

'RENO REVERTS TO ANIMALISM,' ASSERTS BISHOP

Divorce Mill Denounced by Leete as He Attends Sessions.

By RAY RINTALA
"It's a reversal to animalism." In this fashion Reno and its divorce mill was denounced today by Bishop Frederick D. Leete, of Omaha, Neb., as he attended the semi-annual meeting of the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church in the Marrott hotel. Bishop Leete formerly was bishop of the Indianapolis area.
"Things like this when played up in the newspapers produce great misunderstandings in foreign countries," the bishop said as he related incidents of his recent tour around the world.
"For example, I met a Jewish professor in Jerusalem who thought we had lynchings daily in America. "Reno, lynchings, gangster killings hurt the United States abroad. Our educational movements and work of upbuilding is ignored for the sensational," he declared.
He described Japan as the "most American country" he visited during his world tour.
Japan, he says, is irked by the bars of immigration of the United States which prevents their country from settling in America.
He asserted Communism had lit-

"Friendliness has increased toward missionaries in the Orient," he concluded.
Portable traffic towers, mounted on rollers, are being tested in England as a means of solving traffic problems in areas congested only during certain portions of the day.

STATE PROBERS TO TAKE STAND IN FRAUD TRIAL

Indiana Conspiracy Alleged as Contractor Faces Court at Bloomington.

Representatives of the state treasurer's and auditor's offices and the state board of accounts went to Bloomington today to appear as witnesses for the state in the trial of Ralph Rogers, Bloomington crushed stone contractor.
Rogers, who was indicted on a conspiracy to commit felony charge by the Monroe county grand jury, is being prosecuted by deputies from the office of Attorney-General James M. Ogden.
Owen Ewing, unofficial attorney for the state highway department, is listening in. Ralph Simpson, chief clerk of the state highway department, was also scheduled to appear as a witness in the case today.
William E. Sayer, Bloomington, former superintendent of maintenance in the Bloomington district for A. H. Hinkle, state maintenance chief, also was indicted and is to be tried later.
Conspiracy charges grew out of alleged short delivery of stone to the department for use of roads in the district.
Attorney-General Ogden contends that the state has been mulcted out of thousands of dollars in these deals, which are alleged to have taken place when Sayer was with the department.

OWATONNA, Minn., May 8.—Use of liquor so has decreased that formerly prosperous bootleggers today are hard put to make a bare living. Andrew J. Volstead, author of the national enforcement act, told a W. C. T. U. convention here.
"Enforcement is getting better each year," Volstead said.
"There is today nothing like the sale of liquor there was three years ago. Bootleggers, formerly prosperous, are making a bare living with but few exceptions. We are making progress."

Watson Moore, former inspector for the state highway department in the Bloomington district, was returned from California to testify Thursday.

He was one of the principal witnesses in the state's prosecution. V. Ed Funk and Earl Stroup are the deputy attorneys-general carrying on the prosecution.

Lewis Johnson of the state board of accounts, William Cosgrove, assistant state auditor, and Charles Wells, assistant treasurer, are today's state witnesses.
