

STOLE TO EAT; BAKER SHOWS YOUTH MERCY

Frees Orphan, 16, and Gives Him All Change He Has in Pockets.

"Yes, sir, I'm awful thankful—that judge sure is a fine fellow!" In this boyish fashion, a 16-year-old orphan boy, who was tempted and stole, walked from the Marion criminal court today, acclaiming that all Hoosier justice is not gone. Just two months ago 13-year-old John Tooley, Princeton, could not have breathed words like these—when he was "exiled" by a Gibson county judge for stealing $2 worth of blacksmith's tools.

Today, Richard Harris, of 1708 Blaine avenue, was spared a prison sentence by a judge who gave him 95 cents for food and decreed: "Richard, my son, you're free. Go make a man of yourself."

Says Hunger Drove Him "Hunger drove me to breaking into a confectionary, Judge, your honor," Richard confessed, tears in his blue eyes.

This admission led Judge Frank P. Baker to weave, piece by piece, the sorrowful story of Richard's life, by questioning the lad. This unusual story merited sympathy by its own facts. The judge thought so and gave his youthful prisoner all the pocket change he had.

This is Richard's story: "My mother died when I was 4; by father when I was 12... a home was shattered... I was alone in the world... with only one home, which father had owned."

"I rented part of the house for $7 a month and lived on that rent until a few months ago."

The Rent Stopped "The depression came, the rent stopped and I faced hunger. I didn't want to beg... the confectionary seemed an easy way and I stole food."

Judge Baker said: "Now, Richard, come back and see me in a few days—our court charity fund may have some more money for you." Meanwhile, the judge is writing Miss Hannah Noone, township trustee, a letter to obtain further help for the boy. And reporters, court attaches and others who were in court this morning are hoping that: "Never again will Richard steal because he is hungry."

MOTORISTS FIRED ON BY PHANTOM SNIPERS

Police Ordered to Keep Lookout for Gunmen at City Elevations.

Police squads today were ordered to keep lookout for phantom gunmen who without apparent reason sniped at two motorists beneath railroad elevations here Thursday. Mrs. Mabel Burton, 1372 South Sheffield avenue, said when she drove beneath tracks on Kentucky avenue a bullet shattered her windshield. She saw a black coupe speed away and believed the shot came from it.

James T. Black, an hospital attaché at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, said a similar attack was made on his car beneath the Tenth street and Massachusetts avenue elevation, but reported there was no one in sight.

By United Press GENEVA, Ill., Sept. 4.—Charges that her husband's affections were alienated by her wealthy, 65-year-old stepmother, were made today in a suit filed by Mrs. Emma Frankie Champan Abbott of Massapequa, L. I.

Mrs. Abbott, a former New York stage star, filed the charges in the Kane county circuit court against Mrs. Minnie W. Chapman of Aurora. She charged Mrs. Chapman with alienating the affections of George S. Abbott, New York theatrical manager and producer, to whom she was married in 1895. She asked $50,000 damages. Mrs. Abbott was the only daughter of the late Matthew T. Chapman, who left a fortune of $750,000 when he died in 1921.

DRUNKEN YOUTH ROUTS THREE FROM HOMES

Flees Before Police Arrive, But Identity Is Obtained.

A north side youth who, in his drunken moments, battered down a door and forced three persons to flee from their residence early today, was the object of a police search today.

Mrs. Katherine Laverse, Apt. 6, 709 Ft. Wayne avenue, told officers the youth attempted to enter her apartment and that when refused admission he broke in the door. Harry Hardesty, roomer, said he attempted to oust the young man, but the latter struck him several times.

Hardesty, Mrs. Laverse, and Miss Lillian Bauder, another roomer, were forced to flee, clad in sleeping garments, from the house, pending arrival of police.

The youth escaped before police arrived, but his identity has been learned, police said.
