

RADIO CARRIED TO NEW HEIGHT BY STOKOWSKI

History Made as Genius Directs Orchestra in Brilliant Concert.

BY JOHN T. HAWKINS
Times Radio Editor

Beauty and tonal color unheard of until now rode the ether lanes Monday night when Stokowski's inspired baton directed the Philadelphia orchestra through the most brilliant concert ever put on the air. Melody, rich in overlapping harmonies far beyond previous broadcasts by the Philadelphia and other orchestras, started the senses with its clarity.

Sonorous deep tones of the bass rolled forth with all the power even that Stokowski could wish. Middle tones and the upper register, smooth and clear as if one were standing beside the director-genius, were the offerings of the magic-box as this giant personality made radio history.

Epochal Achievement
Radio long has needed the leadership of a mind like Stokowski's to enrich its music, bring it up from the level of the music hall and the dance orchestra.

Stokowski's concert Monday night probably will have a more far-reaching effect on broadcast music in this country than anything that has happened in radio during the last five years.

Besides being a musical genius Stokowski has the pioneering spirit that it has taken to make radio the musical instrument what it is. Until he started his broadcasts, tone quality, depth of reproduction and quantity of reproduction were wholly in the hands of the engineers.

To most of them an orchestra was just an orchestra, some loud and others not so loud. Tone shading was an unconsidered factor.

Created New Instruments
When Stokowski stepped into the picture he changed the entire scheme of broadcasting.

His ear decided where the orchestra members should be placed. His ear decided what volume level should actuate the hundreds of thousands of speakers reproducing the orchestra's music.

When accepted musical instruments failed to give him the broadcast quality he desired, he designed new instruments, one of them producing bass tones of such a mighty character as to make the largest concert hall tremble.

In fairness the radio engineer must not be forgotten in this triumphant achievement of the broadcast art.

Ambition Realized
It was his sensitive fingers that controlled the even flow of melody from the concert hall to the transmitters; his watchful eye that recorded each flicker of nervous meter needles as they measured each tone flowing through the wires of the control panel, from the most delicate passages to the rolling thunder of the tympani and tuba.

But behind all this achievement lies the directing genius of one whose ambition at last has been realized: Stokowski, the man who carried his orchestra and his personality into the hearts and homes of his great audience.

STORE EMPLOYEE OPENS FIRE AND WOUNDS BANDIT

Negro Injured Critically When He Breaks Into Meat Market.

A Negro bandit who attempted to loot a west side meat market early today was shot and wounded critically by a store employee who lay in wait for the thief and opened fire.

The alleged thief is John Brown, 45, Negro, 422 Blake street, shot by Julian Thompson, Negro, 55, employee of a meat market at Bright and North streets.

Brown was shot through the chest and the right arm. At city hospital it was said he is near death.

Thompson told police he heard the prowler outside the store and waited until Brown pried open a window and entered. Brown attempted to escape after the first bullet struck him and Thompson fired again.

A bandit who hid in a filling station at Tenth street and Indiana avenue this morning slugged the attendant and escaped with $100.

John Hughes, 22, of 25 East Thirty-third street, the attendant, told police the gunman was hidden in the lavatory, and when Hughes entered the station the slugs struck him. The bandit shoved Hughes into the lavatory and locked the door.

Regaining consciousness, the attendant called for help and finally was released by Cleve Buis, 418 North Delaware street, a passerby.

An attempted robbery was blocked Monday night when Albert Slage, grocer at 900 Indiana avenue, dodged behind a counter as a Negro bandit drew a revolver.

Slage told police he dropped to his knees after the bandit de-

TRY A WANT AD IN THE TIMES.

When You CAN'T QUIT

Fatigue is the signal to rest. Obey it if you can. When you can't, keep cool and carry-on in comfort.

Bayer Aspirin was meant for just such times, for it insures your comfort. Freedom from those pains that nag at nerves and wear you down. One tablet will block that threatening headache while it is still just a threat. Take two or three tablets when you've caught a cold, and that's usually the end of it.

Carry Bayer Aspirin when you travel. Have some at home and keep some at the office. Like an efficient secretary, it will often "save the day" and spare you many uncomfortable, unproductive hours. No man of affairs can afford to ignore the score and more of uses explained in the proven directions. From a grumbling tooth to those rheumatic pains which seem almost to bend the bones, Bayer Aspirin is ready with its quick relief—and always works. Neuralgia. Neuritis. Any nagging, needless pain.

Get the genuine tablets, stamped with the Bayer cross. They are of perfect purity, absolute uniformity, and have the same action every time. Why experiment with imitations costing a few cents less?
