

BUCKY HARRIS MAY TAKE OVER SECOND FOR DETROIT

Tiger Pilot Hopes to Check Long Losing Streak by Returning to Action; Giants Cut Cards' Lead

Bengals Beaten in 15 Out of 17 Starts; Two Star Infielders Are Out With Injuries.

BY LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, June 4.—Handicapped by injuries, the Detroit Tigers have been unable to shake off the slump which has buried them deep in the second division of the American League and it appeared probable today that Manager Bucky Harris would return to active playing in an effort to bolster up his team.

Harris, a great second baseman when in his prime with the Washington Senators, has been conditioning himself daily and unless the Tigers start winning, probably will return to the lineup although he has taken part in only a few games the last two seasons.

Injuries to Dale Alexander and Charley Gehring, youthful first and second basemen, respectively, are held accountable for Detroit's poor showing, although the pitching staff has been more or less erratic. With Alexander and Gehring, two of the best hitters on the club out, Harris has shifted Owen, a shortstop, to first, with Koenig at second.

Drop Seventh Straight
The combination has not been functioning any too satisfactorily, however, and many close followers of the Tigers believe Harris will be playing second before the end of the week.

Detroit dropped its seventh consecutive contest Wednesday to Washington, 2 to 1. It was the Tigers' fifteenth defeat in their last seventeen games. The contest was a hurling duel between Bobby Burke and Vic Sorrell. Burke did not allow the Tigers a hit until the seventh, while the Senators scored two runs off Sorrell in the first, but could do nothing the remainder of the game.

Two of Connie Mack's "big five," Lefty Grove and Jimmy Fox, teamed to bring Philadelphia its second straight victory over Chicago, 2 to 1. Grove allowed only six hits, while Jimmy Fox's home run provided the deciding margin. It was one of the seven hits allowed by Ted Lyons.

Vosmik's Homer Wins
The St. Louis Browns went on a batting rampage to defeat New York 8 to 6. The Browns pounded three Yankee pitchers for sixteen hits, four of them going to Melillo and four to Levey. Walter Stewart yielded ten hits, but was effective in the pinches, striking out eight men.

Joe Vosmik's home run in the eleventh inning gave Cleveland a 5 to 4 victory over Boston and stretched the Indians' winning streak to nine contests. Vosmik also got two singles. The Indians had things their own way until the eighth, when the Red Sox tied the score at four-all.

Indiana Nine Easy Winner

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 4.—Lefty Veller, hurling his last college game, gave up five hits and struck out seven here Wednesday, as Indiana closed its Big Ten diamond season with a 9-to-5 triumph over Michigan.

Three Indiana errors kept the Hoosier star in trouble, while the Crimson pastimes combined fifteen hits and seven errors for their total. Indiana won four and lost four during the Big Ten race, Michigan winning five and losing four.

KELLEY SIGNS COLLEGIATE

MINNEAPOLIS, June 4.—Mike Kelley, manager of the Minneapolis A. A. club, has signed Joe Mowry, star fly chaser and heavy hitter of the University of Iowa. He will report on June 10.

Ancient Mitchell Pitches N. Y. to Triumph Over Champs as Cubs Thump Robins.

BY DIXON STEWART
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, June 4.—That hectic National League pennant fight assumed new complications today as the result of the New York Giants tripping up the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 5, Wednesday, while the third-place Chicago Cubs won 9 to 8 from the Brooklyn Robins.

The Giants' victory reduced St. Louis' lead to a game and a half, with the Cubs two games farther behind. The first seven National League teams now are bunched within nine games.

Clarence Mitchell, 42-year-old left handed spitball pitcher, was the hero of the Giants' victory, holding his former teammates to nine hits and never relinquishing the lead after his mates gave him a run in the opening inning.

St. Louis used five pitchers—Haines, Stout, Lindsey, Johnson and Kauffmann—but none was effective. The Giants gathered a total of fourteen hits, including four doubles.

The Chicago Cubs took advantage of sloppy Brooklyn fielding to defeat the Robins, 9 to 8. Chicago scored the tying and winning runs in the ninth off old Jack Quinn, who had replaced Dazy Vance in the eighth. Cuyler's double, errors by Gilbert and Thompson, Hornsby's sacrifice and Hensley's single manufactured the two runs needed for victory.

The Boston Braves resorted to the old squeeze play to win from Pittsburgh, 4 to 3, in ten innings. With Dessen on third and one out in the tenth, Rabbit Maranville laid down a perfect bunt to score the Braves' third sacker, with the deciding tally.

Behind the four-hit pitching of old Eppa Rixey, the Cincinnati Reds defeated Philadelphia, 3 to 1. The Reds collected eight hits off Phil Collins and Elliott.

8 in Row

Oscar Melillo

Eight consecutive hits in as many trips to the plate have boosted Oscar Melillo, the St. Louis Browns' speedy infielder, into the thick of the American League batting championship race. He was in second place today with .386, Mickey Cochrane of the A's showing the way with .400. His eighth straight hit was a homer off Sherid in the eighth inning with a mate on the paths and gave the Browns their tying and winning runs in their 8-to-6 triumph over the Yankees Wednesday.

Heavy Matmen on Park Card

Heavyweights will feature the wrestling Friday night at Riverside park's "rain or shine" arena. The club staged weekly shows at Cade's tabernacle during the winter.

