

TRYING TO WIN OVER INCURABLE CANCER FLAYED

Radiation Shortens Lives of Many, Declares President-Elect.

By United Press
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—Attempts to conquer the incurable in cancer were decided today by Dr. Francis Carter Wood, president-elect of the organization, in an address before the Radiological Society of North America.

"Just as at least 70 per cent of those who apply for treatment for malignant growths already are in an inoperable stage, so at least the same proportion are not in a condition suitable for the application of radiation for a recovery," said Dr. Carter in advising early treatment for cancer.

Lives of Many Shortened

"Some of these patients do better and live longer if smaller amounts are administered. The lives of many have been shortened and their remaining existence rendered less comfortable by the attempt to conquer the incurable."

The world's oldest and most dreaded disease—leprosy—seems likely to be abolished, in the opinion of Dr. W. Edward Chamberlain of Philadelphia, who presented a roentgenologist's study of the bone and joint changes of the disease at today's session.

Leprosy Can Be Localized

"Leprosy most markedly affects the bones of the hands and the feet," Dr. Chamberlain said. "By modern X-ray diagnosis of these bone changes, the shortening of the fingers and toes—we have shown in 150 cases that leprosy, which may be fully localized, does not need to be dredged as an incurable disease."

Dr. Bundy J. Allen of Tampa, Fla., was installed as president of the society for the ensuing year, and Dr. Wood was named president-elect. Dr. Robert J. May of Cleveland is retiring president.

HENPECKED HUSBAND GUARDED, SAYS DOCTOR

That Way Because They Relied on Mother When Young.

By Times Special

LONDON, Dec. 5.—If you are one of those unfortunate husbands whose wife rules the roost, you're not as bad off as it seems, for you are receiving protection from your wife while other poor husbands have to shift for themselves.

Dr. C. W. Kimmings, well-known authority on children, says that most hen-pecked husbands are really "hen-protected." As small boys they relied entirely on their mothers. When they grew up and married they expected their wives to look after them, make decisions for them, and generally act as the "predominant partner."

Hence the hen-pecked condition some husbands find themselves in.

MARRYING SQUIRE IS IRKED BY 'TIGHTWADS'

"Wed and Run" Couples Think $3 for License Pays Everything.

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Dec. 5.—By United Press

Couples who "wed and run" are exasperating Justices of the Peace Isaac Silberman, who says he has performed more free marriage ceremonies this year than ever before.

"Some of the couples," he said, "evidently were of the opinion that when they paid $3 for a license they had paid for everything. Some have thanked me and departed when I pronounced them man and wife, and some have just departed."

SUDAN BISHOP USES CHURCH ON WHEELS

Rolling Place of Worship Is Fully Equipped for Preaching.

CAIRO, Dec. 5.—One of the smallest and most compact churches in the world is that used by Dr. L. H. Gwynne, bishop of Egypt and the Sudan.

Wallop in Rosin and Mud to Guard Against Stings During Forays.

By United Press

WHITEHALL, N. Y., Dec. 5.—The bears at Ghost Hollow, north of here, have learned to smear their bodies with resin from pine trees and then wallow in mud before invading the numerous beehives for honey.

Bees can't sink their stingers through such armor as that.

MOONEY FIGHT WILL CONTINUE

Freedom Fight Pledged by Arthur Garfield Hays.

By United Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The fight to free Tom Mooney and Warren Billings will continue, according to Arthur Garfield Hays, well-known liberal, lawyer of New York, and national director of the American Civil Liberties Union.

"Everybody who has studied the evidence knows that for thirteen years the state of California has kept innocent men entombed," he declared. "The trial judge, the attorney-general, the jurors, even the detectives who framed the evidence, have asked that Mooney be pardoned. The witnesses before the supreme court proved at least that they were wholly unreliable. Yet a pardon has been denied."

"The decision of the state supreme court applies only to the Billings case. The proved facts in the Mooney case show even more crookedness and perjury, yet we all know that on the basis of this decision, the Governor will find an excuse to refuse pardon to Mooney."

"We shall keep up the fight. Sacco and Vanzetti are dead, but Mooney and Billings still live."

Thomas A. Edison has five children, three by his first marriage and two by his second.

SANTA TO VISIT 19 SCRUBWOMEN

Harvard Alumni Complete Fund for Back Pay.

By United Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—It will be a merry Christmas for the nineteen Harvard scrubwomen who were discharged a year ago after the university had been ordered to increase their wages.

A group of Harvard alumni, solicitous of the honor of "Fair Harvard," set about some time ago to raise a fund from which to pay the famous nineteen the amount that was thought to be due them in back pay. The goal of the campaign, $3,880, has been reached.

This was revealed by Corliss Lamont, Harvard '24, in charge of the campaign. It was no trouble raising the money, Lamont said.

The case of the nineteen scrubwomen became famous when the university dismissed them rather than pay the 2 cents additional an hour required by Massachusetts law.

Criticism of Harvard authorities was widespread in the student body, the alumni and the secular press generally.

Since the birth of the auto industry about 640 different makes of passenger cars have been built in America and placed on the market.

SPENDS LIFE CARVING HORSES FROM WOOD

Child-Lover Won Prize for Work on "Merry-Go-Round" Figures.

By United Press

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—Frank Caretta has spent thirty-one of his fifty-one years carving horses for merry-go-rounds, not because of an irrepressible love for them, but rather because of his fondness for children.

All year he lives with the thought that his handiwork is a main factor in bringing happiness to children who throng amusement parks.

Caretta was awarded first prize for his carving of a horse three years ago at a convention of the Amusement Park Association in Chicago.
