

INSULL'S RATE PLAN IS PUT UP TO BOARD AGAIN

Make Effort to Reinject Theory of 'Common Power Source.'

Effort to reinject the "common power source" theory of rate making, previously rejected by the public service commission, was made today by the Insull utilities.

A cross bill was filed with the commission by attorneys for the Public Service Company of Indiana asking that the properties in twenty-two southern Indiana counties be considered in the Bloomington rate case now pending.

The original petition filed by the city of Bloomington and later extended to include Monroe county, asked for electric rate reductions.

Includes 67 Cities

In the Insull petition today the company asks that instead of confining the hearing to Bloomington alone, the commission make an investigation and determine "proper and reasonable and nondiscriminatory rates for electric and gas service in all of the territory served in what is known as the 'South system.'"

This territory includes sixty-seven cities and towns with electric light and power service and eleven supplied with gas, as well as service to a large rural territory, quarries, mines and other industries.

With the present engineering staff of the commission, many months, or perhaps years, would elapse before such an inventory of properties could be made to furnish the rate base on a "replacement new, depreciated" theory of valuation.

Opposed to Plan

In the interim Bloomington citizens and industries would continue to pay rates which they charge are excessive.

The commission has several times gone on record as opposed to this plan and to accept the Insull proposal will be to reverse this stand.

Incorporated towns served with electricity in which the company asks the commission to adjust rates are as follows:

Columbus, Clifford, Elizabethtown, Jonesville, Nashville, Charlestown, Clarksville, Clayburg, Jeffersonville, Sellersburg, Alton, Ellettsville, Odessa, Plainville, Ganelburg, New Albany, Francis, Hazelton, Oakland City, Owensville, Princeton, Somerville, Bloomfield, Lyons, Newberry, Swiss City, Worthington, Corydon, Lanesville, Brownstown, Medora, Seymour, North Vernon, Vernon, Franklin, Greenwood, Rickel, Decker, Monroe City, Oakton, Sandborn, Vincennes, Wheatland, Bedford, Mitchell, Logansport, Shoals, Bloomington, Ellettsville, Stinesville, French Lick, Orleans, West Baden, Spargoville, Jeffersonville, Christiana, Roseville, Shelbyville, Carlisle, Duxker, Merom, Ellettsville, Lynnville, Fredricksburg, Hardinsburg, Campbellsburg and Salem.

Cities in the same territory supplied with gas service are:

Columbus, Clarksville, Clayburg, Jeffersonville, New Albany, Seymour, Franklin, Ellettsville, Bedford, Bloomington and Shelbyville.

CHLOROFORM DEATH IS RULED AN ACCIDENT

Suicide Theory Is Discounted by Coroner and Police.

Death of a theatrical musician in his hotel room where more than one hundred empty chloroform bottles were found, was accidental, Coroner Fred Vehling and police agreed today.

A call boy from the Colonial theater and a bell boy found Wallace Barnhart, 23, dead in his room at the Brevort hotel, Tuesday night.

Partially clothed the body lay across the bed, a cloth saturated with chloroform covering the face.

Other evidence in the room led officials to discount a suicide theory.

Papers were found among his possessions indicating he had been divorced in Ft. Wayne some time ago. Among them was a restraining order issued there enjoining him from molesting or injuring his wife. The coroner has been unable to locate relatives.

SNUB BY YALE IS CHARGED BY SINCLAIR LEWIS

Easier to Win Nobel Medal Than to 'Loan' It to School Library, He Finds.

By United Press

NEW YORK, May 20.—Sinclair Lewis has learned that it is easier to win the Nobel prize in literature than it is to make "a permanent loan" of the four-inch plaque symbol of his achievement to the Sterling Memorial library of Yale university.

The author of "Main Street" and "Babbitt" is incensed over treatment which he claims was accorded him when he attempted to offer the gold medal to the new $7,000,000 institution, and will "be damned" if Yale will get it or anything else from him now.

However, officials of Yale give an entirely different version of the matter.

Rush Denies Story

Charles E. Rush, associate librarian, said that Lewis, in the company of two other men, went to the library Saturday and inquired if there was a permanent exhibition there of coins. Rush once was city librarian in Indianapolis.

Rush assured him there was and asked him if he cared to see it, he said.

Lewis said "No," but asked "Did the library have a permanent loan of coins?" I did not know what he meant and asked him to explain, Rush said.

"No, I won't," Rush quoted him as saying, "I've changed my mind." And with that he walked out.

"You Can't Have It"

"I thought the Yale library was the natural place for the medal," Lewis said from his home in Bethel, Vt., Tuesday night, "and so, while I was motoring to Westport, I stopped off at New Haven."

"I learned better, however, than to try to make any presents to Yale. They just didn't seem interested, and said there wasn't any place in their collection for such an item."

He said they had asked him to make a formal application to exhibit the plaque, and he refused saying that "one doesn't spend a lifetime trying to get rid of a gift horse when the beneficiary is looking at his teeth right in one's face. The medal's mine and I'm going to keep it. Yale can't have it."

Colleen Granted Decree So Mate Can Wed Again

By United Press

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—The way for John McCormick, film producer, to be married to Mrs. Janet H. Gattis in Honolulu was cleared today by the granting of a final decree of divorce to his first wife, Colleen Moore, the actress.

Miss Moore was granted an interlocutory decree May 13, 1930, but did not apply for the final decree until late Tuesday, when her attorney appeared for her.

Her delay necessitated postponing of the marriage in Honolulu of McCormick to the Washington, D. C., and Beverly Hill society.

Mrs. Gattis had invited friends to attend the wedding at noon, but upon learning that McCormick was not yet free to marry again, the gathering was turned into an engagement party.

Hollywood friends of Miss Moore said she soon would be married to Al Scott, New York stock broker. She is in New York today.

MOVE TO SHOW UPWARD WAGE REVISION NEED

Hoover's Aids in Probe to Prove Labor Productivity Needs New Rewards.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, May 20.—A movement to defeat attempts at wage reductions is being made by the administration through collection of statistics which will show, it is believed, that productivity of workers has increased out of all proportion to their wages.

If any "adjustment" is made, it should be upward, not down, it will be contended.

This became known following an unusually long cabinet meeting, when Secretary of Labor William N. Doak announced appointment of a committee of economists, labor leaders and government officials to study the effect of machine production on employment.

At the same time came a manifesto from the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor, calling upon metal workers to meet efforts to reduce wages with "active, organized opposition."

These were the most recent developments in the determined struggle being made by the administration and organized labor against

"wage scale adjustments" due to the depression. Doak's committee will bring together views of two opposite schools of thought, those who insist wages should be based on living costs, and those who hold they should be based on productivity of the worker.
