

New Gloves Will Look 'Careless'

BY JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, April 7.—Spring is the logical watch-making time, of course. But when it comes to picking accessories this year, value of complementary qualities—not to mention colors—is more important than matching them.

Such a riot of new accessories! Gloves are worn bigger than they usually are. If you can afford them, get them long, even for suits with long sleeves. Let them wrinkle about the wrist. They look luxuriously careless.

White pigskin is the last word for street wear. But overstitched gauntlets in color are good. Brown, black, beige, tan, gray, blue, sleek suede or glass pull-ons still are favorites. By summer fabric gloves, smartly tailored, are bound to be the thing with cotton frocks and linen suits.

Neckwear must have some connection with the coat or dress you wear them with. For plain colored frocks, or dead white, the Algerian turban and cowl scarfs that loop and tie on one shoulder are grand—especially in rich, deep reds, tawny yellows, black and white.

Lingerie Sets on Coats
Lingerie collar and cuffs set go on coats this spring, dainty organdie or handkerchief linen on wool, voile on linen, chiffon on flat crepe. Have them hand made, if you have to do it yourself!

Jewelry is color itself, so be careful. New pins include jabot clips, with jangling drops of color, in two or three colors. Coral is excellent, white wooden jewelry is brand new. Simulated jade does smart things with brown outfits.

Brown and beige beads turn around and do the same thing with green. Many delicate strands of tiny colorful glass beads, held together by two or three big black or other contrasting, heads. Bracelets on one arm only. Wide cuffs of jewels are chic. So are many bracelets, but not too loosen the wrist. Wear the small outside gloves, don't forget that.

Stockings are darker, but you can wear a dark beige with blue and black this year. The best way to decide shades, however, is to try them over your hand with the costume you want them for.

Help Trim Ankles
Clocked chignons, open work, lisle mesh stockings and a wide variety of lace net stockings dress up trim ankles tremendously. You don't need to stick to utterly plain stockings this year. Indulge your taste for variety.

Purses are leather or fabric, or both. With suits, leather is considered smarter. Monograms are often the only decoration, but they have a way of being big enough to be trimming enough. Your purses, with handsome jeweled decorations, are fine for afternoon.

Printed silk purses may or may not complement your printed silk. Tricky purse fastenings abound. But if you're the type of woman who keeps opening her purse, remember that too tricky a one tries your patience.

Belts need not have a thing to do with the rest of your color scheme. Gay neckties, with stripes of silver or gold, hold black and white costumes in around the waistline. A black and white checked belt may be just the thing to help out a black dress with red touches. Leather belts abound. Watch their buckles, for they are as important as the color of your belt.

Kerchiefs "Played Down"
Handkerchiefs are played down this year, though they may be astonishingly decorative. A brand new scarlet handkerchief is called "lipstick" because you can wipe off

SMART TOUCHES THAT WILL BRIGHTEN COSTUME

1. Hand-made coat collar and cuff set.
2. Purse handkerchief with edge to match purse from which it protrudes.
3. Jabot clip with brilliant.
4. White pigskin in pull-on gloves.
5. New monogrammed purse.
6. White kid belt, checked with black.
7. Sports necklace, brown cord, tan and brown beads.

your lips with it and it will never tell!

Given a world of pretties, what can a woman do? Be careful! You must pick with care or you will look as if you had everything on but a Christmas tree itself.

Given good taste and restraint, however, you will find this the most exciting year for shopping you've ever seen. And you will find accessories that can do more for you.

Canned Fish Dishes Are Appetizing

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

Many interesting and appetizing dishes can be made from canned and cured fish. These products are nourishing and make excellent substitutes for fresh sea-food when the latter is not procurable.

Recipes for cooking and serving the forms of canned or preserved sea-foods are not plentiful, but the following collection of rules is quite unusual and economical.

Fish mush combines cornmeal and any flaked cooked fish in an attractive dish suitable for breakfast, luncheon or supper.

FISH MUSH

One cup cornmeal, 3/4 cups boiling water, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 cups canned salmon, 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Add one teaspoon salt to boiling water and slowly sift in cornmeal, stirring constantly. Cook over the flame for ten minutes, stirring to prevent sticking. Then cook over boiling water for three hours.

Add remaining salt, pepper and salmon with skin and bones removed. Turn into a well buttered brick loaf pan and let stand over night or until thoroughly chilled and firm.

Cut in slices about one-half inch thick and roll in flour. Sauté until a golden brown.

