

POLICE BATTLE REDS IN BERLIN VOTE OUTBREAK

Three Are Known Dead
After Siege of Terror in German Capital.

BY FREDERICK KUIP,
United Press Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—Heavy police patrols sought to maintain order today after a night of terror in which Communists and police battled during riots in the streets of the capital.

The fighting broke out after returns in the plebiscite for dissolution of the Prussian diet showed the voters had rejected the extremist political parties' demands for disbandment of the diet. Casualties remained uncertain, but it was known that two police officers and at least one demonstrator had been killed and fifteen others were in hospitals suffering from severe wounds. A statement by the Prussian government that twelve other Communists had been killed was later corrected with an announcement that the number of casualties was uncertain.

Raid Communist Meeting

The Communist battle broke out in Buelow Platz, after a day of comparative calm during which voters went to the polls in Prussia and delivered an overwhelming defeat to the Fascist, Communist and Nationalist parties on the diet dissolution plebiscite.

Trouble started when police raided a Communist meeting near Buelow Platz in the afternoon. Demonstrators were rushed to the battle area; barricades were laid down around houses whence Communist fire had come. The shooting began at 8:30 p. m. It continued sporadically until midnight with occasional bursts of serious fighting. Police gradually gained control of the situation and the district became quiet before morning.

Red Snipers Fire

A reward of 3,000 marks (about $750) was offered by Police Chief Gratzinski for apprehension of the men who killed the two police captains.

Police in trucks, supported by armored cars, rumbled through the streets. They fired frequently into windows or at objects on roofs where Communist snipers were hidden. The street in front of the Communist headquarters was crowded with police, many armed with rifles.

The police raid on a Communist meeting in a music hall near Buelow Platz started the disorders. About 1,000 Communists were forced to raise their hands above their heads and march to police headquarters, where they were searched for arms. A minor riot followed and was rapidly followed by an outbreak of gunfire.

Rages for Hours

The streets cleared in an instant. People hysterically dashed for shelter. Communists dashed into houses around the Buelow Platz, which they barricaded and opened fire on the police. The battle raged for hours unchecked. Revolvers and rifles were used by both sides. The Communists carried their wounded away as rapidly as possible.

Final returns in the unsuccessful plebiscite for dissolution of the Prussian diet were: In favor of dissolution, 9,793,328; against, 362,885. The number of votes required to force dissolution was 13,449,500. The comparatively small number of voters opposing dissolution was explained by the fact that the majority of those against it simply did not vote rather than trouble to go to the polls. Their boycott was just as effective as a vote.

LINDBERGH AWAITS BETTER WEATHER; 'DINE' OUT OF CANS

Flier and Wife Eat Unbuttered Bread When Supply Boat Fails to Arrive; Enjoy
Point Barrow Visit.

POINT BARROW, Alaska, Aug. 10.—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh ate bread without butter and food out of cans as they rested today at the northernmost tip of America, awaiting clear weather to continue their 7,000-mile vacation flight to the Orient.

Declaring they liked the settlement and were not irked by the delay, the Lindberghs attended church Sunday, visited about among the villagers, and, admittedly, got a little bit homesick when they saw a white baby who reminded them of their own Charles Jr.

Their low-winged, monocoque-equipped monoplane, in perfect condition and with sufficient fuel in its tanks for the next leg of their flight, rode easily on a nearby river.

Although the United States coast guard cutter Northland had failed to reach the point with a supply of gasoline as planned, Lindbergh said he had enough fuel for the 525-mile flight to Nome.

The Northland was storm and fog bound near Icy Cape, 150 miles down the rugged coast line. Failure of the ship to arrive was the explanation given by the fliers' hosts for the lack of butter and fresh foods, as well as gasoline.

Lindbergh said that on the flight to Nome he might land in the sea at the side of the Northland and pick up a supply of gasoline before going on to Nome, but that if the sea was choppy he would not attempt it.

Although the air was quite chilly here and clouds frequently blotted out the Arctic sun, which at this season provides light almost twenty-four hours a day, the weather was not as bad as reported at Nome.

DOWN CUBAN REBELS

Havana Under Martial Law
After Rebel Outbreak.

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 10.—Martial law prevailed in Havana today, after police and loyal troops suppressed another outbreak against the regime headed by President Gerardo Machado.

The authorities captured an insurgent arsenal after a sharp battle. Two men and a woman were killed in the fighting. Seven police were wounded. Two were expected to die.

A state of seige—martial law—was declared in the Havana district and in the province of Pinar del Rio. Loyal troops were concentrated to frustrate a purported rebel mobilization scheme.

The government issued a communique announcing suppression of the insurgents at the arsenal and declaring the authorities were ready and capable of putting down uprisings.

Hemorrhoids

How to End Painful Piles Without Salves or Cutting.

Piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the affected parts. The parts become weak, flabby, almost dead. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves and suppositories fail. Dr. Leonard's prescription, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it removes congestion, restores circulation, heals and strengthens the diseased parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record of quickly ending even piles without surgery, that HOOK'S Dependable Drug Stores say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back—Advertisement.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The federal power commission today began an intensive inquiry which it hopes will yield a true picture of the electric utility industry and its maze of pyramided and intertwining holding and operating companies.

Oh the best things in life are free

free wheeling

I'd pay several cents a mile extra for that Free Wheeling sensation in my Studebaker—if I had to.

But the joke is, it doesn't cost money—it saves money.

A Studebaker is swell when running along with the motor engaged, but it is those moments of momentum—those miles of Free Wheeling—which give me my grandest thrills . . . and these don't cost—they PAY.

I sail along, manufacturing miles and money!

About one mile in seven or six or five is free—because you save from a seventh to a fifth of your gas and oil.

Seems to me ridiculous to buy a car without Free Wheeling—when you can get a real Free Wheeling Studebaker for $845.

This is the lowest priced Six with Free Wheeling as standard equipment engineered from tip to tail to give you the fullest benefits of Free Wheeling in its finest form.

Screen Actress Bankrupt, but Determined to 'Square Up.'

By United Press

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10.—Mary Nolan, screen actress, bankrupt in New York, has returned to Hollywood vowing she will pay back every penny she owes, through her own hard work.

"I went bankrupt as a financial venture, although I didn't want to," the actress said today.

She added that her liabilities were only $52,000, instead of the reported $93,000.

Miss Nolan's obligations were the result of her effort to support relatives as well as herself, she said.

Before entering motion pictures, Miss Nolan was known on the Broadway stage as Imogene Wilson.

GIRL RETRACTS MURDER STORY

Blamed Suitor for Chum's
Death to End Grilling.

By United Press

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 10.—Glenda King, who was with Louis Palmer on the night of July 20 when he was slain, was arrested early today after she had repudiated a statement made late Sunday night naming Floyd Spears, a rejected suitor, as the killer.

"He didn't have anything to do with it," the girl sobbed. "I just told them that story to get away from the questions they had pounded at me for almost a day and a night."

Sheriff Robert H. Jackson who arrested Miss King Saturday and held her for nine hours of questioning, immediately ordered her re-arrested.

"My original story was true," the girl cried. "Some one I never saw before, a short, heavyset man in overalls, came up to the car where we were parked in Prospect Lake Park and killed Louis and attacked me."

"I couldn't stand the questioning any longer, I had to tell something."

Spears already had been arrested and had denied implication in the crime. He was held, however, pending the eventual unravelling of the girl's story, despite his statement, and that of the Colorado Springs police, that he had an "iron-clad alibi."
