

The Indianapolis Times

HOME

Fair, tonight and Tuesday; somewhat warmer Tuesday.

VOLUME 42—NUMBER 282

INDIANAPOLIS, MONDAY, APRIL 6, 1931

Entered as Second-Class Matter
at Postoffice, Indianapolis, Ind.TWO CENTS Outside Marion County 5 Cents

DRY LEADER HURLS THIRD PARTY THREAT

Militant Program Outlined
by York for Next
Indiana Election.

STRONG FOR ROBINSON

'We're in Politics and in to
Stay,' Anti-Saloon
Head Asserts.

The Indiana Anti-Saloon League is in politics, and in politics to stay. The league will sponsor a third party or independent candidate in any Indiana election where both parties or candidates are wet.

It is backing another senatorial term for Senator Arthur Robinson. With these aims revealed with verbal militancy L. E. York, league superintendent, today pledged the organization to a continued warfare on the "wets" in a talk before the Central W. C. T. U. in the Y. W. C. A. building.

"If any candidate on any ticket is a wet, we'll cross over to the other party. There's a statement in a paper today that Lake county's political parties are both going to be wet and if that's true, then there'll be a third man in every race," York declared.

"Organize Every County"

"We've got to organize every county in the state before the next election, for it's no good to stand by and say, 'How dry I am.'"

I agree with Al Smith on one thing and that is his statement, "Prohibition is attached to politics and you can't detach it," he said.

He attacked the statement of John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic party, that the "wet north and dry south must join" with "Raskob laid down the gauntlet, but Indiana is one northern state that won't accept it."

He urged the W. C. T. U. to fight the efforts of the "wets" to repeal state prohibition laws and thereby "leave the federal government helpless."

We Saw Our Friends

"They tried politics in the last Indiana legislature. They fixed up a sugar-coated referendum bill to make a vote on the liquor question possible. But we've seen our friends in the senate and we forced them to reconsider the bill after it had passed and then beat that bill," he asserted.

"We're in politics and we're going to stay in politics."

Wets showed strong gains in the makeup of the 1931 legislature. Although more open defiance was hurled at the Anti-Saloon League during the 1931 session than ever before, dry resisted successfully all attempts to weaken the Wright bone-dry act.

"Stand by the people that stand by you," he urged.

Praises Robinson

"I believe Hoover's standing by us, but there's a lot of Indians who even now the wets are sharpening their knives for, and that man is Senator Arthur R. Robinson. He's done his duty in Washington and uncovered more rottenness than any other man. I want you to stand squarely behind him."

OFFICIAL LOSES MONEY

Justice of Peace Complains Annual Salary of $1,300 Too Small.

GARY, Ind., April 6.—Being justice of the peace under the new $1,300 a year salary law is a losing proposition, Earl Phillips, Gary squire, has informed ace county commissioners.

Phillips told the commissioners that since he took office Dec. 1 his expenses have amounted to $400 more than his income. He threatens to "close up shop" unless the board grants him additional money.

Phillips complained that although his wife assisted him without pay, operating expense and salary of an office girl at $10 a week keep him constantly "in the red." At the present rate, he said, he will have spent more than $1,600 over his salary by the end of the year.

Quarantine Set

OXFORD, Ind., April 6.—A scarlet fever quarantine has been set here following the death of Adria Beryl McConnell, school teacher, with the disease. Schools will be closed for two weeks, and during that time all public gatherings and social affairs will be prohibited.

Service

If you ever
miss your Times,
Telephone
Riley 5551

We'll send it right out, correct the trouble and thank you for letting us know about it.

Don't Forget

Call Riley 5551
Circulation Dept.

Hey, Up There!

By United Press
NEW YORK, April 6.—Whether broadcasting from an airplane is illegal was a question confronting New York's flying police today.

The Rev. Christian Reiserer of Broadway Temple complained a plane broadcasting popular songs and other advertising annoyed him at his dinner and was in violation of the recent anti-noise campaign.

MOVE TO CURB FIREARMS SALE TO YOUNG BOYS

Huckster's Death Under Bridge Leads to Steps
by Police.

Steps to curb the sale of firearms and cartridges to boys under 16 were taken by police today as ten boys and their parents await appearance in juvenile court on charges of shooting firearms within the city limits.