Salt Codfish in Tomato Sauce

Two cups flaked salt codfish, 1 quart canned tomatoes, 2 medium sized onions, 4 whole cloves, 1/2 teaspoon celery pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 6 triangles hot buttered toast.

Soak codfish in warm water to cover for four or five hours. Drain and simmer in hot water, just below the boiling point, until tender. It will take about thirty minutes.

Drain and separate into flakes. Peel and slice onions and cook in a little bacon fat in kettle until browned. Add tomatoes, cloves, celery pepper and sugar and simmer twenty minutes. Strain.

Melt butter, stir in flour and when bubbling slowly add tomato puree, stirring constantly. Cook until thick and smooth and add prepared fish. Serve on hot buttered toast.

Scrambled eggs with smoked salmon is a savory dish that could be made in a chafing dish for Sunday night supper or after the theater.

SCRAMBLED EGGS, SMOKED SALMON

One-half pound smoked salmon, 1 cup solid canned tomato, 1 sweet green pepper, 2 onions, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 5 eggs.

Cut salmon in thin slices and soak three hours, changing water five or six times. Drain. Hold pepper over flame, turning to prevent burning. Scrape off blistered skin, holding peppers under cold water. Cut in shreds, discarding pith and seeds. Melt butter in frying pan, add onions peeled and chopped and prepared pepper and cook until soft.

Add tomato and cook a few minutes longer. Place salmon over top of vegetables and cook until it separates into small pieces. When ready to serve pour over eggs slightly.

Sorority in Banquet

Gama Phi Alpha sorority will hold a banquet tonight at the Antlers in honor of the following new members: Misses Margaret Menifey, Florence Fendel, Santina Bonti, Helen Marmon, Ellen Hovey, Ruth Hurley and Lucille Hummer.

Sorority to Meet

Theta chapter, Phi Beta Psi sorority, will meet at 8 Wednesday at the home of Miss Ellen Dalton, 938 North Tuxedo street.

Sorority to Hold Dinner

Beta chapter, Epilon Sigma Alpha sorority, will meet at 7 to night at the Spink-Arms. Reservations for dinner preceding the meeting may be made with Mrs. Georgia Campbell.

Miss Cecelia McDermott to Wed Russell W. McDermott

Mr. and Mrs. Martin McDermott, 4233 Washington boulevard, have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Cecelia McDermott, and Russell William McDermott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDermott, Chicago, which will take place at 11, April 25, at St. Peter and Paul cathedral.

A wedding breakfast at the Country Club of Indianapolis will follow the ceremony.

Miss McDermott will have Mrs. William Averill Johnson as matron of honor and her bridesmaids will be Mrs. Hugh W. Gorey, Dearborn, Mich.; Miss Mary Adelaide Rhodes, Miss Mary Louise Shiel and Miss Lorena McCormick.

Malcolm C. Mallette, Evanston, Ill., will be Mr. McDermott's best man, and ushers will include William Bannerman, Chicago; Donald Collins, Rockville, Ind.; William Wiggins and William Averill Johnson.

A number of parties are being given in Miss McDermott's honor.

Just Every Day Sense

BY MRS. WALTER FERGUSON

I HAVE discovered the real secret of the famous New Orleans cookery. That city is, we all know, the mecca of the gourmet.

Annually, multitudes of citizens flock down there merely to eat. At least their conversation leads one to believe this. All my life I've heard tourists, relatives, and friends sound the praises of southern tables.

Some travelers become almost incoherent upon the subject. They return silent about economic conditions in Louisiana. They know nothing about the price of cotton or the antique shops. They say little of the beauty of lovely Canal street or the old-world atmosphere of the Cabildo.

But they talk endlessly about the food. This time, therefore, I decided I would run this secret to cover. I would find out why dining in New Orleans is one of the great American experiences.

We went to Delatours. We went to Arnaud's. We went finally to the incomparable Antoine's, where the waiters give you booklets telling how the vands inspired Irvin Cobb to literary flights and how Sidney Smith halls the chef by his first name. It was all very impressive.

AND the food was marvelous.

We ate delicious, mysterious dishes seasoned with strange, tangy sauces. We were created with that world-renowned Creole cookery.

And we decided that the chief secret of these clever restaurateurs in this: The diner does not know what he is going to have. There are no menu cards. This in itself is a great experience. No list of cabalistic foreign words puzzles and befuddles you.

Instead, the waiter looks you over and by some subtle power seems to divine your tastes. To his artfully put questions, you specify the trend of your desires and he selects the proper dishes.

