

CAR FRANCHISE OFFERED THREE CITIES SPURNED

Hammond, East Chicago and Whiting Proposal Withdrawn.

By Times Special
HAMMOND, Ind., April 4.—Offer of Calumet Railways, Inc., Insull dominated concern, for a franchise to operate the street railway systems of Hammond, Whiting and East Chicago, has been withdrawn, bringing to a close a phase of a controversy which has produced several sharp conflicts.

On submission of the franchise proposal to the works boards of the cities, those of Hammond and Whiting recommended adoption to the respective city councils. However, the Hammond council twice voted down the offer, and that of Whiting took no action. The East Chicago board has never acted on the proposal.

Street car lines in the cities were taken over in 1929 when a syndicate of business men purchased the property at a mortgage foreclosure sale. Later Calumet Railways was incorporated and the property passed to it.

Morse Dellplain, president of Calumet Railways, in announcing withdrawal of its proposal, said in part: "The proposed franchise offered the only basis on which we could do the things we would like to do for the community in the way of providing local transportation service. This region, if it is to develop must have adequate local transportation. The lack of it is seriously handicapping the entire community to an extent which I fear the general public does not fully realize."

STRAWBERRY GROWING EASY, EXPERT STATES

Purdue Horticulturist Tells How to Set 242-Quart Crop.

By United Press
LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 4.—The spring gardener's dream of a dozen big strawberry shortcakes, 36 pints of preserves, 36 pints of canned fruit, and 16 quarts of big, red, juicy berries to be eaten as preferred—all this is easy of realization, says Monroe McCown, extension horticulturist of Purdue university.

All that must be done to attain this end in the summer of 1932 is to set out 200 plants early this spring, cultivate them often enough to keep down weeds, and much them in November, McCown said. From one home garden planting of this size he estimates, "with ordinary care," that the yield should be 242 quarts of berries next season.

Cost of the plants and fertilizer is about $2.50, and a "little work," McCown adds.

He unloaded the coal and started to crank the truck engine. It started suddenly and in order to avoid being run down, Fox was forced to run in front of the truck more than seventy-five feet before he could escape. The truck then, without hitting anything in the plant, crashed through large double doors, dashed across a street into a yard between two houses, missed a clothes line pole, but struck a cherry tree which stopped it. The truck was not damaged except for a small dent to a fender.

BULLET STRIKES YOUTH IN HEAD

Houseboat Resident Held After Wounding.

By United Press
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 4.—A charge of shooting with intent to kill is on file against John Titus, 35, Wabash river houseboat resident, because a bullet he fired across a bridge struck a 16-year-old youth.

The victim of the shooting, Ernest Marshall, told police he was walking across the bridge when he was struck behind the right ear by a bullet. He was released from a hospital after it was found the bullet had passed out under the skin at the top of his head without injury to the skull.

Titus told police his houseboat had been the target of small boys throwing stones from the bridge and said he believed he was firing low and under the bridge. Marshall denied any knowledge of the stone throwing.

Army Service Cited Against Liquor Charge

MUNCIE, Ind., April 4.—Filus Butts, 40, was a soldier when the United States adopted the prohibition amendment.

That's one of the reasons he sets out in a motion to dismiss a liquor law violation charge against him. He sets out Section 61 of the Bill of Rights as another reason why he should not be held under $1,000 bond. That section says: "Excessive bail shall not be required and all penalties shall be proportioned to the nature of the offense."

Following this line of argument, his petition lists many crimes generally considered more serious than liquor law violation for which lesser bonds and lighter penalties are provided. The petition was filed in city court.

SALARY CHECKS OF ANDERSON'S MAYOR HELD UP

Treasurer Retaliates for $1,000 Yearly Cut in Her Pay.

By Times Special
ANDERSON, Ind., April 4.—Because her salary for acting as custodian of city funds was reduced $1,000, Miss Marcia H. Barton, Madison county treasurer, refused to countersign J. H. Mellet's salary check for the last two weeks of March, and has filed a mandate suit in Madison superior court seeking an order requiring the treasurer to countersign the check. The mayor's salary is $4,000 a year, payable in amounts of $166.66 on the first and sixteenth days of each month.

Miss Barton announces that her attorney is preparing a suit in which an effort will be made to enforce payment to her of a salary of $3,000 a year for acting as city treasurer instead of $2,000, which was appropriated by the city council last September.

The treasurer's contention is that the second class city law under which Anderson operates provides that salaries of officials be fixed for a period of four years and can neither be increased nor decreased during that period. Present salaries were fixed by the outgoing city council in 1929, the treasurer's being reduced a year later because, it was explained, her duties were materially lightened by transfer of the Barrett law collection department from the court house to the city hall.

Refusing to accept this explanation, Miss Barton says the reduction voted in her salary was an act of political reprisal fostered by the mayor.

By United Press
FT. WAYNE, Ind., April 4.—"Alice in Wonderland" is the best book for those who wish a better understanding of the theory of relativity, Professor Harold Davis of the mathematics department, Indiana university, said in a lecture here.

He based his assertion on the part of the book giving conversations between Alice and the queen, which the latter calls "Faster, run faster," and they stop only to find themselves under the same tree from which they started. "One of the assumptions of the theory is that the fastest speed attainable is 186,000 miles per second and if any one could go faster than that he would reverse time and catch up with the past instead of the future," he said.

The fire occurred the night the hall was re-opened after being decorated and remodeled. A cigarette stub tossed into an artificial palm tree is said to have started the fire.

FARMER CONFESSES ROBBERY ATTEMPT

Henry County Man Admits Trying to Hold Up New Augusta Bank.

By Times Special
ANDERSON, Ind., April 4.—Frank S. Funkhouser, 35, Henry county farmer, was arrested by police here early today charged with complicity in an unsuccessful attempt to rob the New Augusta State bank on Jan. 29. Bandits were routed by Robert Huffman, cashier, who fired from behind bullet proof cage glass. Funkhouser was arrested by Detectives Norman Maroski and Orpha Anderson when he arrived here en route to the home of his brother-in-law, James Hines, northwest of Anderson, where he lived while he was employed in a local factory. The prisoner confessed, the officers said, implicating Ralph Gifford, 26, who was arrested by Marion county authorities three weeks ago.

Police said Funkhouser and Gifford stole an automobile at Indianapolis to use in the bank robbery which they had planned for several days. They parked the automobile in front of the bank and both entered, brandishing revolvers. "I was inexperienced as a bank bandit and almost forgot what I was supposed to do," Funkhouser said. "I remember telling a man in the case to 'Stick 'em up,' but he grabbed a revolver and started shooting at us. We fired several shots and they glanced off the glass. We then fled."

Fleeing from New Augusta, Funkhouser was wounded by the accidental discharge of his companion's gun. He said he was reloading the weapon when he disengaged the hammer catch. The bullet struck Funkhouser in the right leg, inflicting a wound he treated himself rather than run the risk of exposure by seeking medical aid.

Funkhouser served a year in the state prison for complicity in a robbery of a grocery at Westfield in 1928.

By Times Special
MUNCIE, Ind., April 4.—Muncie's latest political controversy is a closed incident today. It started with an attack by Mayor George R. Dale on Circuit Court Judge L. A. Guthrie and Prosecutor Paul Leffler for alleged delay in bringing Mayne Daly, former city clerk, to trial on an embezzlement charge. Dale charged that Daly would be immune from prosecution under the statute which outlaws a case after three terms of court. Judge Guthrie and Prosecutor Leffler pointed out that the case was now in its second term, but that the first one would not be counted, since Daly had asked for a continuance. The case will be set for trial during the April term.
