

SAFE IS CARTED OFF, LOOTED OF $400 BY YEGGS

Gunwoman and Mate Again Are Active; Grocery Employees Held Up.

Dragging a safe from the Walgreen drug store, Thirty-fourth and Pennsylvania streets, for nearly a block before they loaded it on a truck, yeggs early today escaped with $400.

This was one of a series of safe crackings and holdups that swept Indianapolis over the week-end. The yeggs limited the front door of the pharmacy to enter. They trussed a rope around the strongbox and from marks discovered by Sergeant Clifford Richter hauled the safe across Thirty-fourth street and down an alley in the rear of 3333 North Pennsylvania where it was placed on the truck.

Police say the yeggs are the same who loaded another north side pharmacy safe on a truck several days ago, obtaining $11,000 in bonds and currency.

$50 in Merchandise

R. T. Walrod, 1521 West Vermont street, manager of the store, told police the safe also contained $50 in merchandise.

Second victim of a gunman and gunwoman, who have been operating on north side streets, was robbed of $7 Sunday night.

Noble Bretzman, 3952 Sutherland avenue, told police he had stopped for a traffic signal at Sixteenth street and Central avenue, when the man and woman entered his auto. Training revolvers on him they forced him to drive to New Jersey and Thirteenth streets, he told police.

After searching him they ordered him to "beat it."

Saturday night the duo took Lewis Held, 17, of 128 West Twenty-seventh street, for a ride in his own car. They entered the auto at Noble street and Massachusetts avenue, robbed him of $9 and ordered him to let them out at Thirteenth and Delaware streets.

Hold Up Grocery

Two gunmen obtained $312 Saturday night when they robbed Bert Risk, 25, and Francis Nolte, employees of a Standard grocery at 2154 College avenue.

The store employees were getting in their car when the bandits put guns on them. The bandits fled in another auto.

Two safes withstood batterings of yeggs over the week-end, according to reports to police.

Safe crackers battered the vault at Bertram Bros., florists, 241 Massachusetts avenue, but failed to obtain any loot, police said.

The strong box of the Great American Tea Company, 1233 North Meridian street, was battered, but yeggs failed to open the inner vault, police were told.

Report $80 Loss

Thieves who entered the Elsmann Service Company, 401 North Capitol avenue, obtained $80, according to police reports.

An unlocked safe in the store operated by Burl Finch, 150 South Senate avenue, yielded $50 to burglars, Finch reported to police.

Other robberies reported: R. W. Thompson, grocery, 101 and Servey roads, $156 in merchandise; Julius Means, 25, of 1944 North Ohio street, $8; Albert Reed, 35, of 1431 West Twenty-fourth street, garage loaded of clothing valued at $80; Joseph French, 40, of 1809 Central avenue, $9; Mrs. Charles Riddle, 1409 Broadway, $30; Claude Butte, 537 Virginia avenue, $40; Arthur Dial, Bloomington, marked car loaded $100; Mrs. Harman and Millie Washam, 537 Harman avenue, watch valued at $37.

Survey of Planning Beautification on Annual Program.

By United Press

DETROIT, Oct. 5.—The American Civic Association was to open its fifth annual traveling meeting today, with civic leaders from all parts of the country in attendance. The meeting will continue until Thursday.

Delegates will visit those places in the city which best represent the accomplishments in city and regional planning. These include a tour of Wayne county parks, Bloomfield Hills, Grosse Pointe, with visits to the gardens of Edsel Ford and others, and Greenfield village and the Ford gardens in Dearborn.

The association will discuss country roads, nation at home, designs and art, roadside improvement and architecture and landscape design in city planning.

NABS BOOTLEG SUSPECT

Negro Tells Sergeant Poverty Forced Him to Make Booze.

There is a species of bird that, it is said, never will return to its nest if some foreign being has disturbed it. Walter Harris, 35, Negro, 2151 Massachusetts avenue, should have taken an object lesson from this bird.

Sergeant John Eisenhut early Sunday confiscated a five-gallon still and a quantity of whisky and home brew in Harris' home, but Harris was not at home.

Today Sergeant Eisenhut went back and found Harris there, arresting him on a charge of operating a still. Harris told Eisenhut he had been out of work and made whisky to get a living.

LAY BLAME ON FIREBUG

Plywood Firm Is Swept by Flames; Damage Is Considerable.

Police today continued search for a Negro firebug suspected to having fired two buildings here over the week-end. A torch set fire to the Harbor Plywood Corporation, 915 North Davidson street, with considerable damage to the structure and stock. Estimate of the loss has not been completed.

