

ASK HIGH COURT AID IN WAR ON ANTI-FAT ADS

Federal Trade Group Seeks to Learn Limits of Right to Control.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The supreme court has been asked to take a hand in the anti-fat campaign and decide the merits of at least a few of the numberless reducing schemes.

The review is asked by the federal trade commission because it was unable to enforce its dictum on one purveyor of obesity remedies. It unsuccessfully tried to compel a manufacturer of tablets promising girth reduction to conform in its pamphlets and paid advertisements with what the commission believed to be the truth in advertising.

Contained Powerful Drug

The tablets, with their particular appeal to those women who find dieting interferes with their meals, who become dizzy when they roll, and who do not get up early enough to take radio calisthenics, were found to contain a powerful drug. Extract of the thyroid glands which science has found to have much to do with the control of a person's weight was discovered to be one of the most important components of the remedy.

In the course of their investigation the commission learned much about fat and its misapplication. They learned that the thyroid extract might be useful in about five per cent of obesity cases.

Blame Improper Eating

The other 95 per cent are caused simply by improper or excessive eating. Thyroid works on the theory that it increases the oxidation of fatty tissues.

But, the commission learned, when thyroid is taken it tends to decrease the activity of the natural gland, and increases, rather than lessens the difficulty.

An order was issued directing the company selling the remedy to desist from its claims of certain cure.

Ordered to Stop

It was ordered to stop saying the tablets were "safe and harmless" unless it added that it could not be safely taken except on the advice of a reputable physician.

The commission's authority previously had been defined, however, and a lower court ruled it only could issue orders protecting reputable and honest dealers from unfair competition.

Confronted with an array of alleged fake cures exposed by the American Medical Association, the court said in effect, "these are not legitimate enterprises, and are not entitled to protection."

FORCE HAIR TO GROW ON A WATCH CRYSTAL

Barber's Billiard Ball Claims Outcome in English Experiment.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—British scientists have succeeded in growing hair on a watch crystal.

This has been accomplished at the Leeds headquarters of the Wool Industries Research Association.

A woman scientist takes tiny crafts of a guinea pig's skin, transplants them to the surface of an inverted watch crystal, and feeds them with blood plasma and a special extract to nourish the roots.

The hair keeps on growing, and in many cases has doubled and in some instances trebled its length. The experiment is one of a series to find out why hair and wool grow, and how it can be made to grow faster and thicker.

Aged Carpenter Dies

ANDERSON, Ind., Oct. 28.—Riley W. Walker, 70, carpenter, died suddenly. He leaves his widow and a daughter.

Scene in Italy

This is a picture—if you'll believe the Italian correspondent who sent it—of the arrival of Signorina Mafalda Moriottino in Genoa after she had attended, as Miss Italy of 1930, the international beauty pageant in South America.

She may have been prepared for any eventuality, such as the sinking of the ship. Or else she knew that beauty is its own excuse for being photographed in a one-piece bathing suit.

STREET CAR LEAVES RAILS; HITS AUTOS

Two Machines Wrecked, Ten Passengers Unhurt in Accident.

Traveling twenty-five miles an hour, a southbound Meridian street car leaped the rails in the 800 block Monday night, and demolished two automobiles. Ten passengers were uninjured. A sunken rail and spread joint were blamed for the mishap. James Stapleton, 25, Negro, 866 West North street, was struck by an auto Monday night while pulling a child's wagon filled with coal in the 1300 block Massachusetts avenue. He sustained several fractured ribs.

MANHOLE LIDS TAKEN AS 'HALLOWEEN' JOKE

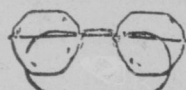

Police Seeking Persons Responsible for Dangerous Prank.

Some one's idea of a Halloween prank—removing lids from manholes in city streets—caused police and street department employees to hunt for the perpetrator today.

W. H. Winship, street commissioner, told police he found manhole covers had been removed, endangering lives of motorists, at the following places: Roache and Rader streets, Twenty-sixth street and Paris avenue, Twenty-sixth street and Indianapolis avenue, and Roache and Clifton streets.

CHRISTIANITY IN U. S. CRITICISED BY CHURCHMAN

Verbal Spanking for Nation
Given at Session of
M. E. Conference.

America received a verbal spanking Monday night at the hands of three clerics when 300 ministers and laymen of the Methodist Episcopal church met in an area conference in the Roberts Park Methodist church.