Juvenile police officers, Charles Downey and Hugh Dugan and Lieutenant Frank Owens of the police accident prevention bureau were investigating testimony of the boys that merchants had sold them cartridges.

Attention of police to careless use of firearms by minors first was drawn last Thursday with the fatal shooting of William Ruthart, 32, of 5006 College avenue, under the Delaware street bridge at Fall creek.

Child Neglect Is Charged

Charges of child neglect were lodged against parents of six boys following the death of the boy. Fred W. Velling Saturday.

No charges were laid against Robert Warren Leslie, 13, son of Governor Harry G. Leslie, who first was reported to have been with the boys.

"Police officers were to confer with Prosecutor Herbert E. Wilson this afternoon regarding the penalty for merchants who sell firearms and cartridges to boys," Downey stated.

Although Police Chief Jerry Kinney said "he had not given orders to dealers to stop sale of guns," he stated "I have ordered police to make a search of the city and turn them over to juvenile court."

Purchased at Drug Store

Kinney further stated, "We will look up the ordinance on sale of ammunition to minors. If there is a law, we know it, and we will order arrest of any merchant violating it."

Parents of four other boys, taken into custody Sunday for shooting a .22 caliber rifle near the Evans Milling Company at White River boulevard and West Michigan street, were questioned by juvenile police officers this morning. The boys admitted, police said, they purchased cartridges at a drug store.

Eugene Max Webster, 13, of 142 East Twenty-eighth street, who admitted he fired the bullet that accidentally killed Ruthart, is said to have told police that he and the other five boys stole the cartridges they used.

FEAR MOB VIOLENCE

Troops Rule as Negroes Go on Trial.

By United Press
SCOTTSBORO, Ala., April 6.—Five companies of national guardsmen patrolled the courthouse and its grounds here today as nine Negroes were placed on trial on charges of criminally attacking two Huntsville (Ala.) white girls.

The twenty-eight defendants were brought to Scottsboro before dawn today from Gadsden, Ala., where they had been kept for safekeeping. They were escorted into the courthouse by guardsmen and deputy sheriffs.

Machine guns were mounted on the courthouse lawn and lookers were kept at a distance of 300 feet.

BROTHER'S HEIRS SHARE

Will of Drowning Victim on File at Washab.

By Times Special
WABASH, Ind., April 6.—The will of Ernest A. Egginghouse, 78, North Manchester shoe merchant, whose body was found in Lake Michigan after he had been missing several months, has been filed for probate in Wabash circuit court here.

The document was executed in September, 1930, two months before the merchant disappeared. After payment of debts, it is directed that the remainder of the estate be divided among heirs of the testator's brother, Albert G. Egginghouse.

MARRIED BY MAYOR

Sullivan Officiates at City
Hall Ceremony.

Steven Arthur Miller, Van Wert (O.) Y. M. C. A. physical director, and Miss Marian Svea Neely, Van Wert hospital dietitian, were married today at city hall with Mayor Reginald H. Sullivan officiating.

The ceremony was performed by the mayor at the request of a friend, Fred T. McCain Sr., 5651 College avenue, uncle of the bride.

A second ceremony was performed at the McCain residence at noon with the Rev. Charles Meurer of Van Wert officiating. The couple will honeymoon at Waynesboro, Ga.

UPHOLD JAIL SENTENCE FOR ALBERT FALL

Conviction of Blackmer Also
Is Approved by U. S.
Appellate Court.

STILL APPEAL CHANCE

Both Men May Carry Oil
Cases to Supreme Tribunal.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 6.—Punishment came near for Albert B. Fall and Henry M. Blackmer today when the appellate court of the District of Columbia affirmed decisions and sentences imposed upon them more than a year ago.

Fall, now an old man living in semi-seclusion on his New Mexico ranch, his health broken, is under sentence to serve a year in prison.

The check kept by the gatekeepers at noon showed that 12,796 children and adults had been admitted to the White House grounds up to that time, despite the unfavorable weather.

No one is admitted to the annual egg rolling festival unless he is accompanying a child under 10. Many of the 100,000 Easter-week-end visitors to Washington were unable to gain entrance, and became willing victims for the young "racketeers" who stationed themselves outside the gates and approached prospective customers with enticing propositions.

