On these hot summer days, Miss Sarahanna Adams (left) and her house guest, Miss Virginia Hamilton, Chicago, are content to lounge, in pajamas, on the shady veranda of the Adams home, 4936 North Meridian street. Don and Happy, two Cocker spaniels, seem very happy to stay at home with such lovely playmates. Miss Adams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ray Adams, and just graduated from Tudor Hall school, where she was president of the class.

Historic Creek Canyon Site of Camp Fire Girls' Retreat

Camping among the beautiful scenery and peaceful quietude of McCormick's Creek canyon is in reality a midsummer's night dream. And that is where Camp Talahi, Camp Fire Girls summer camp is located. It is one of the most historical and scenic spots of Indiana.

The building, a dining hall, director's cabin and two sleeping cabins, each accommodating more than forty girls at a time, were constructed by the state especially for the Camp Fire Girls. The dining hall has a seating capacity of eighty or more. In one end by the great fireplace the girls have tables and chairs, where they write their letters home and where they read from the large supply of books which are arranged on built-in shelves halfway around the cabin.

Pool Best in State.
The swimming is one of the best in Indiana. The girls take a morning dip at 6:45 and again an hour before dinner.

The director's cabin has been constructed from material taken from a pioneer cabin built near Adel, Owen county, known as the John Carpenter cabin. The stone fireplace in the dining hall originally was in the same structure. The old Johnny Carpenter cabin was built in the year of 1837 by John and Peter Carpenter.

Camp Talahi, meaning "among the trees," has the open door symbol indicating friendliness and hospitality. It was chosen by the state department.

Miss Cora Puckett of Hornell, N. Y., is director. She has directed camps in Wichita, Kan.; El Paso, Tex., and more recently in Atlanta. She is directing camp in the absence of Miss Helen Nichols, executive secretary.

Stunt Night Each Week
Miss Ruth Pahud is swimming instructor. She taught swimming in the Girl Scout camp for three years. She also teaches archery and games. Miss Pahud is a student of Butler university. Miss Kathleen Klaiber, dramatic instructor of Camp Fire Girls for the last year, teaches dramatics at camp. She is skilled in the art of makeup, dances and skits and dramatics of all kinds.

Girls have stunt night at camp each week with Miss Klaiber in charge. Miss Louise Reiter, teacher in handcraft, is on the staff at Shortridge high school. She is teaching hat and basket weaving, glorified glass, blue printing, smoke printing and spatter printing.

Miss Ruth Gordon Scott is teacher of camp craft and also directs singing and is assistant swimming instructor. She is a student of Franklin college and has many years of camping to her credit.

Nature Hikes Conducted
Miss Clara Moore, teacher of nature craft, is a member of the Nature Study Club and has dealt extensively in all kinds of nature craft for the last several years. She is teaching bird, tree and flower study, also conducting nature hikes in unison.

MARRIED TODAY
Miss Maxine Burger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burger, Goodland, Ind., and George H. Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Fisher, were married at 11:30 this morning at the Second Presbyterian church by the Rev. Jean S. Miller.

The bride, unattended, wore a brown and white crepe ensemble, with brown and white accessories. Following a breakfast at the Ethelene tea room, the couple left on a motor trip. They will make their home in Milwaukee.

Mrs. Fisher attended Indiana university and is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Mr. Fisher is a graduate of Case college in Cleveland.

Mrs. Fisher has made her home in Indianapolis with her aunt, Mrs. Mae Houser, 108 East Thirtieth street.

Marriage of City Girl Is Solemnized

Marriage of Miss Charlotte Reissner and Harrison Smitson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smitson, Tip-ton, will be solemnized tonight in a ceremony to be performed at 8:30 at Tabernacle Presbyterian church, by the Rev. J. Ambrose Dunkel.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Reissner, 3925 North Delaware street.

The altar in a setting of greenery, will be flanked on each side with cathedral candles in seven-branch candelabra. A fifteen-branch candelabra will form a background for a low plateau of pink roses and delphinium in the center.

Paul Matthews, organist, and Miss Margaret Harrison, violinist, will play, and Mrs. Leo Rappaport will sing. During the ceremony, "Theta Prayer" will be played.

Robert Ford Best Man

Mrs. Louis Hensley will be her sister's maid of honor. She will wear a gown of pastel pink French ensemble lace, with square neckline in front, ending in a low point at the back. A knotted satin sash of aquamarine blue is tied in a flat bow at the left side, and falls in streamers. She will wear lace mitts, and carry deep pink roses.

Mrs. Howard Fieber and Miss Beatrice Moore will be bridesmaids. Both will wear gowns of aquamarine blue, fashioned as Mrs. Hensley's. Mrs. Fieber's sash will be of pink, and Miss Moore's, blue. Mrs. Fieber will carry pale pink roses, and Miss Moore, bluish pink.

Robert Ford will be best man, and ushers will be Howard Kemper, Turpin Davis, Frank L. Reissner Jr. and Louis Hensley.

Veil an Heirloom

The bride, whose father will escort her to the altar, will wear a gown of ivory satin with a yoke of Duchess lace. The sleeves are lace to the elbow, where the satin comes up in a point, and is buttoned to the wrist. The dress is fitted to below the hips and flares, sweeping into a long train.

Her veil is an heirloom, and has been worn by her sister, Mrs. Hensley, and her cousin, Mrs. Deryl Cuse. It is made with a cap of duchess lace, with a wide panel of lace down the center of the veil, and edging it. She will carry bluish pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Reception After Rite
A reception will be held at the Reissner home following the ceremony. Mrs. Reissner will wear a gown of blue tulle with a yoke of white lace, and a shoulder corsage of roses.

This couple will motor east for a honeymoon, the bride traveling in a brown and white ensemble with brown and white accessories and carry a silver fox scarf. They will be at home at 327 North West street, Tip-ton, Ind.

Both are Butler university graduates. The bride is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and the bridegroom, of Phi Delta Theta.
