

OGDEN'S OFFICE TO GIVE TRUCK BUYING RULING

Replacement Plan, in Force for Years, Is Subject of Legal Study.

As Attorney General James M. Ogden today mused over the possibility of his office having been used for "buck-passing" by the state highway commission, a deputy prepared an opinion as to whether the commission can purchase trucks on a replacement plan.

The opinion, expected to be ready Saturday, is of interest to the thirty-nine truckmen who took the commission seriously when they advertised for a fleet of 100 or more trucks.

Some of the veteran bidders pointed out that the replacement plan has been in use for years. One company has had its attorneys look up the law and found it legal, they declared.

May Face the Music

Should the attorney-general find it so, it will mean the commission will have to face the music for wasting the bidders' time and money or buy some trucks. It was Governor Harry G. Leslie who changed their minds about the matter and called a halt to the truck purchase.

Ogden expressed amazement when the commission unemployment relief plan financing was announced by Chairman Albert J. Wedeking as being based on the attorney-general's opinion. A quotation was used from an opinion Ogden gave the commission April 11, 1930, to justify this contention.

Different Subject Matter

The opinion dealt with entirely different subject matter and did not go directly to the question of the use of the present unexpired balance in the maintenance fund, which is to be used to finance the unemployment program.

Truckmen were informed today that out of the proposed $600,000 to be spent for trucks and road making equipment, the commission had bought but $43,744.30 worth.

The list included seventeen scrapers, ten rollers, four main-tainers, four wheel tractors, three crawler tractors, eighteen tar kets and one mud jack.

NEEDY RELIEF GRAFT HINTED AS QUIZ BEGINS

Charge Lawrence Grocer Is Fixing Board's Prices for His Products.

County Prosecutor Herbert E. Wilson started an investigation today into charges that a Lawrence township advisory board member has been violating the law by selling poor relief supplies, prices of which he helps fix as board member.

Wilson announced he would make a detailed study of the case, to determine whether criminal action will be taken against George Herr, the advisory board member.

Disclosure that Herr, a Castleton grocer, has been providing all relief supplies for the poor of that town has aroused much comment at the courthouse.

Henry T. Van Cleave, township trustee, declared today that Herr had told him he had not been connected with the store for the last two years.

Van Cleave expected to confer with Prosecutor Wilson and the state board of accounts in connection with the case today.

The trustee offered the contract Thursday to Thomas Helms and other Castleton grocers, Van Cleave said.

A statement by Van Cleave, following the disclosure, "that other grocers had refused the contract, and he had given it to Herr," was refuted by three grocers.

Van Cleave did not indicate whether he would remove J. T. Plummer, a Lawrence grocer, and brother of Carl Plummer, advisory board member, from providing relief supplies.

Wilson said he would investigate and "if facts warrant prosecution, they would be turned over to the United States in the next Polish quota."
