

SUPREME COURT RECONVENES IN 'LIBERAL MOOD'

Nation's Interest Centered on Sentiment Swing of High Bench.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Reconvening to begin its one hundred forty-second year of deliberations, the supreme court of the United States today was a center of perhaps greater public interest than on any similar occasion in recent years.

Lawyers, statesmen, politicians and business men, are looking forward to a session which may cast further light on a seeming realignment of the court.

This realignment became definitely apparent late last session. Those who follow the administration of governmental affairs became aware at that time that a change had taken place in the court all unnoticed by them.

Previously Justices Oliver Wendell Holmes and Louis D. Brandeis had achieved a reputation for writing vigorous dissenting "liberal" opinions. Now it was found that more frequently than not their views were the views of the majority.

Important Cases Pending

The change was brought about by the addition to the court's personnel of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and later of Justice Owen D. Roberts. Both has ascended the bench late in the 1929 term.

Joined by the votes of Holmes, the brand old and new of the bench, Brandeis, and, almost always, Justice Harlan Fiske Stone, a majority was formed that wrote opinions decidedly "liberal" on many subjects.

For the coming term, many cases have been brought in for review, which present thoroughly debatable questions of personal right and state powers. Cases of these types offer the greatest chance for dissension among the jurists.

From Texas come cases under which American citizens of Mexican extraction ask the court to stop racial discrimination in selections for jury service and race segregation in the public schools. Negroes in the same state have asked to be heard on their right to vote in the Democratic primaries.

Chain Store Taxes Up

Tax laws imposing special assessments on chain stores in several states will be reviewed. One of last year's most sharply divided opinions was written about such a statute enacted in Indiana.

The validity of laws enacted to control oil production in California and Oklahoma also will be submitted.

The court has had presented to it 400 cases for review thus far. Before the term expires it will have passed on more than a thousand cases in all probability.

The court, after an hour's session today devoted to admitting lawyers and receiving the cases filed during the summer, will adjourn and formally call on President Hoover to advise him it is ready to do business.

KIDNAPERS ARE FOILED AS BOYS SCREAM, RUN

Men Order Brothers Into Auto; No Motive for Attack.

Two small boys Saturday night thwarted a kidnapping attempt when they ran and screamed after two men attempted to force them into an automobile.

The boys, Warren, 10, and Walter Graeber, 9, of 121 North Arsenal avenue, told police they were en route to a grocery when the kidnappers' car stopped at Arsenal avenue and New York street.

The boys said the men ordered them to get into the auto, but they ran. Their father, Joseph Graeber, told police he knew of no motive for the attempt.

STAR STUDY ARRANGED

Nature Club to Use Indiana University Telescope, Oct. 10.

A study of the stars through the Indiana university telescope at Bloomington on Oct. 10, and a Halloween party at Camp Delight, will be the features of the October program of the Nature Study Club of Indiana.

The club will hold an open house at its cabins on Nov. 1. October open house was held Sunday together with a bird study hike. Other events planned are a woodcutting and clean-up on Oct. 17, and an all-day bus trip to Spring Mill state park on Oct. 25.

DEPUTIES BEGIN REASSESSMENT OF CITY REALTY

McCloskey and Aids Start Task of Correcting Many 'Errors.'

Complete reassessment of real estate in Center township—the first since 1911—was started today by twenty-four deputies from the office of John C. McCloskey, Center township assessor.

After receiving final instructions, the deputies set out to equalize assessments on real estate and, thus, correct many errors said to have been entered secretly in the assessor's books.

One of the abuses which McCloskey hopes to wipe off his books is the practice "by which men of great wealth, who own large amounts of real estate, are paying taxes on exceedingly low assessments."

Dishonesty Is Bared

McCloskey recently disclosed instances where the assessor's books, for years open to the public, have been tampered with and assessments lowered.

When the reassessment is completed, McCloskey said he will place one set of official books under lock and key "to prevent a recurrence of such dishonesty."

The assessor's deputies were to be aided by several men from the Indianapolis Real Estate Board, which also offered to provide experienced appraisers to help McCloskey.

Continue Checking Autos

Buildings within the mile square will be appraised by McCloskey and his chief deputy, Theodore Demmeyer.

Deputies were ordered to make assessments based on property values in normal times and not on the present sale prices of the real estate.

Clerks in the assessor's office continued checking automobiles not listed for taxation, estimated as high as 75 per cent of all cars owned in the city.

