

ENGRAVER HELD AS 'BRAINS' OF COINERS' GANG

Youth Is Bound Over to Federal Grand Jury on $5,000 Bond.

An engraver, the alleged brains of the gang of young counterfeiters who passed $10 gold notes and $10 gold pieces in several middle-western states, has been apprehended and bound over the federal grand jury now in session, Charles Mazy, chief secret service operative here, announced today.

The engraver, Clifford Roe, 22, of 3836 West Washington street, was arrested by Detective Sergeant Emmert Englebright and turned over to federal authorities.

Credit Given Englebright

Credit for the arrest is given Englebright by Mazy, who declared that Roe abandoned his usual haunts when five alleged members of the gang were arrested, April 16 here and in Louisville and Englebright made a determined search for the youth.

Roe has been placed under $5,000 bond. The activities of the gang, which it is charged passed 100 of the counterfeit $10 bills and as many $10 gold pieces, are to be presented to the grand jury. District Attorney George R. Jeffrey declared.

Found Stolen Radios

Others arrested are Thomas Shroyer, 1551 Kentucky avenue, Russell Lockwood, 19, and Fred Windman, 21. Two arrested in Louisville are Roy Lockwood, 24, of 1833 Lambert street, and Clarence J. Jones, 23, of 2909 East Thirty-eighth street.

When Mazy and police officials raided the Lockwood home they report they found stolen radios and merchandise valued at $5,000.

Dies for the gold coins were found buried in a can near an old spring near Butler university, authorities said.

USE PSYCHIATRY IN SEARCH FOR SLAYER

Yale Experts Will Aid Hunt for Young Girl's Brutal Murderer.

By United Press

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 28.—Solution of Emily Kirk's murder through psychiatry was a possibility considered today by authorities apparently baffled in an attempt to discover who killed the attractive 21-year-old daughter of an old Yankee family Saturday night.

The new line of investigation was opened up by the expressed willingness of Dr. Eugene Kahn and Professor Lloyd J. Thompson of Yale's institute of human relations to examine the evidence in the slaying—a particularly brutal one—with a view to creating a psychological picture of the slayer.

Investigators feel that if the type of man who would perform some of the unusual actions of the Kirk killer could be described, he would be recognized among the rural characters associated with the Kirk family.

NEWS REEL SHOWS FALL OF ALFONSO

Interesting Air Shots Are Other Features by Universal.

The most thrilling resume of the Spanish king's overthrow and the attendant excitement is given by Graham McNamee, crack man of the National Broadcasting Company, in his description of the pictures from Madrid, shown in the Indianapolis Times-Universal Newsreel, at leading local theaters.

The scenes, shot in Madrid and Barcelona, show the hysteria with which the populace greeted their new freedom.

In quiet contrast of this celebration of a king's downfall are the scenes showing rural America welcoming the king and queen of Spain on their arrival at Scarborough, N. Y.

Two exciting plane stories stand out in the Newsreel. One shows Roger Wolf Kahn, band leader and son of the noted financier, in a daring and successful test of a new mail pickup device from the roof of a building only 102 feet above the streets of Norfolk, Va.; the other pictures Jim Ray, autogiro pilot, making the first plane landing on the lawn of the White House.

Another thrilling episode of the Newsreel shows the wild tribal horsemanship of Tunisia in a superb display of desert riding, staged for President Doumergue of France.

An impressive Passion week religious festival parade from Bruges, Belgium, presents a beautiful pageant of the descent from the cross and the laymen and clergy, the latter in gorgeous habiliments, participating.

Another interesting feature of the Newsreel presents Maggie, a polar huskie mother and her new litter of pups, born aboard the Byrd exploration ship, City of New York.

Then, from Los Angeles is a fearsome pictorialization of a man and a lion in battle, as the former tries to give the beast his Saturday bath.

23 CITY FIRMS BAND TO BACK NATURAL GAS

Form Association to Lend Support for Request to Lay Pipe Lines.

Twenty-three Indianapolis industrial firms which have contracted for delivery of natural gas piped from Kentucky, today were banded together in the Manufacturers' Natural Gas Association of Indianapolis.

The organization, formed Monday night, will back request of the Kentucky Natural Gas Company that it be permitted to lay lines in the county and city to sell natural gas wholesale to these and other industrial firms under contract.

The company has a petition pending before the works board to lay its mains to these plants within the city, and county commissioners have been asked for permission to enter the county with mains.

