

U. S. AIR MAIL PLANES COVER 115,000 MILES

Two New Routes to Boost
Huge Total Covered by Ships Daily.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Within the next thirty days air mail and passenger planes operating within the United States will be flying more than 115,000 miles every twenty-four hours, according to Wiser Williams, manager of the American Air Transport Association.

Under the present schedule, the aggregate mileage now is 102,948 miles daily. The opening of two new transcontinental routes—one from Atlanta to Los Angeles and the other from New York to Los Angeles—will raise it to 115,000 miles.

Began Back in 1927

Foreign air mail and passenger planes, which travel into Canada, Mexico, South America and into the Caribbean, account for an additional daily mileage of 17,254.

This makes a combined daily total of 120,202 miles over an aerial network of 55,532 miles. Of this network, 31,562 miles are within the territorial limits of the United States.

Practically all of this flying has originated since Sept. 1, 1927, when the postoffice department turned over the last of the government operated routes to private contractors.

60 Airports Lighted

When the two new air lines are put into operation more than a score of new cities will have air service. Many more will be able to avail themselves of it by means of synchronization of train schedule with off-line mail stations and the establishment of feeder systems.

Since the beginning of air mail service by private contractors the miles of lighted airways, permitting the flying of cargoes at night, have increased from a few experimental routes in the middle west to 14,500 miles, while 608 airports and landing fields equipped with beacons and flood lights, help provide for the night service.

Arrivals and Departures

Mars Hill Airport.—S. C. Huffman, Cincinnati operations manager, Embury-Riddle air mail and passenger line, Cincinnati to Indianapolis, Fleet; T. A. T. passengers westbound included H. A. Tutwiler, Indianapolis; Miss Dorothy Baldwin, St. Louis; H. E. Hurst, Amarillo, Tex.; M. S. Blish, St. Louis, and J. W. Richardson, Dallas, Tex.; eastbound passengers included R. L. Gray, New York.

Hoosier Airport.—Sam Jones, Indianapolis to Muncie and return, Travel Air; J. H. McDuffee and Dick Knox, pilot, returned from Michigan, Travel Air; Ryan monoplanes; Walker Winslow, returned from Muncie, Travel Air; Harry Boggs, returned from Martinsville, Travel Air.

Capital Airport.—C. O. Bell, pilot, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company pilot, Akron to St. Louis, Fokker.

Study Model Planes

Study and building of model airplanes will be added to activities of the Municipal Gardens Boys' Club which meets each Monday night. Herschel S. Knight, director of model airplane work for city recreation department, will supervise instruction. Boys interested in the work are requested to communicate with Knight at 1518 North Gale street as soon as possible.

560 MILES OF PAVING LAID BY STATE IN YEAR

$2,000,000 Budget Increase Brings Small Raise in Total Work.

Indiana's state highway department put down fifty-nine miles more of permanent type paving this year than last with a budget increased by more than $2,000,000 and over-expenditures of $1,600,000 financed by a loan.

Mileage totals for the year were made public today in advance of the report to be made by Director John J. Brown of the department for the Governor's year book.

Advance report discloses that 560 miles of all types of paving have been completed by the department this season. Of the total, 445 miles are concrete and 115 miles are asphalt. Last year a total of 479 miles were completed, including 386 miles of concrete and ninety-five miles of asphalt.

3,100 Miles Paved Now

The report terms the 445 miles of cement "highest types" and 115 miles of asphalt "lesser type," which may add another chapter to the perpetual conflict between the cement and asphalt paving interests.

More than 3,100 miles now are paved in the state system of 6,010 miles, the report sets out.

"Combined paving in 1929 and 1930 under the administration of Governor Harry G. Leslie, is 1,039 miles," it continues. "This means that in two years there was paved one-third of the total mileage paved in some eleven and one-half years."

Aided by Gas Tax Hike

Paving for 1930 was distributed in all sections of Indiana, according to William J. Titus, chief engineer, who lists major projects in the report.

Increased expenditures were made possible by increasing the state gasoline tax from 3 cents to 4 cents a gallon.

"The 1930 construction season will go down as the most successful expansion year in Indiana state highway history," Director Brown is quoted as saying.

FRENCH HONOR ARTS
PATRON IN CEREMONY

Colorful Rites Recall Founding of Famed Theater Francaise.

PARIS, Oct. 21.—The terror of all Europe on the battlefield, but a munificent patron of the arts, Louis XIV, the Sun king, today strode out from the shadows long enough to reaffix his signature to the decree which gave birth to the famed Theater Francaise.

A colorful ceremony commemorated the 250th anniversary of the institution, immortalized by illustrious ghosts from Moliere to Bernhardt.

The world seventeenth century spectacle was attended by the elite of the French theatrical world.

The comedie Francaise is subsidized by the government, and is world famous today for maintaining the best classic traditions of the stage, despite comparatively poor salaries paid its artists.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Oct. 21.—Eighty-eight pumpkins, the largest weighing thirty-three pounds, grown on a vine ninety feet long grew in sawdust by Louis Beal.

Beal also planted radishes, cucumbers, carrots and flowers in the sawdust, in which there was no soil. None of the plants were watered during the long drought, but all yielded well. He will plant more extensively next spring for the purpose of noting further the results.

OCT. 26 TO BE PRISON SUNDAY

Leslie in Proclamation of Church Observance.

Sunday has been designated "Prison Sunday" in a proclamation issued today by Governor Harry G. Leslie.

The current bulletin of the state board of charities is devoted to material that can be used in sermons for prison Sunday observance. It points out designation of this day has been customary throughout the country since 1848. Leslie's proclamation, by custom, the last Sunday in October has come to be known as Prison Sunday.

The unfortunate whose hand has been raised against society must be restrained. This is done by confinement in penal institutions. The proper care and management of these institutions in order that the greatest good may come to the inmate and utmost protection vouchsafed to society constitute the most perplexing problems of today.

Underlying these problems is the fundamental problem of law observance and crime prevention. No adequate solution can be reached until men and women everywhere become imbued with the idea that crime does not pay and that lawlessness reacts upon the head of the violator. The church is peculiarly burdened with the responsibility for law and order. The teaching of the Nazarene carries the ultimate solution of our social ills. Love of our fellows is the most powerful restraining influence.

"Therefore, I urge that the churches of Indiana give special attention to Prison Sunday, providing such exercises as will emphasize personal responsibility in the matter of law observance and crime prevention.
