Queen Saved
By Norman Press
NORMAN, Okla., March 14.—Being selected queen of the annual celebration of University of Oklahoma engineering students may be an honor, but it is not always a pleasure, Miss Antoinette Halko of Tulsa was convinced today.

For many years an intense rivalry has existed between students of the engineering and law schools, and the annual ambition of the law students is to kidnap the engineers' queen to spoil the celebration.

Miss Halko, this year's queen, was kidnaped Thursday and taken to Oklahoma City. She was held prisoner several hours until some engineers found and rescued her late Thursday night.

She was under constant guard today awaiting the hour of the ceremonies.