Atkins Is President

Henry C. Atkins, E. C. Atkins & Co. president, is president of the new association, and John L. Wallace, Indianapolis Casting Company president, is secretary.

Roy E. Adams, J. D. Adams Manufacturing Company president, will head a committee empowered to act for the association in seeking arrangements to obtain natural gas. This committee will meet later with the committee of fifteen named by Mayor Reginald H. Sullivan last week to represent the city and the Citizens Gas Company in negotiations on natural gas matters.

Not Public Utility

The Kentucky company officials maintain the company in no sense can be termed a public utility, but merely is an "interstate carrier," engaged in the "wholesale business of selling natural gas," and has no intention of entering the domestic field here.

They have said the company would be interested in selling natural gas wholesale to the Citizens Gas Company in event the United States supreme court upholds the city's right to acquire the Citizens company under terms of the 1905 charter.

FATIGUE MAY CAUSE COMMON COLD

System is More Susceptible to Infection When One is Exhausted

Nearly every cold that is suffered got its start when the afflicted was "tired out." A fatigued person is easily chilled, and when this condition occurs the sneeze and sore throat make their appearance.

Since most every one experiences fatigue in mid or late afternoon, it is wise to overcome this condition by eating or drinking something sweet. Candy, cookies, sweetened beverages and ice cream are quickly digested, and the energy in the sugar is ready at once to restore vigor. For children, a slice of bread and butter sprinkled with sugar is an appropriate "pick-up."

In these winter days, the importance of diet in relation to the resistance of the system should not be overlooked. The person who eats a wide variety of wholesome food fortifies himself against disease. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute—Advertisement.

TEACHER IS FINED FOR BEATING PUPIL

Judge Wetter Holds Boy, 13, Was Punished Too Severely.

Because he was "unreasonable" in his punishment, Othniel Catt, teacher at School 4, University Heights, today was fined $1 and costs on an assault and battery conviction for beating Albert Winburn, 13, of 3411 Carson avenue, a pupil.

Catt was convicted and fined by Municipal Judge Paul C. Wetter after evidence revealed he used a paddle to beat the pupil after the latter had been involved in a scuffle with another boy. Testimony showed the Winburn boy suffered welts and bruises from the beating.

Wetter handled the paddle, introduced in evidence, and said it "takes me back to the old days—many years ago."

"I've had a little of that myself," he said. "I feel the teacher should have punished the boy, but not that much. He was unreasonable and too severe in the punishment."

Catt paid the fine and costs immediately after they were assessed by the court and said he realized he had been too severe in administration of the punishment.

The beating occurred April 6 and the charge was filed by the boy's father, Herbert Winburn, following examination of the boy by a physician.

'Girl Without Country' Going to Native Land

South Bend Woman Will Visit Hungary; May Certify Affidavit.

Secretary of State Frank May Jr. was called upon to certify today to a traveling affidavit for Miss Cecilia Pisker, 27, South Bend, "the girl without a country."

Miss Pisker, who has lived in South Bend since coming from her native Hungary in 1924, wants to return to visit her father at Ugod, Veszpren county, Hungary.

Under the laws of her native land she should have reported to the Hungarian consulate here for renewal of her passport during the last seven years. She failed to do this and also has not applied for American naturalization papers. Thus, being without a country, she had no one who could apply for a passport for her trip home.

The traveling affidavit, drafted by Joseph Kish Jr., St. Joseph county clerk, was received at the statehouse today. After certification it will be returned, so the girl may carry it with her for identification purposes in the absence of a passport.

PROFANITY STIR DOESN'T WORRY RADIO RULERS

Federal Commission Shrugs Shoulders on Butler's 'Hell' Outburst.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The modern tendency of some of our best known orators to slip an occasional "hell" or "damn" into their public utterances has brought a demand from the more circumspect of the nation's radio listeners that the federal radio commission assume the role of censor of the air.

The answer, it was made clear at the commission's office today, is a firm, though gentle, "no."

The commission does not wish to become involved in any controversy which would necessitate defining just what constitutes profanity. The commission feels that the stations themselves must be the judges.

In anything so new as radio, members of the commission explain, it is wise to move slowly, watching public sentiment.

That is why the commission didn't get excited about the sudden termination of the Smedley Butler speech in Philadelphia after the word "hell" had cracked over the air. The station suspending the broadcast was within its rights, the commission commented.

Ambassador Charles G. Dawes is another public figure given to occasional picturesque language. So also is Alexander Legge, former chairman of the federal farm board, whose platform orators have created many a headline.
