

ART SHIRES IS CALLED 'MODEL PLAYER' BY A. A. PREXY

Milwaukee First Sacker Leads League in Three Departments, Tied for First in Another and Second in Hitting; Has Acted as Peacemaker Three Times.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 4.—Conducting himself as a model for other players, Art Shires, one-time bad boy of the Chicago White Sox, was praised today by T. J. Hickey, American Association president, for his splendid behavior as first baseman of the Milwaukee Brewers.

"Shires has set a fine example for the other players to follow," said Hickey. "Three times this season Shires has acted as peacemaker when trouble seemed imminent between players and umpires."

"Before the season opened Shires said to me, 'You won't have any trouble with me, Mr. Hickey. I am going to behave myself.' And he certainly has lived up to his word."

Now that Shires has proved he can tend to his ball playing and left fighting alone, he seems to be really coming back to the big leagues.

When Washington shipped him to the minors last fall Shires said: "They knew I can play ball, but they don't think I can behave myself. I'll prove I'm not a trouble-maker and I am coming back to the big leagues."

The latest averages of the American Association show that Shires is leading the league in three departments, tied for the lead in another and second in another. His record:

First in hits with 69.
First in runs batted in with 35.
First in total bases with 83.
Tied for lead in runs scored with 33.
Playing with a minor league club hasn't taken anything away from Shires' aggressive tactics on the diamond.

With the season almost one-third over, Shires has let his fist fly one time this season, and President Hickey absolves him of all blame.

"Shires struck a spectator who rushed on the field at Kansas City and he did it to protect a player being attacked by fans who were swarming on the diamond," said Hickey. "The spectator had no business on the field and Shires was perfectly right in protecting his teammate."

Shires is popular with Milwaukee and a big drawing card throughout the American Association. It has been Shires' great playing which has helped keep Milwaukee in the thick of the race.

Jurado, Cotton Share British Open Lead; U. S. Stars Slump

By United Press

CARNOSTIE, Scotland, June 4.—Jose Jurado of Argentina and Henry Cotton, young English professional, shared leadership in the British open championship today with most of the second rounds complete. They had aggregates of 147.

Jurado today added a par-breaking and record-equaling 71 to his 76 of Wednesday. Cotton scored a 72 Wednesday and a 75 today.

Cotton Wednesday was tied for the leadership with Johnny Farrell of New York, and M. T. Twine, British pro. Each of the three had par 72 for the first round.

Farrell slumped today, taking a 77, but his aggregate of 149 left him near the top. Slightly ahead of Farrell was Tommy Armour of Detroit, who carded a 75 today for an aggregate of 148.

M. T. Twine, one of the three leaders in the first round, slipped today, taking a 78 for an aggregate of

Rabbit and Pachyderm

RABBIT MARANVILLE, diminutive big shot of the Boston Braves infield, never passes up a chance to show up another ballplayer. That's why he picked on big Buzz Arlett (above, rear), giant Phillies outfielder and a rookie at 33. The Rabbit is having one of his best years, which is a big reason why the Braves are near the top in the National League. And Arlett is living up to advance notice with his bombastic hitting for the Shottonmen.

Twin Feature Arranged for Harrison Ring

Tracy Cox will battle Henry Falegano, Des Moines Filipino, and Harold Anderson will clash with Jack (Chief) Elkhart, in a double wind-up of ten rounds each on next Tuesday's mitt card at P. Harrison, Captain James R. Kennedy, matchmaker, will complete his supporting card by Friday. All bouts will be to decisions.

The Cox-Falegano encounter promises to test Tracy's ability against a classy southpaw of experience. In two previous matches, Falegano proved a worthy opponent for the local junior lightweight. Their first meeting resulted in a divided press opinion and their second gave Tracy a shade.

Anderson, ex-Michigan youngster who is making Indianapolis his home, will be pitted against a veteran in Elkhart, the Chicago heavy weight. It was only a few months ago that Anderson was engaging in prelim scraps, and his rise is credited to his two-fisted battling and willingness to meet all comers.

TOP BOUTS CANCELED

The scheduled ten-rounder between Tommy Ryan and Tim Charles and eight-rounder between Marlon Youngstall and Jack Hartledge at Riverside Wednesday night were canceled due to poor attendance. Results of other bouts:

Jimmy Fox and Tuffy Mitchell draw in six. Rex Wagoner knocked out Young Cooper, first round. Humphrey and Joe Cooper drew in four. Dick Williams beat Clifford Stricker in four.

Jeby Faces Vet Dundee

Middleweight Title Unofficially at Stake Tonight.

By United Press

NEW YORK, June 4.—Ben Jeby of New York and Vince Dundee of Baltimore will meet in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight for the unofficial middleweight championship of the world. With Mickey Walker, titleholder of the division under suspension by both the New York state athletic commission and the National Boxing Association, and apparently ready to abandon his title to campaign among the heavyweights, it is believed likely that tonight's winner will be awarded recognition as champion.

Neither Jeby nor Dundee would be accorded a chance of victory against Walker, but they have won recognition as the best men in the class exclusive of the champion. There is considerable doubt that Walker still can make the middleweight limit and little likelihood that he can be prevailed upon to defend the title.

Both Jeby and Dundee boast victories over Len Harvey, European middleweight champion, and on the basis of their matches against the Briton, Jeby has been made a favorite for tonight's bout. He lost a previous bout to Dundee a year ago, but has improved considerably since that time and gives promise of developing into an outstanding middleweight.
