

'MY 1920 TEAM THE GREATEST,' SAID ROCKNE

the second half. When they tried to stop Eichenlaub's plunges, Dorris passed, and when they tried to break up the passes, Eichenlaub ripped through for long gains.

The record of the 1913 team, of which Rockne was captain, follows:

Notre Dame	8
37 Ohio Northern	6
39 South Dakota	7
62 Alma	6
35 Army	13
14 Penn State	7
39 Christian Brothers	7
30 Texas	7
258 Opponents	41

Rockne called the Notre Dame-Texas game the toughest he ever played in during his college career. It was a hot sultry day in Austin, Tex., where the game was played and the Notre Dame players had just left South Bend a few days before in freezing weather.

The first half played in terrific heat was described by Rockne as "thirty minutes of hell."

The Notre Dame players left the field almost exhausted but, strangely enough, a norther came up between halves. The Irish went back on the field, scored two touchdowns in ten minutes, and ran up a large score.

There was no rest, however, for Rockne. A giant tackle on the Texas eleven concentrated on Rockne and made life miserable for him. Wary from the battering received at the hands of the Texas giant, the split-legged Rockne ran to the sidelines and yelled: "Send in Elward, coach, he needs only ten minutes for his monogram."

"Nice of you, Rock, to think of Elward," said the coach. "I was thinking about my poor bruised carcass. Wait till that giant gets through with Elward."

It was the immortal Jim Thorpe who gave Rockne the most miserable afternoon he ever spent on a football field. Three times Rockne tackled Thorpe in a professional game, each time Thorpe jarring Knute from his eye teeth to his toes.

"Come on, let Jim run," Thorpe remarked to Rockne after the third tackle.

Again Thorpe charged at Rockne, who attempted to pull him down. Thorpe hit him going full speed and continued on down the field for forty yards and a touchdown, with Rockne protesting.

"I told you to let Jim run, Knute," Thorpe laughed as he came back. "That's a good boy."

During his college days Rockne also was a track star, and he became head track coach at Notre Dame in 1916 in addition to acting as Jesse Harper's assistant in football.

With the exception of 1924, Rockne remained head track coach until he relinquished that job to John Nicholson in 1927 because of other duties.

Rockne became head football coach in 1918, and his first team played six games, won three, lost one and tied two.

While assistant football coach, Rockne personally assumed the blame for Notre Dame's 20-19 defeat at the hands of Nebraska in 1915. He scouted the Nebraska team and reported to the Notre Dame players that Chamberlain, Cornhuskers' half back, never cut back when he ran with the ball, and always licked his fingers before throwing a forward pass.

In the first half Notre Dame's defense swung wide to stop Chamberlain and he cut back and ran forty yards for a touchdown.

With the score tied, 13-13, Chamberlain started an end run, stopped suddenly and threw a long pass for a touchdown. He did not lick his fingers, and the Notre Dame defense did not expect a pass.

Although his first team lost to the Michigan Aggies, 13-7, Rockne's first real defeat did not come until his fourth year as head coach in 1921. His 1919 and 1920 teams had gone through undefeated seasons, and the 1921 team had won its first two games, giving Notre Dame a record of twenty straight victories unmarred by a tie.

This was Rockne's longest winning streak, although his 1929 and 1930 teams ran up nineteen straight victories and he would have been certain to equal or better his record with his 1931 team if he had lived.

Iowa, coached by Howard Jones, now Southern California mentor, stopped Notre Dame's victorious march by beating the Irish, 10-7, in a thrilling game.

Rockne accepted this defeat gracefully and cautioned his players not to offer any alibi for the setback.

The Notre Dame eleven won the rest of its games in 1921, defeating Purdue, Nebraska and Army in its big games.

Thus in Rockne's first four seasons as head coach his team won thirty-one games, lost two and tied two—perhaps the greatest record ever made by any coach at the very start of his career.

Rockne constructed five undefeated, untied teams and during the last year he constantly was asked which was his greatest team.

He conferred that honor on the 1920 team which defeated Nebraska, Army, Purdue, Indiana and Northwestern in its major games. On this team was the immortal George Gipp, who went into the Indiana game with his team trailing and led his teammates to a 13-10 victory despite a broken collar bone.

Some of the other great players on this team were Norman Barry, Hunk Anderson, Roger Kiley, Paul Castner, Joe Brandy, Arthur Garvey, Harry Mehre, Johnny Mohardt and Chet Wynne.

"I consider the 1920 team my greatest," Rockne said during the 1930 season, "and I see no reason to change my opinion at this time."

Few close to Rockne doubt, however, that he ranked his 1930 team as the equal of the 1920 team, and he would eventually have accorded it that honor had he lived.

Perhaps closest to his heart was his 1924 team and the "Four Horsemen."

Next — "The Four Horsemen," Rockne's methods and gridiron psychology.

ASK STREET WIDENING

Petition, bearing forty-four names, has been received by the works board, asking widening of Thirtieth street, between Meridian street and Capitol avenue. At present it is a twenty-four foot roadway.

The board last week refused a petition for the improvement between Illinois street and Boulevard place. The new request was referred to the city engineering department. Traffic congestion necessitates the widening, the petition avers.

When You Buy Them From Walton

WE NEVER HAVE A SALE

Our prices on nursery stock are always the same, day after day. We never have a sale to unload dried-out stock as our stock is always kept in a cool temperature.

ONLY FIRST GRADE STOCK SOLD

Our nursery stock is of the highest quality obtainable. We do not sell inferior stock of any kind. For example, when you buy shrubs here you will find them full-branched, fully developed roots, and three-year old stock instead of just a few roots and two or three canes which you find at most nursery stock sales.

COMPARE PRICE WITH QUALITY

We guarantee that our prices are absolutely the lowest in the state of Indiana for the same quality high-class nursery stock that you obtain here. We invite you, at any time, to compare our stock with any other.

WE DO ALL KINDS OF PLANTING

Our landscape artist will be glad to give you an estimate on any size planting, or you can call and get any kind of nursery stock wanted.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

SUMMARY OF ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1930

THE 34TH ANNUAL REPORT of The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, covering operations for the year 1930, will be formally presented to the stockholders at the annual meeting on April 14th, 1931. The report shows that although the Company's total operating revenues in 1930 declined over $12,000,000, it earned a net income sufficient not only to pay 8% dividends and all other charges, but also to provide a surplus of nearly $11,500,000.

Net income amounting to $68,800,818 was equivalent to 10.35% upon the outstanding capital stock at the close of the year, as compared with 17.64% upon the amount outstanding at the close of 1929. Net income per share (par $50) was $5.28 compared with $8.82 in 1929.

OPERATING RESULTS

1930	Comparison with 1929 Increase or Decrease
TOTAL OPERATING REVENUES were.....	$790,459,250 D $11,237,771

LEAVING NET INCOME (Equal to 10.35% of Capital Stock).....	$68,800,818 D $32,668,700

After providing for the payment of 8% dividends to the stockholders and for sinking and other reserve funds, $11,431,273 was credited to Profit and Loss Account.

The financial results achieved last year, notwithstanding marked reductions in business and revenues, reflect not only the Company's large capital expenditures for improvements in service and efficiencies and economies in operation, but also the increasingly cordial and effective cooperation which exists between the management and employees.