Hoover's Son Is Mum

LECTURES TO START

Medical Series to Be Given by I. U. Extension.

Stressing education for enjoyment, the Indiana university extension division will start a series of popular lectures on medicine on Tuesday night.

Attendance at all extension courses is greater than it was last year, according to registration officers. Student registrations passed the 1,000 mark last week, and still are coming in at a rate of 100 a day.

First speaker in the medical series will be Dean B. D. Myers, who will talk on "The Social Responsibility of the Medical Profession." Other lectures in the series are:

"Food and Vitamins" by Dr. J. O. Ritchie, Oct. 13; "General Aspects of Cancer" by Dr. G. Zerfas, Oct. 27; "Anemia" by Dr. E. G. Zerfas, Nov. 3; "Health and Exercise" by Dr. R. N. Kline, Nov. 10; "Endocrine Diseases" by Dr. Alfred Henry, Nov. 24; "Poisons and Poisoners" by Dr. R. N. Kline, Dec. 1; "The Heart" by Dr. T. B. Rice, Dec. 8, and "The Heart" by Dr. G. S. Bond, Dec. 15.

The classes are open to the public upon payment of a small tuition.

BIG FOUR ROUTE

You purchase shoes, fruit and candy. You call for cigarettes.

It's like this: WHEN YOU

GO TO BUY A PAIR OF SHOES, you examine the leather, the way the shoes are made, their shape. You try them to see if they fit—if they satisfy you.

Why not follow the same method in purchasing your cigarettes? You want cigarettes that are made from the very best tobacco—mild, ripe, sweet. You want them made right. You want them free from harshness and bite and "pinches." In other words, you want cigarettes that satisfy you.

WHEN YOU GO TO BUY FRUIT—oranges, grapefruit, apples—you want ripe fruit, fruit that has matured before being taken from the tree; fruit that has been handled right and packed right; fruit that's the same throughout—not green on one side and ripe on the other.

Why not apply the same test in purchasing your cigarettes? You want cigarettes made from tobaccos handled right by the farmer—ripened, sweetened in the sun and cured right. You want cigarettes that taste the same, day in and day out. You want them pleasing in taste—mild and satisfying.

WHEN YOU BUY CANDY, you want to know, above all things, that it is pure. Is it real candy or are there a lot of other things mixed in with it? And you want it fresh. You want it freshly made and you want it so packed as to reach you just as it was when it was made.

Why not apply the same test when you buy your cigarettes? You want a cigarette that's pure; for purity counts in cigarettes just as it does in candy. Then again, you want a cigarette that's just as fresh as when it was made.

Now, if you apply to cigarettes all the tests that you apply in buying shoes and fruit and candy you will purchase CHESTERFIELD like millions of other smokers.

First, because tobacco men will tell you that in Turkey, Kentucky, Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia, and Maryland, only the mildest, ripest tobacco is bought for CHESTERFIELD—tobacco cured by the sun's pure rays, by the farmers' slow-burning ovens, and finally by great high-pressure steam drying machines. In the tobacco regions where they grow tobacco and know tobacco, CHESTERFIELD is usually the leading seller.

Second, because the carefully selected CHESTERFIELD tobacco leaves are blended and cross-blended. This exclusive CHESTERFIELD blending method is not just mixing together different tobaccos—it is mixing them in such a way as to bring out the finer qualities of each. It's like producing a new and better type of tobacco—tobacco with greater mildness, more smoothness, much better taste.

Third, because the cigarette paper is selected with the same care. CHESTERFIELD paper is the purest, the best that money can buy. Then the cigarettes are made and packed by machinery in clean, sanitary factories. And the moisture-proof, attractive package—free from heavy inks or inky odor—comes to you just as if you passed the factory in the morning and took your CHESTERFIELDS from the machine.

Good . . . they've got to be good.

CHURCH GIVES FOOD FOR POOR

Cumberland Donations Go to Wheeler Mission.

Gift of more than two truckloads of foodstuffs, farm products and clothing were presented today to the Wheeler City Rescue Mission by St. John's Evangelical church of Cumberland for distribution to the city's poor.

Congregation of the church donated baskets of apples, potatoes, turnips, fruit and other products from their gardens and farms.

"When we have plenty in our fields and gardens, it is fitting and right that we should give to those who are in need," the Rev. F. P. Falmann, pastor, stated in his sermon.

A large part of the collection is canned fruit which may be distributed to needy families during the winter months.
