

JIM WATSON IN SCRAMBLE FOR SENATE GAVEL

Eyes Vice-Presidency With Belief Curtis Will Seek Floor Seat, Rumor.

BY RAY TUCKER
Times Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 15.—A general scramble for the Republican vice-presidential nomination is expected to result from reports that Vice-President Curtis has informed President Hoover he will seek his old senate seat instead of running as Hoover's partner in the 1932 campaign.

Although Curtis insists he will not make up his mind until fall, his friends insist that he said political farewell to Hoover during the two men's conference on the Rapidan last week-end.

Indeed, Senate Leader James E. Watson (Rep., Ind.) is said to be so sure Curtis will run for a place on the floor instead of the rostrum that he has already begun a quiet campaign for nomination in Curtis' place.

Others mentioned are Governor Theodore Roosevelt of Porto Rico, Senator Morrow (Rep., N. J.), and Patrick J. Hurley of Oklahoma, secretary of war.

Every effort will be made by administration strategists to deny and conceal the fact that Curtis is on the point of quitting, for any announcement to that effect would be interpreted that the Kansas thinks the administration ship is about to sink.

It would be all the more significant because Curtis recently has toured Kansas and near by states in an effort to discover just what conditions were.

What he found there led him to make demands that the farm board adopt different policies to increase the price of wheat and other products.

Watson, strangely enough, believes that he is doomed for sure defeat in the senatorial race in Indiana, political and economic conditions there being pretty bad, and apparently prefers to take a chance on riding in with Hoover. He, like Curtis, was a vice-presidential hopeful in 1928, and would like to close his career by presiding over the senate.

"It's harder to be good today than fifty years ago, but our young people are just as good," said Mrs. Frances E. She explained that the good things are played down and the bad things are publicized.

EAGLES' DRIVE TO AID BLIND

Identification by Cane Aim of State Campaign.

Carrying of white canes by the blind as a protective and identifying mark is the object of a statewide campaign announced today by A. J. Voigt, trustee of the Indianapolis Aerie Fraternal Order of Eagles. The Indiana aerie adopted a resolution favoring the plan at its state convention in Peru a month ago.

A still broader campaign will be proposed at the national convention of the Eagles, which will be held in Toledo, O., the week of Aug. 10, when support for a nation-wide drive will be asked.

The Indianapolis Times started the state campaign today with a contribution of $25. It is estimated there are 500 blind in the city and about 2,300 in the state. The canes can be provided at an approximate cost of 75 cents each.

POLICE PINCH TWO ACCUSED OF BANDITRY

Pair Is Caught in Wild Chase Over Streets on West Side.

Halted in flight by police guns, two alleged filling station bandits, one of them a youth, are held today on auto banditry and vehicle taking charges.

They are Russell Melton, 16, of 831 Church street, and William Parham, 31, of 804½ South Senate avenue, pursued over west side streets at sixty miles an hour late Tuesday. They are alleged to have robbed M. B. Hunt, attendant at a filling station at Sheffield avenue and Washington street.

Motor Patrolmen Herman Winnings and William Gillespie were passing when Hunt ran from the station and told them he had been robbed, giving a description of the bandits and their car.

Firing with a sawed-off shotgun, Winnings blasted a rear tire of the bandit car, the alleged highwaymen offering no resistance when the police car pulled alongside.

Hunt, who said $30 was taken from him, identified Parham as the alleged bandit who put the gun on him. Police said $30 was recovered from Parham. A weapon was not found on either of the alleged bandits.

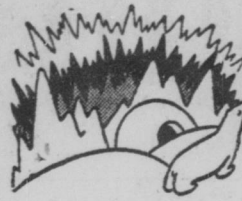

Looking Harry Smiley, 24, attendant at a filling station at Fifty-ninth street and Keystone avenue, in the lavatory, two gunmen Tuesday night fled with $31, ten gallons of gasoline and a quart of oil, he told deputy sheriffs. Police said the duo admitted stealing the auto.
