BY MRS. WALTER FERGUSON

I HAVE no moral scruples against women smoking. Why should cigarette be any more harmful than too many pork chops or too many pies?

But housewife instincts rise up to give battle every time I see a feminine addict coming. For the cigarette is the most diabolical enemy of cleanliness that the home ever has had to contend against. And one smoker can make more litter than three sets of twins.

Strangely, also, women appear even more messy with their smoking than men. Whether they have not yet become expert, or whether it is fundamentally alien to their natures, is hard to determine. But the truth is that few are really good smokers.

The art sits uneasily, if not awkwardly, upon us and no cigarette ever manages to seem part of a woman as it does when a man handles it. Either our hands are not skilful or the neither lip hangs down too long while holding the tag, or the ashes fall at the wrong moment.

In a woman's mouth the cigarette always has a sort of show-off swagger, a tilt of surprise to find itself there, whereas it fits into a man's face as naturally as his nose does.

Women must get a great deal of satisfaction out of this habit, since they have taken to it in such numbers everywhere. But they have added nothing to the dignity of the cigarette.

And so far as coquetry is concerned, the old-fashioned fan could be used more effectively.

As I said before, the mere act of smoking doesn't bother me. What I object to, what riles me tremendously, is having to sweep up after the ladies.

Some deep feminine instinct within me is outraged when I see a woman burn the furniture or the rug, or flip her ashes on the clean floor. A throwback, perhaps, from the days when only men and children were disorderly in the house.

After 40, Constipation is Most Dangerous

CONSTIPATION may easily become chronic after forty. Continued constipation at that time of life is productive of piles—and a host of other disorders.

Watch your bowels at any age. Guard them with particular care after forty. When they need help, a doctor knows what is best.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," is a doctor's prescription for the bowels. Tested by 47 years' practice, it has been found thoroughly effective in relieving constipation and its ills for men, women and children of all ages. It has proven perfectly safe even for babies. Made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other mild, harmless ingredients, it cannot gripe; will not sicken you or weaken you; can be used without harm as often as

Taffeta Is Favorite in New Gowns

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—While competition is a splendid incentive usually, there are women who find it is hardly worth while trying to compete with bright nights and bright lights—nights that are brightened by tropical moons and less romantically by multiple warts.

Appreciating this idea, designers advocate dark frocks for night nights, contrast being smarter than competition.

One of the newest of the dark tones is brown, a deep rich brown, a color usually considered in the realm of street clothes. Its tone intensified by the choice of opaque fabrics.

Indiana Boy is Strongest

"MY son, Lee Royce, suffered until he was quite listless and weak," says Mrs. Virgie Miller, 31 North Addison St., Indianapolis.

"Now it's a different story as you can see from his picture. He's strong and full of life. I gave him California Fig Syrup on the advice of my mother. It increased his appetite, helped him wonderfully. Since then I have used California Fig Syrup myself with benefit as a laxative."

To show how California Fig Syrup acts to build-up and strengthen half-sick, headachy, constipated children through giving tone and strength to weak stomach and bowels, nothing could be more convincing than praise like this.

Your doctor will approve the use of this pure vegetable product—as often as an impure breath, coated tongue, listlessness, feverishness or lack of appetite warn of constipation—or to keep bowels from clogging during colds or children's diseases.

When buying, look for the word California on cart on and bottle. That marks the genuine.

Conservative ... and proud of it

Believing that what depositors want in a bank, first and foremost, is permanence, stability, reliability, Fletcher Trust Banks have always sought to provide these qualifications by every available means—especially by following, consistently, a policy of conservative management.

In the past, some of those who have wanted more from us than sound banking principles permitted us to give, have criticized our conservatism. But thousands upon thousands of others, recognizing the value of our policy from the standpoint of their own financial security, have paid us the tribute of their implicit confidence, year after year.
