

HOOVER PLANS TO SELL WEST FARM PROGRAM

1932 Campaign May Soon Be Opened by G. O. P. Speaking Tours.

By Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance
WASHINGTON, March 17.—The 1932 presidential controversy may get going in a big way within a few months if President Hoover and the Republican national committee carry out their program of sending speakers throughout the country to "sell" the administration's farm program to the west.

Numerous progressive senators and representatives, it was learned today, will trail Hoover and his associates on their speaking tour. The committee just as they did when on behalf of Hoover, they followed Al Smith through the agricultural areas during the 1928 campaign. In that year Senator William E. Borah (Rep., Ind.), and Senator Smith W. Brookhart (Rep., Ind.), arranged their speaking itinerary so that they could answer Smith's farm speeches almost as soon as they had been made.

The same barnstorming method would be adopted in the event that Hoover takes his reported two-month trip through the west, and delivers two or three key speeches in defense of the farm board and his general agricultural program. Definite plans for a speaking tour of G. O. P. defenders have been made by Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, in the creation of an agricultural advisory board.

Lucas has named a committee consisting of Senator L. J. Dickinson (Rep., Ia.) and Senator Arthur Capper (Rep., Kan.). Under their supervision, it is planned to mobilize speakers who will tell what the farm board has done to keep up prices, and to prevent an even more disastrous drop than has overtaken wheat, corn, cotton, cattle and hogs. They may also suggest other plans Hoover has in mind for next session.

The progressives who supported Hoover three years ago, however, now charge that he has broken the pledges made to agriculture on his behalf by Borah, Brookhart, Senator Gerald P. Nye (Rep., N. D.) and others. Both Borah and Brookhart repudiated the administration's farm record at the progressive conference and are ready to do it again.

Married With Pomp

It was an affair of state when William Dickerman Vogel of New York and Virginia Booth were married. For she's the daughter of Ralph Herman Booth, American minister to Denmark. And when they were wed in the presence of distinguished diplomats in the English church in Copenhagen, the bishop of Fulham made a special visit to the Danish capital to officiate. Here you see the couple after the civil ceremony which preceded the church marriage.

KING TO SEE HOOVER

Siamese Royal Couple Will Call on President.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, March 17.—The king and queen of Siam will pay a state visit here on April 29 and will be entertained by President and Mrs. Hoover at the White House.

This announcement by the state department today ended months of speculation as to whether the royal pair would abandon their incognito status, which they will assume during the rest of their stay in the United States, for a formal call on the President.

King Prajadibok and his queen will be the first royal visitors Washington has had since Queen Marie of Rumania and her entourage came here late in 1926. And, like Marie's, their arrival here will be accompanied by all the pomp and ceremony a republican government can display.

NIER RITES ARE SET

Death Claims Resident of City for 28 Years.

Funeral services for Isaac F. Nier will be held at the Hisey and Titus undertaking establishment, 951 North Delaware street at 2, Wednesday afternoon. Burial will be in the Indianapolis Hebrew cemetery.

Mr. Nier came from Russia to the United States when he was 20 years old. For twenty-eight years he has been a resident of Indianapolis. He was a member of the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation and the Knights of Pythias.

He died Monday at his home, 3715 North Meridian street, after a short illness.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Flora Nier, a son, Harry Nier of Denver, Colo., and a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Bloom of Indianapolis.

RHEUMATISM AND NEURITIS GONE

Konjola, Famous Medicine For The Home, Again Makes Good.

Here is a real message of hope and cheer for thousands of men and women who are suffering from rheumatism and neuritis, many of whom have despaired of escape from the clutches of these painful ailments.

Konjola again demonstrates its power in the experience related to the Konjola Man at the Hook Dependable drug store, Illinois and Washington streets, Indianapolis, by Mr. Robert L. Hart, Worthington, near Indianapolis. Mr. Hart, in discussing his experience with this famous medicine, said to the Konjola Man:

"My trouble began in my kidneys and bladder. My kidneys were sore and my back pained me constantly. Night rising interrupted my sleep. About this time I was attacked by neuritis and rheumatism. My feet and limbs swelled and pained me frightfully, and there were times that I could not get my shoes on. This continued for a long time and I did not seem to be able to find any relief.

"I finally tried Konjola, and the way this medicine relieved my ailments was remarkable. My aches and pains cleared up almost at once. My kidneys no longer hurt me, night risings are less frequent and I sleep well at night. The swelling has left my feet and limbs and I am in better health than I have been in years."

This is not an exceptional case. The files of Konjola contain many such. Demand Konjola and get it; don't be switched to a substitute. The Konjola Man is at the Hook Dependable Drug Store, Illinois and Washington streets, Indianapolis, where he is meeting the public daily.

MYERS TO CITE HIGH COURT ON DEAD TAX BILL

Speaker May Write in His Explanation, Democrats to Be Told.

Citation of an Indiana supreme court decision to explain his pending of an explanation to the personal income tax bill, which was vetoed by Governor Harry G. Leslie, will be a part of the speech to be delivered Thursday night by Speaker Walter Myers at a Floyd county Democratic dinner.

Myers' reply to Leslie's veto message in which the statement written into the bill by the Speaker was described by the Governor as a "bed-time story" will cite the case of Evans versus Brown in the thirtieth Indiana reports.

The supreme court in this case held that the Speaker or the Lieutenant-Governor has three courses

So Forgetful

WASHINGTON, March 17.—John L. Green, a public chauffeur, has mislaid his taxicab. Green appeared at a police station looking baffled and reported that it was missing.

"Stolen?" asked the police.

"No, I just left it lying around somewhere, and can't find it."

open when there has been some irregularity in the passage of a bill.

The Speaker may certify the enrolled act without comment, he may refuse to sign the act or he may write in his explanation and then certify the bill, the decision declares.

Myers pursued the latter course. According to Attorney-General James M. Ogden, this explanation "mutilated the bill and thus invalidated it." But according to Myers' interpretation of the supreme court decision, the Speaker was within his rights in writing in the explanation.

"The court has held that a Speaker's explanation written on to the bills hold precedence over even the house and senate journals and records," Myers said today.

RAVENSWOOD TO HAVE BOAT, BUS LINES TO CITY

Board Member Quits, Town Clerk Absent, but Citizens Act at Meeting.

Ravenwood, under the shadow of a court injunction and torn by a political war, still is forging ahead under its own power.

Although C. R. Newkirk, board member, sent in his resignation, and Grover Smith, town clerk, failed to appear, a meeting of citizens was held Monday night and plans for transit lines by land and water between Ravenwood and Broad Ripple.

Charles O. Ford, unofficial mayor and chairman of the town board, announced at least one bus will be in operation twenty-four hours a day by early spring.

The water route will be operated by John Jones, Broad Ripple, who will use a motor launch. Ford announced the state fire marshal's office is completing an investigation of the town with a view to eliminating fire hazards.