Hence, each is a pleasant surprise. Dining requires no mental effort, no floundering indecisions, no exertion of well-power to forego the fattening item.

One does not just eat. One is fed. The experts in New Orleans not only understand the appetite, but they know human nature.

Dinner Will Be Given to Candidates

Candidates for the office of vice-president-general of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be honored at a dinner to be given by the Indiana society during the national convention, to be held in Washington, April 20 to 25.

Mrs. James Ellis Crankshaw, Ft. Wayne, retiring state D. A. R. regent, who is Indiana's candidate for the office of vice-president-general, will be present.

Mrs. Crankshaw has been prominent in the national and state activities of the D. A. R. for a number of years. She has served on the national resolutions committee for three years; has been regent of her chapter, the Mary Penrose Wayne, for two years, and now is its honorary regent, and has filled the state offices of secretary, treasurer, director, vice-regent and regent.

At the present time, besides her activities in the D. A. R. Mrs. Crankshaw is deputy governor of the Indiana Mayflower Society, and a member of the Colonial Dames, Daughters of Colonial Wars, Daughters of Founders and Patriots, Daughters of American Colonists, Daughters of 1812, Dames of the Loyal Legion, National Officers' Club, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution and was organization president of the Indiana State Officers' Club.

The committee includes Edwin Manogue, Paul Strack and Robert Collier. Fraternity and sorority banners will be hung from the walls and a feature of the decoration will be a lighted club emblem.

OWL CLUB ANNUAL DANCE TUESDAY

Owl club will hold its annual dance tonight at the Knights of Columbus auditorium. Dancing will be from 9 until 1. Music will be by Red Curtis and his Castle Farm orchestra.

The committee includes Edwin Manogue, Paul Strack and Robert Collier. Fraternity and sorority banners will be hung from the walls and a feature of the decoration will be a lighted club emblem.

Card Parties

Oak Hill Kindergarten will give benefit card parties Thursday afternoon and night at the kindergarten, corner Caroline street and Roosevelt avenue.

St. Mary's Social Club will entertain at cards and lotto at 2:30 Thursday afternoon in the school hall, 315 North New Jersey street. Those in charge of arrangements are Mesdames Anne Cheselaine, John Deschler, Joseph Feitz and Louis Feldman.

St. Philip Neri altar society will hold a card party at 2:30 and 8:30 Wednesday at the church hall. A bake sale also will be held in connection with it. Mrs. B. T. Jones is chairman.

Women's Benefit Association will hold a covered dish luncheon at noon Wednesday, followed by a public card party at 2:30, at 230 East Ohio street.

Alpha Pis to Meet

Alpha Pi Sigma sorority will meet at 8 Wednesday night at the home of Miss Katherine Benckart, 258 Burgess avenue.

A WORTHY CAUSE

Will You Help Now?

"Established Work Must Go on"

THE INDIANA CHRISTIAN HOSPITAL was established several years ago on a non-profit plan and since then has been operated by a group of Indianapolis business men as a charitable institution. This institution must carry on!

The board of directors is endeavoring to raise a fund by public subscription to meet a serious problem. That problem is for good medical and surgical care, which will be available to the people of moderate income—the great middle class—who are in need of such an institution, operated on a cost basis, giving excellent hospital service.

Why don't YOU respond to such an appeal and make it possible for the Indiana Christian Hospital to carry out the program for the good of humanity?

It is imperative that funds be raised IMMEDIATELY so that the plans may be completed at the earliest date possible.

The present site, at Senate ave. and Ohio st., must be purchased to start the program of expansion. The foundation for such a program must be laid immediately. It is an important factor in the general welfare of our community.

NOW, SHE ENJOYS FOODS THAT USED TO MAKE HER ILL

Here's a model that spells French chic. And it is just as simple as can be. It's the clever cut and detail that makes it so charming.

And you can see for yourself, it has the wrapover lines, so modish, graceful and slenderizing. Little decorative pieces trim the bodice at waistline and the sleeves at the wrist.

A printed crepe silk made the original in soft purple-blue coloring. Style No. 254 may be had in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

It's lovely in plain navy blue silk crepe for early spring wear. Order a copy of our new Fashion Magazine. Attractive styles for women, misses and children. And instructive lessons in sewing.

Price of book 10 cents. Price of pattern 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

Dance to Be Given
An old-fashioned dance, featuring the waltz and two-step, will be given tonight by the Garment Workers, local lodge 127, at Plumber's hall, for the benefit of the unemployed.
