

RENO DIVORCES MAY BE VOID, JUDGE WARNS

Injunction Against Husband
Issued by Illinois
Court.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Illinois residents were warned by Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort today that divorces obtained in Reno courts might be held invalid here.

The warning was served when Judge Desort issued an injunction to restrain Joseph L. Sylvan, father of six minor children, from obtaining a Reno divorce from Edith Sylvan whom he married twenty-one years ago. The injunction was asked in Mrs. Sylvan's suit for separate maintenance.

Judge Desort said "the mass of precedent created by the supreme court of Illinois" made the injunction justifiable.

"If the grounds in Nevada were

Three 'Cracked'

Three alleged "cracker bandits" were arrested early today by deputy sheriffs on petit larceny charges.

Those held are: Morris Fogelman, 18, of 1030 Walden street; Paul Yeagly, 18, of 702 South Inglen Avenue, and James Jester, 21, of 5431 West Washington street.

Deputies alleged the trio stole eleven boxes of crackers from an A. & P. truck.

the same as those of Illinois," he said, "the defendant, according to the complaint, could not obtain a decree of divorce."

"He has left the jurisdiction of his state for the sole object of evading its laws and depriving his wife and children of the opportunity of protecting their interests, which they could do were action brought here."

Pioneer Woman Dies

KENDALLVILLE, Ind., June 4.—Funeral services were held today for Mrs. Mary Jane Humphreys, 94, who died after a six months' illness. She had been a member of the Methodist church seventy-eight years and a resident here more than half a century.

COLONEL HOUSE LEND'S HIS AID TO ROOSEVELT

Famous Texan Once More
Is Taking Big Part in National Politics.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Seeking to obtain the Democratic presidential nomination for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, Colonel Edward M. House, once more has entered national politics, according to a copyrighted story published today by the New York Herald-Tribune.

The one-time intimate adviser of the late President Woodrow Wilson, who has taken no part in national politics since the campaign of 1916, when Wilson was re-elected, was quoted as confirming his re-entry and saying:

"The only reason is because of my admiration for Roosevelt, and further, because of my belief in a Democratic victory.

"I am for him (Roosevelt) personally and politically, because he was a part of the Wilson administration and, further, because it seems to me that the Republicans want any Democrat nominated that has been mentioned rather than Roosevelt."

"Therefore, it leads me to believe that they consider him, as I do, our strongest and most available candidate."

The Herald-Tribune said persons close to Governor Roosevelt had been aware of House's intentions for some time and that Roosevelt had been on friendly terms with him, highly valuing his political acumen and advice.

Colonel House never has held political office, but he managed the campaigns of three Governors of Texas—his home state—and, following the assistance he gave to nominate and elect Wilson to the presidency, he became a mysterious and potent behind-the-scenes figure.

There was at last a break with Wilson, never explained by either party, and for years House has lived in a semi-retirement which generally had been considered permanent.

In 1930 there were 116,670 federal and state prisoners in the United States.

POINTS TO NEW VISION IN LAW

Justice Martin Is Speaker at Commencement.

Pleading for a new vision in law, which would not limit its science solely to decisions of the past, Clarence R. Martin, chief justice of the supreme court, pointed out Wednesday night that on the legal profession rests most heavily the burden of the public and the public's question.

Judge Martin made his plea at the alumni association banquet of the Indiana law school at the Claypool, preceding the thirty-sixth annual commencement exercises.

"The task of the lawyer ever has been difficult and never have the difficulties been greater than now," he said. "The extraordinary legal problems arising from new and rapidly changing conditions challenge the genius, originality, and patriotism of the American lawyer."

George O. Dix, Terre Haute, was elected president of the association; Judge John W. Craig, Greensburg, vice-president, and Samuel E. Gar-

ELKS TO PRESENT CHILDREN'S CIRCUS

Unfortunate in Hospitals,
Charity Homes to See
Acts.

Circus days are coming to children confined in charity institutions and hospitals here.

From Monday to Wednesday they will be the guests of honor at the two daily performances of the Robins circus which is to be presented by the Indianapolis Lodge of Elks at the Keystone and English avenues circus grounds.

Children of the James Whitcomb

Riley hospital will have the circus brought to their door Monday morning at 10 when acts will be staged on the hospital lawn.

Tuesday, children from orphan's homes, board of children's guardians home and day nursery will visit the grounds. School traffic officers from city and county schools will see the circus Wednesday.

Proceeds of the performances will be turned into the Elks charity fund to be used in purchase of baskets at Christmas and for general relief work of the lodge.

HINT OTTO WILL BE BALKAN KING

Hapsburg Rule in Hungary
Thought Probable.

PARIS, June 4.—Restoration of the Hapsburgs in Hungary, with the young Archduke Otto as king, is being discussed in France today as one of the probabilities of a peaceable settlement in the Balkans.

The Austro-German economic union, which is believed to envisage the eventual inclusion of all the Central Empire states, has not overlooked Hungary, from whom important grain products can be obtained for reciprocal industrial exports.

The economic agreements, however, had the contrary effect on Hungary, and its announcement was received with some alarm in Budapest.