Mrs. Hoover took her two grandchildren, Peggy Ann, 6, and Herbert Jr., 4, out to greet the visitors several times.

The children did not join in the general egg rolling activities.

About 200 children, sons and daughters of officials in the government, were invited by Mrs. Hoover to a special party inside. Rain fell intermittently during the morning, but many of the children continued to roll eggs under umbrellas. Some, however, left.

About 40,000 children and members of their families in former years have attended the ceremony. The rain was expected to reduce this number considerably today.

Blackmer, now an exile in France, was fined $60,000 for contempt of court, having refused to obey a summons to appear as a witness in the hearings of the so-called Elk Hills and Teapot Dome oil cases.

Blackmer was a wealthy oil man of Denver, Colo.

Today's decision leaves but one possible legal barrier between the two men and their sentences. That barrier is an appeal to the United States supreme court, which they have the right to invoke, if they so choose.

Silent on Further Appeal

No one here connected with the case could say definitely immediately after the decision whether an appeal would be taken but there was a general belief that it would.

Under the law, Fall and Blackmer have until April 23 to file notice of appeal. If the notice is filed they then may have ninety days additional in which they may ask the supreme court to review the case. If the supreme court consents to review it the sentences remain in abeyance until the supreme court acts. If the supreme court does not consent to review the case within the ninety-day period, at the expiration of that period the sentence becomes effective.

Two lengthy opinions were handed down today, one in the Fall case, the other in the case of Blackmer.

Wanted to Testify

In the Blackmer opinion, written by Charles H. Robb, associate justice, the history of the legal proceedings, states. Blackmer was wanted to testify regarding the Continental Trading Company, Ltd., and its distribution in 1921 and 1922 of Liberty bonds, some of which are believed to have been delivered to Fall by Harry M. Sinclair.

Robb held a citizen "swears an absolute and permanent allegiance to his government."

The government obtained the conviction against Fall for accepting a bribe from Doherty, but was defeated in its effort to convict Sinclair and Fall of a fraudulent transaction. Recalling those facts and especially the failure of the Fall-Sinclair indictment, Robb said:

"The result might have been different had the appellant (Blackmer) fulfilled his duty."

Gives Denby Valuation

Justice A. Van Orsdel, association justice, wrote the opinion upholding the jail sentence and fine imposed on Fall. He gave an evaluation of former Secretary of the Navy Denby who figured in the oil cases because of his part in the transfer of the naval oil reserve area to the interior department denied over by Fall.

"Denby was passive throughout," the opinion states, "and signed the contracts and lease under misapprehension and without full knowledge of their contents."

Former Officer Sentenced

FRANKLIN, Ind., April 6.—Clyde Brown, 42, former town marshal of Ravenswood, is under a one to five-year prison sentence for larceny as a result of stealing chickens.

Wupper fled Nebraska three years ago after collapse of his banks at Beemer, Morse Bluff and McLean.

Former Officer Sentenced

FRANKLIN, Ind., April 6.—Clyde Brown, 42, former town marshal of Ravenswood, is under a one to five-year prison sentence for larceny as a result of stealing chickens.

Wupper fled Nebraska three years ago after collapse of his banks at Beemer, Morse Bluff and McLean.

Former Officer Sentenced

FRANKLIN, Ind., April 6.—Clyde Brown, 42, former town marshal of Ravenswood, is under a one to five-year prison sentence for larceny as a result of stealing chickens.

Wupper fled Nebraska three years ago after collapse of his banks at Beemer, Morse Bluff and McLean.

Former Officer Sentenced

FRANKLIN, Ind., April 6.—Clyde Brown, 42, former town marshal of Ravenswood, is under a one to five-year prison sentence for larceny as a result of stealing chickens.

Wise 'Eggs'

Youngsters 'Rent' Themselves for Annual White House Rolling Festival.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 6.—"Racketeering" was charged today at the White House egg-rolling.

Police found that precocious Washington youngsters under 10 years of age were renting themselves out to tourists at 10 cents apiece so the tourists could get into the White House grounds.

The authorities broke up the practice wherever it could be discerned, but they admitted that many instances escaped their notice.

