Bear Eats

By United Press
CHICAGO, June 9.—When John L. Sullivan complained to police that Ruel Siegel's pet bear cub had "chewed him up," Siegel defended the bear by explaining that Sullivan was feeding the cub and that "Brownie," the bear, merely mistook Sullivan's finger for a peanut. The police referred the case to the dog pound, which referred it to the health department, which still has it.

State banking commissioner, will follow Earl H. Crawford's discussion of "A Banker-Legislator's View-point," with additional observations on banking laws.

Count Anton Carlson, president of the Norway-Sweden Bankers' Association, will speak after dinner on banking conditions there, and Dr. W. K. Klehofer, Madison, professor of economics at Wisconsin university, will lecture on "Our Economic Interdependence."

One station will be constructed on the site of old Station 19 at Morris and Harding, which was abandoned several weeks ago as too dangerous for occupancy. Temporary quarters nearby have been obtained.

Both stations will be located in the Butler university district, which now is without adequate fire protection, according to Charles R. Myers, safety board president.

The third would be in the vicinity of Central avenue and Eleventh street.
