

HINT JEALOUSY CAUSED HEIRESS TO KILL LOVER

Police Theories of Spurned Affections Matched by Self-Defense Claim.

By United Press
FLINT, Mich., April 25.—Theories of spurned love, jealousy, revenge and her own plea of self-defense, were matched today by detectives who were puzzled over Miss Helen Joy Morgan's story of how she overpowered 200-pound Leslie Casteel in an automobile, shot him to death and left his body at the side of a road near a cemetery.

Prosecutor Ralph Freeman said first degree murder charges would be filed immediately against Miss Morgan, who is 27 and whose mother, Mrs. Carrie Morgan, is said to have made upwards of $1,000,000 in California and Chicago real estate.

The dark-haired heiress told detectives she and Casteel had quarreled after he told her he was going away to Dallas, Tex.

Arrested on Her Charge
Two weeks ago Casteel was arrested on a charge of burning his home. Miss Morgan, his sweetheart for two years, gave the information upon which he was arrested.

The charge was dismissed when she refused to repeat her story. Thursday she said she again was ready to testify.

Police theorized that possibly she was angry or jealous because Casteel was leaving.

Miss Morgan clung, however, to her plea of self-defense. "You tried to put me in jail," she quoted Casteel as shouting at her as he stepped his car near a cemetery.

"I'm Sorry I Did It"
"I'm going to cook your goose, you little double-crossing scoundrel," she quoted him as saying. "I was excited," she said. "I got the gun away from him. I don't know how I did it. He grabbed me by the neck and I screamed."

"The door came open on my side and I fell out of the car. I pointed the gun at him and pulled the trigger, but it wouldn't go off. I fixed some mechanism on it, and pulled the trigger several times. It went off. I'm sorry I did it because I loved him."

TEACHERS' PAY IS LACKING IN CHICAGO CRISIS

Cermak Drive to Pare Costs Meets Obstacle in Depleted Fund.

By United Press
CHICAGO, April 25.—Driving un-tingly ahead in his determination to "clean up" Chicago and ultimately reduce taxes by cutting down city expenses, Mayor Anton J. Cermak today faced the added problem of raising $3,775,000 to satisfy 14,000 unpaid school teachers.

Friday was pay day for the school teachers, and there was no money to pay them.

Another $400,000, needed to pay off civil service employees, also was lacking.

Money-saving plans will not be confined to city government proper, he said, but will be extended to include all branches of local government, schools, drainage districts and park boards.

Ancient Romans had a liquid which, when used on the inner walls of a house, dried them at once.