Allan Eustice, 225-pound New Yorker, will clash with Steve Savage, 220, of Chicago, in the main go. Eustice won five bouts and lost none at Cade's. A year ago he beat Ralph Wilson at Riverside, Savage holds a draw with John Pesek and is said to be an aggressive performer of the rough type.

Dug Marcell, Canadian heavy, will meet Roy Duncan, ex-grid player of Ohio State, in the semi-windup. A prelim will start at 8:30. Women will be admitted free.

Tribe Buys Sigafoos for Job on Infield

Second Baseman, Who Batted .305 for Angels Last Year, Is Bought From Reds; Doney Goes to Peoria; Wednesday Game Dropped.

BY EDDIE ASH
Times Sports Editor

The purchase of Frank Sigafoos, infielder, who has major and class AA experience, was announced by the Indians today, and the Tribe bosses feel confident the new pastimer will bolster the attack of the team. He was bought from the Cincinnati Reds, who drafted him from Los Angeles last fall, where he batted .305 in 155 games. Lee Doney, the Redskin pitcher with the Corrientes, will be sent to Peoria in the Three-I League on option as part of the deal, Peoria being a Cincy farm.

Sigafoos bats right-handed and will be stationed at second base with Fred Bedore being assigned to the utility role. Sigafoos rates a better hitter than Bedore and has had more experience.

The Indians returned to daylight ball today and were to battle the Toledo Hens in the fourth and last series tilt at 3 p. m. Friday's series opener with Columbus will be staged at night and it will be a free night for women and children. After Friday, the remainder of the Columbus series will be played in the afternoon.

Beginning next week, until further notice, the Indians will play all games in the afternoon except Thursday and Friday contests.

Wingard Settles Down

Toledo made it three in a row over the home nine under the lights Wednesday night, 6 to 4, a sixth-inning rally for three runs putting the visitors out in front and they remained there. Ernie Wingard, Hen southpaw, settled down after the second stanza and held the locals nullo. Manager Stengel was on the verge of deriding the slender rally at the start, but Wingard suddenly hit his stride and went on to win.

Hildebrand, Griffin and Cenovos were employed on the Tribe mound, the first two named both being knocked out in the sixth. Hildebrand weakened with men on bases and the Hens started straightening out his fast ball. Griffin relieved the youngster, but was no improvement and Cenovos went to the box and checked the rally. Mike was too late, however, for there was no barage left in the Indians' bats.

Hildebrand Balks

Hildebrand spotted the Hens one marker in the first when he permitted Koehler to steal second unmolested, whence he scored on a short single, and in the second stanza the Tribe youth committed a balk and paved the way for another Toledo run.

Singles by Wingard, F. Walker and Koehler accounted for the Hens' third tally in the fifth. The Indians jumped off to three runs in the first round and put another across in the second, but after that Wingard tied them up when runners were in position to score.

Narlesky led off the third with a double and was left, and in the eighth he reached third with none down and the next three Indians were erased on easy fly balls. Double plays executed by Toledo in the third and sixth were important factors in discouraging the Tribe attack.

JACK HENDRICKS, assistant to owner Perry and Tribe scout, recommended the purchase of Frank Sigafoos and put through the transaction with Cincinnati. Scouting for the Chicago Cubs in 1930, Hendricks saw Sigafoos perform in about thirty games. Formerly with Detroit and the White Sox, Sigafoos was sent to San Francisco in the Smead Jolley deal and later was sold to Los Angeles. He stole twenty-five bases last year.

According to Hendricks, Sigafoos batted at a clip in the neighborhood of 350 before Coast League teams installed the night lights. He saw service in twenty games in the world series, batting .277. He is said to be fast and particularly strong on double plays. He is 27 and his home is at Easton, Pa. The new Tribe infielder was developed in the Texas League.

Sigafoos was at bat 702 times in the Coast circuit in 1930 and collected 244 hits, including nineteen home runs, nine triples and forty-six doubles. His batting average was .305 and his fielding percentage was .875.

Lee Doney, sent to Peoria in the Sigafoos deal, opened the season with all the promise in the world, but in recent starts many clubs have been giving him stuff after a few innings. He annexed the Tribe's first victory of the year, defeating St. Paul during the curtain series in April.

U. S. Amateurs Win; Near Riot Results

BY DIXON STEWART

NEW YORK, June 4.—United States amateur boxers today boasted a decisive victory over Italy's 1928 Olympic champions, but the Amateur Athletic Union was undecided regarding the value of amateur boxing as a developer of international good will.

The Italian-American international series, staged at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night, brought Italy's first team competition defeat in more than three years—the Americans winning by a margin of five matches to two—but was marred by a prolonged and astounding display of bad temper which did little to cement friendly relations between the competing nations.

The demonstration followed a decision giving Louis Salica of New York a victory over Edelmars Rodriguez, 112-pound champion of Italy, in the opening bout. Salica had a decided edge in the first two rounds of the bout and in the opinion of ringside boxing experts was entitled to the decision, despite Rodriguez's strong rally in the final round.

When the verdict was announced Rodriguez dropped to the canvas, kicked his feet in the air, bit at his glove and shouted in protest. His seconds joined in the protest. Gallery spectators, overwhelmingly Italian in sentiment, joined in the uproar, booing the officials and showering the ring with coins, paper, cigar stubs, lemons and other debris. Spectators who believed the decision justified attempted to cheer down the dissenters and the uproar continued for more than half an hour.

Sivak, Urban, Jones, Seeright, Kins and Johnson are seniors.
