

RITCHIE SLAPS AT ROOSEVELT'S UTILITY STAND

Speech Seen As Attempt to Head Off Race for Presidency.

By Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Governor Albert C. Ritchie's Atlantic City address assailing government ownership of public utilities was regarded by politicians here today as the start of a definite movement by certain Democrats to head off Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, in the latter's flying race for the presidential nomination.

Ritchie's thinly veiled criticism of his rival's power views and Roosevelt's desire to subordinate prohibition to economic issues commanded great interest because he (Ritchie) is reported as the second choice of the conservative wing of the party.

After Owen D. Young, and possibly Al Smith, the Maryland Governor is believed to be most satisfactory to the group headed by John J. Raskob, national chairman, a fellow-Marylander.

Speech Is Challenged
To the politicians Ritchie's speech stands as a frank and direct challenge of Roosevelt's views, which appeal to progressives in both parties.

Meanwhile, Democrats are looking forward to the address Newton D. Baker of Ohio is scheduled to make before the American Legion convention at Detroit next week, and wondering whether he will raise a lightning rod, and how. He is generally regarded as second to Roosevelt in the Democratic race, with Ritchie in the role of a possible compromise candidate.

Although Ritchie did not mention Roosevelt by name, he came near it. He denounced the New York Governor's public utility theories as well as Roosevelt's known desire to subordinate prohibition to economic questions.

Aims at Backers
Ritchie turned his direct fire on the men who either endorse or sympathize with Roosevelt's attitude, Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska progressive, and Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania. Norris has indicated he might support Roosevelt, if nominated, in preference to Hoover, and Pinchot joined with the New York Governor in denouncing public utilities practices at the recent French Lick conference of state executives.

Political tongues were also set to wagging by Ritchie's praise of Young's ideas of managing a private corporation. Politicians recalled that this makes the second time Ritchie has made a flattering reference to Young. In his inaugural address last winter Ritchie endorsed the General Electric Company's system of an unemployment reserve, and referred with seeming sarcasm to prominent Democrats who have become belated converts to prohibition.

Ritchie Followers Concerned
Friends of free lance and favorite son candidates have recently begun to express uneasiness over Roosevelt's apparent lead in the race, and the publicity his candidacy is receiving. It is their fear that the New York Governor will get so far out in front there will be no stopping him. Ritchie's admirers have been especially concerned, they feel it is now or never for their handsome idol.

Except for Baker, who fought for public ownership and operation as an official in Cleveland, the leading candidates for the Democratic nomination have now made clear their views on power.

Young and Ritchie are for private operation, Smith for construction of generating plants by the state and sale of electricity to private companies under contract.

Roosevelt's program is similar to Smith's, with the additional proposal that, if "satisfactory" contracts can not be negotiated, the state should deliver power to cities and counties.

START MOVE TO BARE 'LOST' MOONEY REPORT

Congress to Be Asked to Aid in Producing Wickersham Verdict.
By Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Thomas D. Schall, Republican, of Minnesota will offer a resolution as soon as congress meets requesting President Herbert Hoover to produce for the senate the missing Wickersham report on the Mooney-Billings case.

The report, prepared for the Wickersham subcommittee on "lawlessness in law enforcement," is a 600-page description of the San Francisco trials of 1916-17. It was written by Walter H. Pollak and Carl Stern, New York lawyers.

The Mooney-Billings case, although suppressed by Chairman Wickersham and others of the commission, has been printed in full. It now reposes in the vaults of the White House, whether it was moved along with other confidential matter, when the Wickersham commission finally disbanded last month.

AMATEUR CRITICS TO BE REWARDED

Cash Prizes Will Be Given for Best Reviews of 'Street Scene.'

"Gee, I could write a better review of that picture myself."

How often have you said that to yourself upon reading what one of the professional reviewers wrote about some motion picture you had seen?

How many times have you wished that some newspaper would give you a chance to put down, in black and white, your opinion about some screen classic?

Well, here is your chance—an opportunity for you to write a review and, if it is good enough, get it published and win a prize.

For The Times decided to see how many of its readers can write a good motion picture review. Beginning next Monday, it will print one or more reviews each day, paying cash money for every review published. And on Friday, it will give the following prizes for the best reviews submitted to it: First, $10; second, $5; third, $3; fourth, $2, and for the next five reviews, The Times will pay $1 each. In addition, ten pairs of guest tickets will be awarded to other amateur critics entitled to awards.

This attractive contest has been made possible through co-operation of Loew's Palace theater, where, beginning Saturday, Samuel Goldwyn's picture of Elmer Rice's Pulitzer Prize play, "Street Scene," the latest United Artists production, will be shown.

"Street Scene," which Elmer Rice himself adapted for the talking screen following a record run on Broadway of over two years as a stage play, is in every sense an unusual photoplay. All the sensational events of a life-time are crowded in from sunset to sunset; life, love, hate and death are the basis of this epic of a great city.

This contest is open to everyone, irrespective of age and occupation, except employees of The Times, Loew's Palace theater, United Artists Corporation, and members of their families.

Reviews must be legibly written on one side of the paper and must not exceed 100 words in length and must be addressed to the "Street Scene" Review Editor, Indianapolis Times, Indianapolis, Ind.

No review can be returned. The decision of the judges shall be final.

Avoid thin hair! .. get rid of DANDRUFF

When loose dandruff gets the upper hand, hair begins to fall out. Baldness often follows.

A quick pleasant treatment for a dandruff condition is full strength Listerine, used systematically several days. You simply douse it on the scalp full strength and massage vigorously, using a little castor or olive oil when scalp or hair is excessively dry. Keep this treatment up for several days. You will be amazed at the quick improvement.

If infection is present on the surface of the skin, Listerine attacks it. A powerful germicide, it kills bacteria in 15 seconds, the fastest killing time accurately recorded by science.

Listerine helps to dissolve oily crusts and quickly removes them, as well as horny scales. And Listerine quickly relieves that burning, itching sensation. It soothes inflamed or irritated areas of the scalp.

If scalp is excessively dry, a little olive oil may be used in connection with the Listerine shampoo, or independent of it. The oil aids in dissolving crusts and scales and keeps hair from drying out. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Missouri, U. S. A.

The Safe Antiseptic LISTERINE kills 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds
