

TRADES SCHOOL IS INAUGURATED TO AID PUPILS

Nos. 9 and 12 Courses Aimed to Adapt Boys in Chosen Lines.

Adaptation of education to meet the needs of individual pupils is the aim of the two opportunity schools, at Clemens Vonnegut school No. 9, Vermont and Fulton streets, and at Robert Dale Owen school No. 12, 733 South West street.

Those who are admitted to these schools are boys who do not accommodate themselves readily to such subjects as English, grammar, and history.

In the opportunity schools, these pupils are given courses in printing, mill work, and other crafts. One-third of each day's work is devoted to shop and printing work.

Ages of pupils of the opportunity school range from 13 to 17. At present, twenty-two boys are enrolled at school No. 12, while at No. 9, twenty are registered.

The plan was originated by Mrs. Mary Knowlton, former principal at school No. 12. She worked with Miss Margaret McCarty, a teacher at the school, in establishing it.

At school No. 9, the idea developed independently at a later date. Miss Kate Mason, former principal, studied the system at Denver, Colo., and worked with the ideas received there in creating the second opportunity school.

The Denver schools were a development of the war. Practically all of the progress which has been made along the line of individual instruction has been made since that time.

ADVANCE PLANS FOR JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOLS

Course of Study Committees to Begin Meetings Soon.

Another step in the organization of junior high schools in Indianapolis will be taken in the next week when seminar groups and course of study committees will begin meeting.

Fifteen to twenty-five teachers will make up each group. There will be four groups studying on the different aspects of junior high school curriculum.

Teachers in the various groups will read books on the subjects which they are studying, and will report on them at the meetings.

First meeting will be that of the mathematics group. It will meet Monday, Oct. 12. Meeting of the social studies group will be held Tuesday. Thursday, the English group will hold its discussion.

WRITES ABOUT ISLAND

City Teacher's Article Is Printed in Everygirl's Magazine.

Miss Blanche Young, teacher in the commercial department at Technical high school, has written an article, "The Little Manx Nation," which appears in the current number of Everygirl's Magazine, the official publication of the Camp Fire Girls.

Miss Young's article tells that the little Manx nation is the Isle of Man, off the coast of Ireland. It was the home of the late Sir Hall Caine, and was the subject of many of his writings.

Miss Young tells of her experiences at the first Manx homecoming held in June.

NEWSBOYS TO BE FETED

Veterans Post Offering Free Rides at West Side Carnival.

Newsboys of the city will be guests of Lavelle-Gossett post No. 908, Veterans of Foreign Wars, tonight and Thursday from 4 p. m. to 6 at carnival grounds, King avenue and Michigan street.

"Any boy or girl selling papers can ride on the merry-go-round, the Ferris wheel, or any other of the riding devices until he is dizzy—and it won't cost him a cent," Tony Wright, chairman of the carnival committee, announced today. All young people are invited to "ride the rides" from 4 to 6 p. m. Friday and Monday.

DELEGATES ARE CHOSEN

Two Pupils to Represent School 67 at Red Cross Rally.

Karen Osborn, 534 Berwick street, and Lois Marshall, 719 Rochester street, will represent School 67 at a meeting of the Junior Red Cross to be held at Manual Training high school Thursday. They will report the meeting before the auditorium exercises of their school on Friday morning.

CAN FOOD AT SCHOOL

Classes at Tech Co-operate in Home Economics Work.

Food classes at Arsenal Technical high school have co-operated in canning jellies, preserves, marmalades, peaches, pears, pickles, pimentos, and tomatoes for use in the school's home economics department during this year. All methods of canning in use were employed by the classes in this project.

9 ON PUBLICITY STAFF

Tech News Writers Meet Daily to Discuss Latest Events.

A group of nine students, members of the Cannon staff at Technical high school, comprises the publicity staff which writes Tech publicity for the city newspapers. The members of the staff, which is beginning its third semester in newswriting, meet daily to discuss school news, receive assignments, and visit various sources of information.

LIBRARIAN TO SPEAK

Pupils of School 67 to Hear Talk on Holland and Switzerland.

Miss Evelyn R. Sickles, head of the school libraries, will visit school 67 Thursday to speak to pupils in the third grade. Her talk will be illustrated by a showing of clothing, toys, and other objects of interest brought from Holland and Switzerland.

City Schools Pay Tribute to Memory of the Hoosier Poet

A program was held today at James Whitcomb Riley School 43, honoring the birthday of the poet from whom the school gets its name.

Lower—The committee which today collected all the flowers bought by the pupils of the school. The contributions were made into

Reading of Riley Poems

Feature Exercises in Many Classrooms.

All parts of Indianapolis resounded today with strains of songs and poems by James Whitcomb Riley.

Not a section of the city but can hear youthful voices reciting "Little Orphan Annie," or "The Raggedy Man."

Any one who wants may hear legends and anecdotes of the Hoosier poet.

Practically every grade school in the city is holding a Riley program. James Whitcomb Riley School No. 43, 150 West Fortieth street, held elaborate exercises in honor of the man for whom the school was named.

