

13 CARS BOUNCE AROUND TRACK IN TEST GRIND

Preliminary Run Expected to Be Completed by Thursday.

Thirteen automobiles which on Tuesday began the first of a series of 1,000-mile tests of fuel and oil consumption under direction of the American Automobile Association at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, today continued the long grind over the rough brick oval.

The thirty-day test is being financed by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, as part of its research program.

Running sixteen hours a day, the cars are expected to complete the preliminary, or "break-in" 1,000-mile run at 25 miles an hour by 4 p. m. Thursday, after which the cars will make preliminary runs of 500 miles at 35 miles an hour, 400 miles at 45 miles an hour, and 100 miles at 55 miles an hour.

Later two regular test runs of 1,000 miles each at 30 miles an hour, and four of 1,000 miles each at 55 miles an hour will be made.

Working parts of the cars will be checked for wear after each of the regular 1,000-mile runs.

She was found lying on a bed in her home by her son, Edward Jr., 12. She told police that he was loading the .32-caliber revolver because there had been prowlers around the house recently.
