial programs have been organized, some revised and others have taken on additional scope virtually the entire nation.

Atwater Kent (CBS) will horsepower virtually the entire nation; Atwater Kent (NBC) will continue its search for big names, has signed Madame Louise Homer, and is reported to be angling for Paderewski; Lucky Strike (NBC) has bought an extra forty-five-minute period each week.

Paul Whiteman (CBS) will broadcast regularly for the first time from a supper club, and Guy Lombardo, Columbia's most popular orchestra leader, will be heard often this year, though sometimes anonymously.

"Death Valley Days" (NBC) a new program glorifying borax, seems slated for a big hand from the fans this winter, and so are the Johns-Manville Fire Fighters (CBS), another new commercial feature.

Both national organizations have enlarged their staffs of "special events" experts and will pay increased attention to radio reporting. Sports promoters and athletic associations generally have acceded to the demands for broadcasts of their matches and games.
