The ceremony

Colonel Charles D. Herron. Only the families were present.

The wedding united two prominent Indiana families. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William Parke Herron of Crawfordsville.

Her father was the late Captain William P. Herron of the Seventy-second regiment of Indiana volunteers in the Civil war.

James F. Stutesman died in 1919.
Hays' first wife was Helen Louise

A blackbird, suffering from cold, with a tag on its leg, puzzled Gale

"Notify biological survey. No.
A408659," the tag read. Gale didn't know where the biological survey was located. Neither did his parents. After holding the bird captive for some time he freed it.

BANDIT GETS $8 AT LUNCHROOM

George Holton, employee of the forced him to stand against the wall while he looted the cash register.

ridian Hotel and Puit golf course,

ADVISES CUT IN RAIL RATES TO BOOM BUSINESS

McCardle Says Lower Fare Would Relieve Need
of Protection.

Let the railroads cut fares and freight rates and their business will increase so that they will not need any legislation curbing competition by buses, pipe lines and the like, was the advice given today by Chairman John W. McCardle of the Indiana public service commission.

McCardle's comment was brought forth by announcement that the Association of Railway Executives, representing all Class I roads, are to meet and demand radical legislation to curb pipe line and bus competition.

"My advice is to meet competition by offering better service at a lower rate, rather than by more laws," McCardle declared. "I often have told officials of the various railroads operating in Indiana this when they have come here with complaints regarding the loss of business to bus lines and the falling off of freight haulage due to trucks."

Bus Lines Profitless
"In fact I even advised certain interurban interests against going into the bus business and told them to go out and get the passenger business for their electric lines by improved service at less cost than buses."

"I don't believe they have taken my advice, but I do know that there isn't a bus line in Indiana that is operating at a profit."

Commissioner Calvin McIntosh agreed thoroughly with the chair-man's stand in this matter. He cited the enormous business being done by the excursion trains from Indianapolis to Chicago and other points.

Railroads Mollified
"Railroads have been the most mollified industry in the United States," McIntosh asserted. "They have tried to profit by protective legislation, rather than the modern business method of reducing prices and increasing sales."

"If they get the fares down to a decent figure the trains will not have to be traveling with scarcely any one riding but the crew. The same thing applies to freight rates."

"Railroads were in their best days when 2-cent mileage was charged and the trains were crowded."