Mrs. M. F. Conner spoke on Riley life and his love for children. She also read a number of his poems.

Pupils from the various grades recited poems and sang songs.

A committee made up of Jimmy Simmons, 3830 North Capitol avenue; John Wallace, 3840 North Capitol avenue; Shirley Howell, 3901 Graceland avenue; Joan Davis, 4068 North Capitol avenue; and Lucille Craigie, 4134 North Capitol avenue, was appointed by Miss Nell V. Green, principal, to lay a wreath on the Riley grave in Crown Hill cemetery.

The wreath was made of flowers which were brought by the children of the school from their homes.

Benjamin Harrison School No. 2 and Clemens Vonnegut school No. 9 co-operated with Arsenal Technical high school in a program at 10 this morning. Because of the bad weather, the program was held at School 9, Vermont and Fulton streets, instead of on the lawn of Riley's Lockerbie street home, as planned.

Washington Irving school No. 14 sent a few pupils from each department to the exercises, but they did not participate in the program.

Most of the schools held exercises in the various rooms. Classes, primary and departmental grades alike, have arranged program in honor of the bard of Lockerbie street.

Meetings were held in the auditoriums at many schools. These meetings featured special readings. At Thomas Jefferson School No. 7, 748 Bates street, Mary Susan Stockwell, 145 South Arsenal street, a 5A pupil, read some poems from a book which Riley autographed.

Calvin Fletcher School No. 8, 520 Virginia avenue, heard songs by both the boys' and the girls' glee clubs. Thomas D. Gregg School No. 15, Michigan street, and Beville avenue, held auditorium exercises Tuesday. The school chorus sang Riley songs.

CHILDREN TO HEAR LECTURE ON BIRDS

Fall Migration Will Be Described at Museum by Zoologist.

Joel Hadley, local naturalist, and teacher of zoology at Shortridge high school, will talk on "Fall Bird Migration" next Saturday at the story telling hour at the Children's

OPEN METAL COURSE

15 Lectures in Series at Technical High School.

A series of fifteen lectures on metallurgy will be presented by the local chapter of the American Society for Steel Treating at Arsenal Technical high school, starting tonight at 7:30.

Lecturer for the course will be Harry Green, chief chemist of the Diamond Chain and Manufacturing Company.

A year's membership in the Steel Treating Society will be offered to students attending 90 per cent of the lectures. Four books, "The A. S. S. T. Handbook," "Transactions," "Metal Progress," and "Review," also will be offered.

Members of the society's educational committee are W. T. Richards, R. C. Fielding and Harry Green.

Registration may be made either through Green, or at the opening session. By arrangement with the committee, the registration fee may be paid in installments during the period of the course.

AIR SCHOOL'S THIRD SEASON WILL OPEN

Win Honor

Donald Brown and Edward Eriar have been selected from the advanced commercial art class at Arsenal Technical high school to make three character sketches and two cartoons for the exhibit of the state vocational department.

The work will be sent to the convention of the American Vocational Association to be held this fall in New York City.

The commercial art department has completed headings for agricultural and industrial headings in the American Vocational news bulletin. Headings are yet to be made for home economics, education and for rehabilitation.

TRAVEL BOOKS TO BE OFFERED

Libraries Plan Exhibits for Week of Nov. 15-21.

"Around the World in Books" is to be the theme of Good Book week, Nov. 15 to 21, this year.

The Riley Children's room at the public library is planning a "Round the World" exhibit of all children's books which American publishers have made available in translation, books which give children a sense of intimacy with peoples of other nations.

The theme will stress world friendship through reading. Many schools will co-operate with plays, and all branch libraries will have displays.

The Central library will feature inexpensive books. Children's librarians have selected for display a number of well-illustrated books, ranging in price from ten cents to a dollar.

Offer Cheer Leader Awards

Inauguration of an award to pupils who are outstanding as cheer leaders has been announced by the athletic department of Technical high school. A solid gold miniature megaphone, with a small block "T" will be the award.

Educational Programs to Be Broadcast Over Sixty Stations.

The American School of the Air will commence its third season of educational broadcasts to the schools of the nation over the Columbia Broadcasting system on Nov. 9. Time of the program will be from 2:30 to 3, eastern standard time.

The School of the Air will go out over more than sixty stations, in all parts of the country. It will be broadcast every day except Sunday. A list of the programs will be arranged for grade schools. This year, the curriculum will be somewhat larger than it was last year. Aim of the broadcasts is to present entertainment together with authentic information.

Travelogues Feature

Programs each Monday will be given over to dramatizations of incidents in American and ancient history for the upper grades and high schools.

Geography travelogues and music appreciation will feature the Tuesday programs.

Three different kinds of programs will be held on Wednesdays. Famous literary works will be dramatized. Henry Turner Bailey will give art appreciation talks, and periods of poetry will be presented by Edwin Markham and Edmund Vance Cook.