The check kept by the gatekeepers at noon showed that 12,796 children and adults had been admitted to the White House grounds up to that time, despite the unfavorable weather.

No one is admitted to the annual egg rolling festival unless he is accompanying a child under 10. Many of the 100,000 Easter-week-end visitors to Washington were unable to gain entrance, and became willing victims for the young "racketeers" who stationed themselves outside the gates and approached prospective customers with enticing propositions.

Mrs. Hoover took her two grandchildren, Peggy Ann, 6, and Herbert Jr., 4, out to greet the visitors several times.

The children did not join in the general egg rolling activities.

About 200 children, sons and daughters of officials in the government, were invited by Mrs. Hoover to a special party inside. Rain fell intermittently during the morning, but many of the children continued to roll eggs under umbrellas. Some, however, left.

About 40,000 children and members of their families in former years have attended the ceremony. The rain was expected to reduce this number considerably today.

Blackmer, now an exile in France, was fined $60,000 for contempt of court, having refused to obey a summons to appear as a witness in the hearings of the so-called Elk Hills and Teapot Dome oil cases.

Blackmer was a wealthy oil man of Denver, Colo.

Today's decision leaves but one possible legal barrier between the two men and their sentences. That barrier is an appeal to the United States supreme court, which they have the right to invoke, if they so choose.

Silent on Further Appeal

No one here connected with the case could say definitely immediately after the decision whether an appeal would be taken but there was a general belief that it would.

Under the law, Fall and Blackmer have until April 23 to file notice of appeal. If the notice is filed they then may have ninety days additional in which they may ask the supreme court to review the case. If the supreme court consents to review it the sentences remain in abeyance until the supreme court acts. If the supreme court does not consent to review the case within the ninety-day period, at the expiration of that period the sentence becomes effective.

Two lengthy opinions were handed down today, one in the Fall case, the other in the case of Blackmer.

Wanted to Testify

In the Blackmer opinion, written by Charles H. Robb, associate justice, the history of the legal proceedings, states. Blackmer was wanted to testify regarding the Continental Trading Company, Ltd., and its distribution in 1921 and 1922 of Liberty bonds, some of which are believed to have been delivered to Fall by Harry M. Sinclair.

Robb held a citizen "swears an absolute and permanent allegiance to his government."

The government obtained the conviction against Fall for accepting a bribe from Doherty, but was defeated in its effort to convict Sinclair and Fall of a fraudulent transaction. Recalling those facts and especially the failure of the Fall-Sinclair indictment, Robb said:

"The result might have been different had the appellant (Blackmer) fulfilled his duty."

Gives Denby Valuation

Justice A. Van Orsdel, association justice, wrote the opinion upholding the jail sentence and fine imposed on Fall. He gave an evaluation of former Secretary of the Navy Denby who figured in the oil cases because of his part in the transfer of the naval oil reserve area to the interior department denied over by Fall.

"Denby was passive throughout," the opinion states, "and signed the contracts and lease under misapprehension and without full knowledge of their contents."

Former Officer Sentenced

FRANKLIN, Ind., April 6.—Clyde Brown, 42, former town marshal of Ravenswood, is under a one to five-year prison sentence for larceny as a result of stealing chickens.

Wupper fled Nebraska three years ago after collapse of his banks at Beemer, Morse Bluff and McLean.

Former Officer Sentenced

FRANKLIN, Ind., April 6.—Clyde Brown, 42, former town marshal of Ravenswood, is under a one to five-year prison sentence for larceny as a result of stealing chickens.

Wupper fled Nebraska three years ago after collapse of his banks at Beemer, Morse Bluff and McLean.

Former Officer Sentenced

FRANKLIN, Ind., April 6.—Clyde Brown, 42, former town marshal of Ravenswood, is under a one to five-year prison sentence for larceny as a result of stealing chickens.

Wupper fled Nebraska three years ago after collapse of his banks at Beemer, Morse Bluff and McLean.

Former Officer Sentenced

FRANKLIN, Ind., April 6.—Clyde Brown, 42, former town marshal of Ravenswood, is under a one to five-year prison sentence for larceny as a result of stealing chickens.

Wupper fled Nebraska three years ago after collapse of his banks at Beemer, Morse Bluff and McLean.

