

PUBLICITY ITCH LAID TO LEWIS BY YALE PAPER

Sinclair Likely to 'Go Out and Bite a Dog' Next, Says Editorial.

By United Press
NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 22.—Sinclair Lewis may be expected at any moment to "go out and bite a dog," the Yale Daily News said today in an editorial entitled "His Own Press Agent."

"Sinclair Lewis, 1907, rapidly is becoming our most notorious writer, if not our best," said the News. "Judging by the publicity his antics have received lately, one might say he had an irrespressible fondness for the front page. At any minute now we expect him to go out and bite a dog."

"The episode last Saturday in the Sterling library was even more wonderful than his recent face-slapping tiff with Dreiser."

Lewis charges he offered the Yale library the "permanent loan" of his Nobel medal, but that the university officials were uninterested.

ELECTRA, Tex., May 22.—Leonard Curfman, high school senior, was so proud of the fact his school days were about over that he sent graduation announcements to President Herbert Hoover, John D. Rockefeller, and Henry Ford.

Mr. Hoover sent him his greetings. Rockefeller sent him a postcard. Ford hasn't answered.

Falls Into Boat; Drowns
CHICAGO, May 22.—Ninety-year-old Eugene Marrett fell into a boat and was drowned. The boat was an old scow that was partly filled with water.

Held as Killer

Charging her with murder, the state claims that Mrs. Aline Keck, above, shot and killed her husband, Allen Keck, in Olathe, Kan., because she heard him call another woman "Honey" in a telephone conversation.

Her defense is that she shot him by accident.

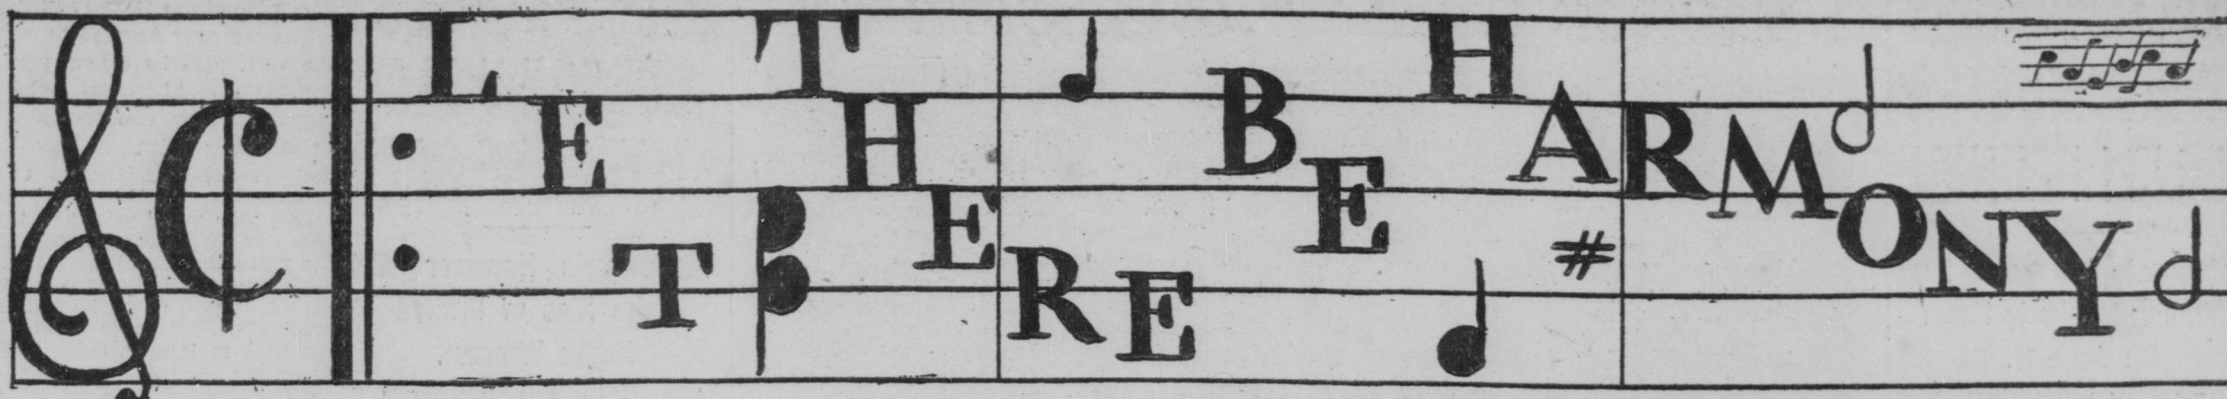

FLAG DELAYS DINNER

Etiquet Blunder Discovered at Fete for German Honor Guests.

By Scripps-Hoover Newspaper Alliance
ST. PAUL, May 22.—A blunder in flag etiquette caused 300 persons to wait an hour for their dinner at the Athletic Club here.

The guest of honor was Friedrich W. von Prittwitz und Gaffron, German ambassador to Washington. Just as dinner was about to be served, Alexander von Wuthenau, secretary of the German embassy, discovered that the old imperial flag of Germany was hung above the speakers' table, instead of the German republic's flag.

The hosts phoned frantically to hotels, clubs and flag dealers, but could not find a one of the new flags. Finally, it was decided to remove the imperial flag and go ahead with the dinner.

All the Family's in Harmony in a Well-Furnished Home

Family discord, children unrestful, husband "out of tune"—all of this can be attributed to the way your home is furnished.

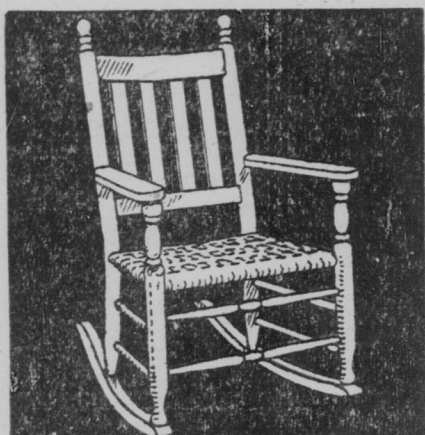

And Why This Lack of Harmony?

Who can blame Tommy and Virginia for wanting to be "out" when home isn't an attractive place to bring their friends. And who can blame dear old dad when he can't find a comfortable chair to sit in, and mother has to work so hard with out-of-date kitchen furniture.

Remedy this inharmonious home life and select the things you need to make every one comfortable and happy. You'll hardly miss the small payments and you'll change your family's tune to that of harmony.