Children's dramatizations of such works as "Hansel and Gretel" and "Cinderella" will take place on Thursdays.

Contests Arranged

Friday programs will be divided into two parts. The first section will be given over to vocational talks. In the second division, Frederick William Wile will give an interpretation of the new events of the week.

Contests will be held during the year. Prizes will be offered for the best essays on art, and for the best original poem sent in by school children.

Supplementing the American School of the Air, a series of athletic lectures will be presented each Saturday morning. Leading coaches of the country will talk. Guest stars of the various sports will speak from time to time.

PRESIDENT IS CHOSEN

Sarah Bernard Elected Head of Tech's Home Economics Club.

Sarah Bernard was elected president of the Home Economics Club of Technical high school at a meeting Tuesday.

Other officers are: Dorothea Maple, vice-president; Beatrice Risk, secretary; and Dorothy Lagler, treasurer.

The new president appointed a committee to outline courtesy rules. Members of the committee are Ruth Singers, chairman; Virginia Gray and Virginia Tolliver.

These New Salts Are Wonderful!

A HOST OF FAT FOLKS CAN'T BE WRONG

When you take Kruschen Salts for a few days that old indolent armchair feeling deserts you—it doesn't matter how fat you are—the urge for activity has got you—and you're stepping out and lively. And best of all you like this activity—you walk and enjoy it—you thought you'd never dance again, but you find you're getting as spry as ever—the old tingling active feeling reaches even your feet.

Kruschen is a combination of six mineral salts. Why not try one 50 cent bottle—a bottle lasts 4 weeks and one bottle is enough to prove to you that Kruschen will make you feel younger—spry—more energetic—you'll enjoy life—every minute of it—and lose fat.

An old stout woman wrote: "Kruschen Salts are worth their weight in gold to me."

A half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning helps amazingly to keep one healthy and stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys in splendid condition—free your system from harmful toxins and acids.

Hook's Dependable Drug Stores sell lots of Kruschen Salts—so do good druggists everywhere—with a guarantee of full and complete satisfaction—or money back—Advertisement.

CITY CLASS TO ANSWER LETTER FROM FILIPINO

Reply to Contain Data of U. S. Is Asked by Island Pupil.

English classes at John McCormick school No. 30, at 40 North Miley avenue, are preparing letters which will be sent this week to Esteban Cleofas, a pupil in the sixth grade in the elementary school at Pasig, Rizal, Philippine islands.

During the summer, Esteban wrote a letter to "Any Sixth Grade Pupil of Any School in Indianapolis, Indiana, U. S. A." It was forwarded to Mrs. Jessie B. Chalfour, teacher of English at McCormick school, who turned the project of answering over to her sixth grade English class.

Esteban tells in his letter that his class has taken an imaginary trip to the United States, and that he found it to be very wonderful, "especially the state where you live."

The answering letter will contain write-ups of the most interesting places in Indiana.

10,000 CITY PUPILS PREPARE GIFTS TO SEND ACROSS SEA

Promotion of Friendship With Foreign Lands Is Goal, As Grade Schools Work on Huge Christmas 'Bag.'

Another step toward making closer friendships between the children of the United States and those of other nations is being taken by the Junior Red Cross this fall.

Under the sponsorship of this organization, approximately 10,000 pupils of twenty grade schools in Indianapolis are preparing Christmas gifts which will be sent to foreign lands. In charge of the project is E. H. Kemper McCormick, principal of Emmanuel Manual Training high school, and chairman of the junior division of the Red Cross.

School children are busy this week filling boxes with toys—not just any kind of toys, but playthings which they have made themselves.

More than 1,000 boxes of dolls, soldiers, chairs, dressing tables, doll clothes, puzzles, balls, and airplanes are expected to be brought to Manual Training high school, from where they will be forwarded to New York City.

McCombs has notified all those who are sending playthings that Thursday, Oct. 15, is the deadline for their gifts.

In return for these presents, the children of the other countries make up gifts which they send to the United States. Last year, Indianapolis was the recipient of presents from Japan and from Poland.

Another project of the Junior Red Cross is the making of menu covers for the Christmas dinner aboard the battleships of the United States navy. Art departments of several grade schools and of Manual Training high school are working on ideas.

The United States navy is putting parachutes made of cotton through a series of rigid tests.

SHOES, BOOKS BOUGHT WITH PUBLIC FUNDS

Social Service Department to Schools Gives Aid to 1,685 Children.

Clothing, shoes and books were provided 1,685 children by the social service department of the public schools during September, according to William A. Hacker, director.

The figures this year show an increase of 32 per cent over the number taken care of in September, 1930, when 1,284 pupils were given aid.

While the number of pupils helped rose 32 per cent, the increased cost of the necessities only 28 per cent, Tacker reported.

During last school year, 7,090 school children received aid. If the rest of this year holds to the same ratio as September, almost 9,400 pupils will be on the lists of the social service department.

Similarly, if the costs of the department are 28 per cent higher throughout the year than they were last year, the total amount spent will be approximately $54,000.