Dr. C. W. Hartinger, new pastor of Broadway Methodist church, applied the first lash when he scored the nation with: "We are a Christian nation in name only, but in reality pagan. Stealing is condoned as long as it is disguised as business. Murder is so easy as almost to be permissible. Sexual laxity is excused, defended. The Methodist church seems to have a tendency to reduce religion to a gigantic organization." Bishop Edgar E. Blake swung the whip for a second chastisement with a short address on unemployment. "These thousands of jobless men, these starving children—and then these other thousands in luxury—what a comment this is on our boasted civilization," he exclaimed. The third castigation came with a talk by Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of Chicago, on European conditions. "Europe believes Chicago is about the worst city in the world. They believe American religious groups who make suggestions regarding continental affairs might well be busy cleaning up the vice of their native land."

The conference will end tonight with an address by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, champion of the Volstead act.

Crash Deaths Reach Two

HAMMOND, Ind., Oct. 28.—The death toll in an automobile-train crash rose to two when 15-year-old Nellie Gaskie died of a fractured skull. His sister Marie, 28, Indiana Harbor, was killed outright and two other companions seriously injured when the car in which they were riding was struck at a crossing by a Michigan Central train.

STATE BUILDING DRIVE URGED IN BUDGET PLEAS

$1,500,000 Is Called for in Petitions of Five Institutions.

Building programs of approximately $1,500,000 are outlined in the budget requests of the first five state institutions to file with A. C. McDaniel, state budget clerk.

Requests are thrashed over by the state budget committee for presentation to the legislature. Proposed budget for Central state hospital here includes construction of two cottages for men at $175,000 each; tunnels connecting cottages to infirmary $15,000; piping and wiring cottages $10,000; employees' cottage $90,000, and rebuilding hot water plant in women's unit, $14,000. Total biennial budget request asked by superintendent Max A.

Bahr is $1,658,503, an increase of $61,738.49 over the 1929 budget.

Dr. Kenosha Sessions of the Indiana girls' school asks $70,000 for a cottage to house thirty girls; $15,000 for a carpenter shop and cannery; $7,200 for a new storage building and machine shop, and $9,500 for the school telephone system.

Total school budget request is $380,430.46, a $75,461.31 increase. Indiana state farm construction would include a $20,000 brick chapel; $15,000 two-story dormitory; $25,000 officers' dwelling, $5,000 abattoir, $2,500 implement storage building and $7,000 greenhouse addition.

Total state farm request is $611,215, increase of $164,572.16.

A $150,000 fifty-bed hospital is proposed for the Soldiers and Sailors Orphans' Home at Knightstown. Other building requests are $75,000 for boys' quarters; $80,000 for a school addition and $30,000 for wells and reservoirs.

Total budget request is $1,004,755, a $3,631.92 decrease from 1929 when extensive improvements were included in the budget.

Improvements for the Logansport state hospital requested are an assembly hall at $85,000; new boilers, $15,000, and rewiring, $27,500. Total request is $1,029,918.10 increase.

DELAY PHONE CASE TO NOV. 8

State, Firm Attorneys to Present Findings.

Ruling of the United States supreme court requiring findings be made in all interlocutory rulings of three-judge federal courts, caused a fortnight delay and another hearing to be scheduled in the Southern Indiana Telephone and Telegraph Company injunction case which was heard in federal court here throughout Monday.

Hearing date was set for Nov. 8. At that time both the state and company attorneys will present findings for adoption by the court. A temporary restraining order will be issued, or denied. It is asked to permit the company to ignore public service commission denial of rate increases and institute increases asked by the company in petitioning the commission.

Bond will be posted by the company, if the temporary injunction is granted, so refunds can be made if increases are finally denied.

Although commissioners were subpoenaed as witnesses by the company, they were not called to the stand. Right of such action was to have been questioned by the state.

President L. C. Griffiths of the company took the stand in the afternoon to testify that his company was constructing losing lines in southern Indiana "to develop the territory." He identified a pamphlet used as a securities selling prospectus for the company.

HOW COULD SHE KNOW?

Too sweet for bad breath, you say? But constipation with its resulting offensive breath plays no favorites. Every one—even you—needs French Lick Salts. Protect yourself against this obnoxious, personal condition.

French Lick Salts is a pleasant-tasting, effervescent saline laxative from famous French Lick Springs, Indiana. America's Spa and home of the world-famed saline mineral springs. It produces prompt elimination, yet gently yet thoroughly, without causing nausea or griping. It purifies the blood, corrects acidity, and sweeps away toxic wastes quickly, yet so gently its action may be likened to "the caress of a mother's touch." Prescribed by physicians for adults and children suffering from constipation and ills caused by it. At all drug stores, a generous quantity—50c.
