

FEAR OF RUSSIAN 'DUMPING' IS BASELESS, SAYS LYONS

KILLER BURKE THAWS OUT TO 'REAL COPPER'

Talks More to Lieutenant of Detroit Police Than Since Arrest.

By United Press
ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 31.—A man regarded by Fred Burke as a "real copper" today had succeeded in obtaining more information from the alleged professional machine gun executioners than any one else since his arrest last week in a Missouri farmhouse.

Where Burke has had nothing but sneers or wisecracks for most of his questioners, he smiled and called a greeting when he saw Lieutenant Frank Holland of the Detroit police force approaching his cell. Captain Fred Armstrong of the state police accompanied Holland.

Holland said he was just talking over old times with Burke, but it was learned he got considerable information from him. He knew Burke ten years ago as a confidence man, and once arrested him as a suspect in a robbery.

Burke denied to Holland that he was implicated in the Milaflores apartment shooting in which three men were killed with a machine gun. He admitted knowing Henry Hallisey and other underworld characters here.

Police say Burke introduced the idea of kidnapping and holding for ransom figures in Detroit's night and underworld life, but got out of the racket when it was taken up by too many others.

Lieutenant Holland refused to say if Burke discussed the shooting of Charles Skelly, St. Joseph policeman. It is this murder charge that caused Burke's return here. He is to have a preliminary hearing on the charge, April 8.

SLASH RATES OF LINERS FOR WEEK-END TRIPS

Voyages to Bahamas from New York to Cost from $50 to $125

By United Press
NEW YORK, March 31.—Hoping to revive interest in ocean travel, which has slumped badly since the stock market break, the Cunard Lines is planning a series of summer week-end voyages to the Bahamas at inexpensive rates.

Various steamship companies, including the Cunard, have been forced to reduce their trans-Atlantic rates drastically within the last year to attract tourists.

A trial week-end voyage will be made by the liner Mauretania, sailing from New York to Nassau on April 27, and if the result is encouraging a regular schedule will be put into effect. All-expense trips of four days will cost from $50 to $125.

SOVIET CAN NOT FILL OWN NEED FOR 50 YEARS

United Press Writer Tells Club of Great Market for U. S. Goods.

Danger of so-called "dumping" of Russian-made industrial products and thus wrecking American markets was termed a "boycott man" today by Eugene Lyons, Moscow correspondent for the United Press.

Lyons addressed members and guests of the Universal Club at luncheon at the Columbia Club. He appeared under auspices of The Times and was introduced by Editor Boyd Gurley.

"Talk of 'dumping' is all rot, in my opinion," the speaker declared. "It will take fifty years before Russia will be able to manufacture enough to supply her own needs."

"The only reason she is exporting anything she has to sell now is because money is needed to buy American-made machinery and employ experts to carry on the five-year plan of industrialization and collective farming."

Sacrifice at Home

"Every time anything is sold abroad it means that the Russian people must forego these things at home. Soon they will demand that their living standards be raised, as promised. Then all effort of the great government industrial machine will be needed to supply these needs."

"This means that she will not be able to compete with highly industrialized nations, such as the United States and Germany, in the markets of the world."

Wheat "dumping" is a different problem, Lyons pointed out.

"Over-production of wheat and the handling of the world surplus is an international problem and not merely one for America, Russia or Canada to solve single-handed," he declared.

Willing to Parley

"I am sure that the Russian government would be very willing to attend a conference to try to work out some solution. They are as interested as Americans, or any one else, in securing good wheat prices."

"Every additional dollar they procure in the sale of wheat means another dollar to invest in the much-needed machinery of production."

"At the present time these Russian purchases of American-made machines are keeping at least 50,000 American workmen on their tasks. This number could be increased if the way was made easier for the Russians to do business here."

"Before the revolution, the Russians depended largely on Germany for their manufactured products. But today they depend on America, because their demand is for machinery in the production of which America excels."

Terminating American interest in Russia as a "healthful sign," Lyons pointed out that Russian interest in America is even greater. Books on American industry and industrial leaders, like Henry Ford, are best sellers in Moscow, he said.

Can't Shut Down History

"The world generally and America in particular is coming to try to understand what is going on in Russia today," he declared. "Force, violence and falsification all have proved futile in dealing with the Russian problem. You can not shut down history."

"Even the most ardent enemies of the Russian regime now are trying to understand, instead of looking at the country through a haze of indignation."

"Nothing can be accomplished by getting mad. Russia today, with one-sixth of the population of the world, has the strongest government in all Europe, and America should try to find some formula for dealing rather than quarreling with the Soviet administration."

The complaint charges Mrs. Webster with meddling with the assets of the estate and demands $1,000 judgment for damages.

BLIZZARD ENDS IN SOUTHWEST; LOSS IS HEAVY

Snowdrifts Piled Several Feet Deep in Oklahoma; Texas and Kansas.

By United Press
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 31.—Relief from severe snowstorms, which have raged intermittently over the southwest for nearly a week, was promised today by weather forecasters.

Slowly rising temperatures were expected to change the continued precipitation to rain and start melting the snowdrifts, which have piled several feet high in Texas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Kansas.

Oklahoma's 2,000,000-bushel peach crop virtually was destroyed. Kansas sustained losses of more than a million dollars.

Melting drifts in western Kansas and eastern Colorado were expected to reveal that more than 2,000 head of cattle perished. Livestock losses in Nebraska were estimated at $50,000.

A snowstorm swept across the Texas panhandle Monday night, increasing the menace to stock and fruit crops as the temperature dropped below freezing.
