Marriage of Miss Mary Louise Schumaker, daughter of Mrs. Magdalen Schumaker, 2137 East Garfield drive, to Walter C. Lindley, son of Mrs. Nancy E. Lindley, will be solemnized at 8 tonight at the home of the bride's mother. The Rev. James C. Downey will officiate. Palms, ferns and baskets of roses will be used in decorating the home. Mrs. Edward Gallagher will be matron of honor. She will wear pink satin, with fitted bodice and tulle edging the long flared skirt. Her accessories will match, and she will carry pink roses in a basket.

Harold Johnson will be the best man.

JEWELRY SHOWING FRENCH INFLUENCE

The influence of the French Colonial Exposition still is being felt in jewelry. Curved carous beaus are combined with silver beads in a very smart looking necklace for a brown costume.

Gold nuggets are massed together in another close-fitting choker. And the "bit" clasp on a double strand choker of tubular metal beads is decidedly reminiscent of African slavery days.

Daily Recipe

POTATOES AU GRATIN

2 tablespoons flour

2 tablespoons butter or other fat

1 teaspoon salt

1 1/4 pound cheese, grated

3 Named to Board of Directors

Miss Estella Franz, Laura Hartman and Mamie D. Larsh were elected to the board of directors of the Mutual Benefit Association at its dinner meeting Tuesday night at the Columbia Club.

At the business meeting, Miss Clara Given, treasurer and secretary of the board of trustees of the Mutual Service Foundation, maintained by the association, gave her report.

"The foundation provides a plan to help women in Marion county, who are in need of assistance during illness or unemployment," Miss Given said. "All women assisted so far have been those who ordinarily would not appeal to charity, but who temporarily are in distress."

"Cases are investigated with as little delay or embarrassment as possible and in several instances, those who have been assisted have become self-supporting later and strengthened by the encouragement." The total amount on Oct. 1, 1931, of the foundation was $22,264.12, the interest of which is used for "loans."

Charles Mayer of the board of safety, addressed the women on the charitable work being done by the police and firemen's organizations and asked the association's cooperation in emergency cases concerning women.

"There are few places in the city where a single woman who is down and out can go in an emergency," he said, "for food and a night's lodging."

Miss Fannie C. Graeter presided, and introduced life members of the association who were seated at the speakers' table: Mesdames William Coleman, Charles E. Coffin, James Cunningham, and Samuel Lewis Shank.

Miss Lucy Osborn of the Indianapolis Business and Professional Women's Club and an association director; Miss Minerva Thurston of the Woman's Rotary Club, and Miss Stella Coleman, also directors, and Mrs. Blanche Mitchell of Altrusa Club, also were at the speakers' table.

Your Child

It Is Crime to Scare Tiny Ones With Sinister Threats

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

I thought the day was over for scaring children, but this happened less than a week ago, and I repeat it here to enlighten those who thought as I did that the dark ages in child training were over. Evidently they are not.

A certain family with a little boy 3 years of age engaged a nurse who came highly recommended from a family of standing in another city—not a young woman, but 30 or 35 years of age.

Billy was bawky about something. "If you don't do it, I'll bend your fingers back," said the nurse. His mother overheard the remark and laid down the law then and there.

Allowed to Stay

Billy didn't understand what his nurse meant, fortunately, and the nurse was allowed to stay—on trial. But a day or so later she told Billy that she would put him down in a dark hole in the cellar and put a cross dog outside to keep him there.

This time there was no parley. Billy's nurse left. Did you ever? Would you have believed that there still existed people who would dare to talk to a child like that?

I remember about four or five years ago of hearing a rather nice looking young woman in a store say to her little girl:

"If you touch anything again I'll put your hand on the stove when I get you home."

I never got over that—really up until that time I had never heard such a vicious threat—I didn't know people ever talked like that to children.

It Doesn't Matter

She didn't mean it, neither did the nurse mean it, but that doesn't matter. Such speeches are enough to strike a terrible terror in life in general into little people's hearts.

It doesn't matter that we don't actually call in the ragman to steal Tommy or send him to the big black ear to stand in his room and watch that he goes to sleep, or call the dentist to come and hurt him, or the policeman to put him in jail—the thing that matters are the words, the silly, sinister threats.

Fear complex does not arise from actual facts as much as from idle words.

Fur Ensemble Chic

And here's another use for your old fur coat that's too worn to use as a coat. Fur ensembles of hat and belt or—believe it or not—hat and gloves! Leopard makes startling ones for sports wear, but you can do it with any kind of fur that has short, flat hair, or curly hair like Persian.

Ingrown Nail Turns Right Out!

Pain Stops Instantly!

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can't penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.—Advertisement.