Little damage was done in the second fire, at the home of Theodore R. Brown, rear of 926 East Eleventh street.

Westling Champion of the World for Forty Years—Milon of Croton, in ancient Greece, was wrestling champion of the world for four decades. Within that time he carried away the highest honors in wrestling in six Olympic games, seven Pythian, ten Isthmian and nine Nemean games. He was a man of almost legendary strength, and the feats credited to him tax belief. He finally found his master in a shepherd named Titormo, who bested him in an encounter on the banks of the river Fidiari, about the first half of the fifth century, B. C.

DESERTED CAMP GIVES CLEWS IN COLLINGS DEATH

Site Near Scene of Bay Murder Believed to Be Pirates' Lair.

By United Press

HUNTINGTON, L. I., Oct. 5.—New clues to the Collings yacht murder mystery have been uncovered by investigators for Suffolk county, who discovered what appears to be the spot where Benjamin P. Collings' murderers camped before the tragedy.

Felix Di Martini, special investigator, announced he stumped across an abandoned camp site at Winkle Point on Price's Bend, not more than a few thousand yards from the spot where the cabin cruiser Penguin was anchored the night of Sept. 9.

Among the clues found at the camp were:

Pieces of rope said to be similar to the rope with which Collings was tied and thrown overboard to drown. Knots in the rope were said to be the same kind as those used in tying the yachtman.

Tent Stakes Abandoned

Several empty milk bottles. It was recalled that Collings was struck on the head, apparently with a milk bottle, and suffered a skull fracture. Pieces of the bottle were found in the Penguin's cockpit. But the bottles at the camp were those of another dairy.

Bridgeport (Conn.) newspapers of July, August and September dates. Tent stakes, indicating the campers left in a hurry.

Virtually every other clue to the two "pirates" who kidnaped Mrs. Collings after the murder have proved of no value.

Widow Back From South

Mrs. Collings returned to her home in Stamford Sunday from Daytona Beach, Fla., where she had gone to view Dr. Leslie D. Ritchie, South Norwalk veterinarian, and his son William, who had been detained there when their names were mentioned in newspaper accounts of the story.

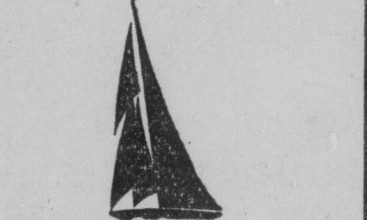

She picked the men out of a crowd at the Daytona Beach police station, from photographs she had seen in New York, but declared emphatically they were not the men who killed her husband.

FARMERS' GAS TAX 'RACKET' IS BARED IN STATE

Alleged False Affidavit for Refund Probed by Auditor.

Armed with an opinion from the attorney-general, Floyd E. Williamson, state auditor, today proceeded to halt a new variety of "farm relief" which, he says, is growing in Indiana.

It is the tendency of certain farmers to finance their fall tax payments and other expenditures through gasoline tax refunds, rather than the harvest sales.

According to Williamson he received an affidavit for refund of tax on 2,100 gallons from a Knox county farmer, who, investigation disclosed, had not purchased more than 300 gallons. The probe was conducted by Howard Rhea of the gasoline tax department in Williamson's office.

So an opinion was asked of Attorney-General James M. Ogden as to whether or not refund be allowed for true amounts consumed in agricultural operations, when a false affidavit is filed.

Ogden's answer sets out that it is not up to the state to separate the true from the false and that where errors in affidavits are disclosed the whole refund request should be turned down. The opinion also cites that the law against making such false statements provides for fines up to $1,000.

"This false refund business has got to stop," Williamson asserted today. "It is amazing to think how some farmers will be willing to face arrest for the sake of getting a few free dollars from the state."

"Why one farmer changed the date on an affidavit for a refund of 15 cents."

MOTHERHOOD IS LAUDED

"What America needs rather than battleships, military and financial greatness to save her is Christian motherhood," Dr. J. Ambrose Dunkel told 8,000 persons attending dedication services Sunday at Cadle tabernacle, which marked formal restoration of the tabernacle for religious and educational purposes.

"We always can find God in His house of worship. I never have been able to find Him at the end of a golf club or a fishing pole," the pastor declared.

Cadle tabernacle was named in honor of Mrs. Etta Cadle, mother of E. Howard Cadle. A large oil painting of Mrs. Cadle was unveiled Sunday.