Former Officer Sentenced

FRANKLIN, Ind., April 6.—Clyde Brown, 42, former town marshal of Ravenswood, is under a one to five-year prison sentence for larceny as a result of stealing chickens.

Wupper fled Nebraska three years ago after collapse of his banks at Beemer, Morse Bluff and McLean.

Former Officer Sentenced

FRANKLIN, Ind., April 6.—Clyde Brown, 42, former town marshal of Ravenswood, is under a one to five-year prison sentence for larceny as a result of stealing chickens.

TRAPPED BY BLAST, LOSES LIFE IN FIRE

Farmer, Father of Six Boys,
Perishes in Garage
Near New Bethel.

CORONER BEGINS QUIZ

Seeks to Discover Cause of Explosion; Two Cars Destroyed.

Trapped in his flaming garage following an explosion and engulfed by his truck with fire, Ike H. Berry, 47, farmer residing two and one half miles northeast of New Bethel, was burned to death this morning.

Berry had been pouring gasoline in a tank in his truck, prior to the blast. Fire broke out in the garage immediately after the blast. Flames enveloped the garage, the truck in which Berry's body was found and another car.

He was burned beyond recognition. A five-gallon gasoline can was found on the running board of the car.

Investigation Is Opened

Coroner Fred W. Velling and deputy sheriffs opened an investigation to determine the cause of the blast.

Mrs. Clara Berry, 31, told deputies her husband left the house shortly after 5 a. m., intending to drive the truck to the home of one of his sons to aid the son with farm work.

She said he had been in the garage only a few minutes when she heard the blast. Authorities were unable to determine whether the explosion originated in the gasoline tank of the truck.

Mrs. Berry said her husband had a lantern in the garage. No parts of the lantern were found, deputies said.

Unable to Enter Garage

Frank and Otto Coleman, R. R. 10, Box 151, rushed to the garage when they saw the flames, but told deputies they were unable to enter the structure. They said they could see Berry's body inside the truck and the front seat cushion on the ground near the vehicle.

The truck and auto were destroyed and the garage was burned to the ground. Deputies were forced to wait some time after the fire before they could enter the smoldering ruins and reach the body.

Berry is survived by six sons, Ralph, Lloyd, Orylle, Horace and Hershel, all of New Bethel, and Marvin Berry of Rush county.

Discusses Crime in Sentence

"It is unthinkable," the mayor said.

Cermak's issue, "Crime," was dismissed by the mayor with a sentence.

"Only thirteen cities in the United States of over 100,000 population have less crime per capita than Chicago—sixty-seven have more," he said.

In his final statements, Thompson accused Cermak not only of "wanting to be dictator" but of being the "tool of wealth" and of using his power in the county and in the minority representation in the state legislature to raise taxes so wealthy interests could take over millions of dollars worth of small bank assets and holdings of small property owners.

Return to Robbery Scene to Learn
Her Condition; Leave Dismayed.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 6.—A few hours after the death of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, 50, restaurant cashier, from a wound received when she was shot during a holdup, two well-dressed youths, believed to have been the robbers, returned to the place.

They asked anxiously concerning her condition. When informed she was dead, they left in obvious dismay.

BANDITS KILL WOMAN

Return to Robbery Scene to Learn
Her Condition; Leave Dismayed.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 6.—A few hours after the death of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, 50, restaurant cashier, from a wound received when she was shot during a holdup, two well-dressed youths, believed to have been the robbers, returned to the place.

They asked anxiously concerning her condition. When informed she was dead, they left in obvious dismay.

BANDITS KILL WOMAN

Return to Robbery Scene to Learn
Her Condition; Leave Dismayed.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 6.—A few hours after the death of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, 50, restaurant cashier, from a wound received when she was shot during a holdup, two well-dressed youths, believed to have been the robbers, returned to the place.

They asked anxiously concerning her condition. When informed she was dead, they left in obvious dismay.

BANDITS KILL WOMAN

Return to Robbery Scene to Learn
Her Condition; Leave Dismayed.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 6.—A few hours after the death of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, 50, restaurant cashier, from a wound received when she was shot during a holdup, two well-dressed youths, believed to have been the robbers, returned to the place.

They asked anxiously concerning her condition. When informed she was dead, they left in obvious dismay.

BANDITS KILL WOMAN

Return to Robbery Scene to Learn
Her Condition; Leave Dismayed.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 6.—A few hours after the death of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, 50, restaurant cashier, from a wound received when she was shot during a holdup, two well-dressed youths, believed to have been the robbers, returned to the place.

They asked anxiously concerning her condition. When informed she was dead, they left in obvious dismay.

BANDITS KILL WOMAN

Return to Robbery Scene to Learn
Her Condition; Leave Dismayed.

BIG BILL THOMPSON AND CERMAK WILL POLL LARGE VOTE

William Hale Thompson

Anton J. Cermak

More Than Million to Cast
Ballots in Chicago
Mayor Election.By United Press
CHICAGO, April 6.—The city of Chicago will decide Tuesday whether William Hale Thompson, Republican, or Anton J. Cermak, Democrat, shall be its mayor during the World's Fair of 1933.

Leaders of both parties predicted today that more than 1,000,000 votes will be cast in the election which is admitted to be one of the most important ever held here.

Both candidates today completed their campaigns. Each predicted he would win. Straw votes favored Cermak, by a larger majority than any mayoralty candidate ever has received.

Thompson, known throughout the world as "Big Bill," frequently has boasted that he is the best "showman" among the country's politicians. He is seeking a fourth term.

Claims Rival 'Too Powerful'

Cermak is chairman of the Cook county board and has been a power in Democratic politics for years. One of Thompson's principal campaign issues has been that the opponent is "too powerful" and would be a "master" by holding all the jobs at once.

In his final summing up of the campaign Cermak outlined the principal issues as: Crime, taxation, the restoring of Chicago's lost reputation, relief of increasing unemployment.

Thompson also stressed taxation as an issue. He charged that if "Cermak and his gang" were given control of the city they would increase the tax burden which he said they already had brought about while in control of the county.

Discusses Crime in Sentence

"It is unthinkable," the mayor said.

Cermak's issue, "Crime," was dismissed by the mayor with a sentence.

"Only thirteen cities in the United States of over 100,000 population have less crime per capita than Chicago—sixty-seven have more," he said.

In his final statements, Thompson accused Cermak not only of "wanting to be dictator" but of being the "tool of wealth" and of using his power in the county and in the minority representation in the state legislature to raise taxes so wealthy interests could take over millions of dollars worth of small bank assets and holdings of small property owners.

Return to Robbery Scene to Learn
Her Condition; Leave Dismayed.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 6.—A few hours after the death of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, 50, restaurant cashier, from a wound received when she was shot during a holdup, two well-dressed youths, believed to have been the robbers, returned to the place.

They asked anxiously concerning her condition. When informed she was dead, they left in obvious dismay.

BANDITS KILL WOMAN

Return to Robbery Scene to Learn
Her Condition; Leave Dismayed.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 6.—A few hours after the death of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, 50, restaurant cashier, from a wound received when she was shot during a holdup, two well-dressed youths, believed to have been the robbers, returned to the place.

They asked anxiously concerning her condition. When informed she was dead, they left in obvious dismay.

BANDITS KILL WOMAN

Return to Robbery Scene to Learn
Her Condition; Leave Dismayed.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 6.—A few hours after the death of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, 50, restaurant cashier, from a wound received when she was shot during a holdup, two well-dressed youths, believed to have been the robbers, returned to the place.

They asked anxiously concerning her condition. When informed she was dead, they left in obvious dismay.

BANDITS KILL WOMAN

Return to Robbery Scene to Learn
Her Condition; Leave Dismayed.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 6.—A few hours after the death of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, 50, restaurant cashier, from a wound received when she was shot during a holdup, two well-dressed youths, believed to have been the robbers, returned to the place.

They asked anxiously concerning her condition. When informed she was dead, they left in obvious dismay.

BANDITS KILL WOMAN

Return to Robbery Scene to Learn
Her Condition; Leave Dismayed.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 6.—A few hours after the death of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes, 50, restaurant cashier, from a wound received when she was shot during a holdup, two well-dressed youths, believed to have been the robbers, returned to the place.

They asked anxiously concerning her condition. When informed she was dead, they left in obvious dismay.

TWO KILLED IN CITY ACCIDENTS

Man and Boy Lose Lives in Traffic Crashes.