Jacobs charged Yunker refused to give his name or get out of his car. Jacobs pursued Yunker's automobile and Marcus Sedam, 948 Elm street, said Yunker also struck his car in the 1200 block Southeastern avenue.

By United Press

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The appeal of Lord Kysant, one of the outstanding financiers of Britain, against conviction and sentence to a year in prison on charges of circulating false statements in the prospectus of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, was dismissed today by the Old Bailey court of criminal appeal.

In confirming the sentence of one year imprisonment, Justice Avory said there was ample evidence on which a jury could find the prospectus contained false material. He said legal authorities supported the view that was expressed by the trial judge in summing up the case.

Thunderous Applause Marks Maude Adams' Stage Return

The first portrait that Maude Adams has allowed in more than a dozen years is shown here, center. It is a sketch made by her old friend, Blandford Campbell, while she was rehearsing the role of Portia for her national tour in "The Merchant of Venice."

Star Emerges From Long Retirement to Shine as Portia.

By United Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 4.—Maude Adams, whose performance of Peter Pan, Lady Babbie and Leonora years ago made her a tradition of the American stage, emerged from long retirement Tuesday night to achieve a personal triumph as Portia in Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice."

With the same exquisite grace that captivated audiences at the close of the last century, Miss Adams stood behind the footlights of the Ohio theater and received the most thunderous applause ever showered upon an artist in a local theater. It was her triumphal return to the American stage, after an absence of thirteen years and her inauguration to the role of Portia.

Her presence, rather than her performance, was the signal for the renewed demonstrations. Her initial appearance was greeted by a five-minute outburst from the fashionable audience who stood and cheered after each act.

The actress graciously acknowledged curtain call after curtain call, but declined to make a speech. Veteran observers pronounced the ovation the greatest tribute ever extended by a Cleveland audience.

Appearing with her was another veteran of the American stage. Otis Skinner, who preceded her from retirement, spoke the lines of "Shylock" and was cheered warmly by audiences, and praised by reviewers.

The performance of Miss Adams, who in her heyday best depicted the roles of Sir James Barrie, was praised with moderation by critics.

Describing Miss Adams' premiere to a national broadcasting audience, Edmund Vance Cook, Cleveland Post and Shakespearean scholar, said:

"She read her lines with the unexpectedness which always has distinguished her work and which gave

RAIL WORKERS UNITED TO GET SIX-HOUR DAY

Labor May Accept Cuts in Pay in Effort to Make Jobs.

By H. O. THOMPSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Railway labor may consent to wage reductions in an effort to bargain for a six-hour day, according to opinion which developed here today in the impending struggle between the carriers and their employees.

Matters are drifting toward a clash between capital and labor on the subject of railroad wages. Already the feeling-out process has begun and labor has countered sharply with its proposal for a conference to adjust the differences on a national scale.

Officials of the railroad brotherhoods, meeting here this week to go over their problems and prepare a legislative program, feel that they are united for a fight more closely than ever before.

They mentioned this united front in their communication to the railway executives and count upon an increased bargaining power to gain their objectives in the conflict which appears inevitable.

The railroad brotherhoods were successful in getting the eight-hour day. With half a million of their workers thrown out of jobs during the depression, the emphasis from the standpoint of labor now is upon methods of stabilizing employment and avoiding periodic returns of hard times. A six-hour day has been advanced as a development which would spread the jobs among a greater number of men.

Efforts are being made to frame a six-hour bill for presentation to congress. The labor executives have not agreed upon the exact formula although the bill probably will propose a basic six-hour day rather than a maximum day of that many hours.

Doctor Does Hair-Raising Stunts on Bald Heads

By United Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—A treatment that may cause hair to grow on bald heads, prevent hair from falling out, and restore color to graying hair is being studied in experiments by Dr. B. Norman Bengston of Maywood, it was learned today.

Although preliminary experiments have proved successful, Dr. Bengston said he would make no claims for his discovery until success has been achieved in all types of cases.

The treatment consists of injections of pituitary gland extracts. It was discovered by accident five years ago, Dr. Bengston said.

Further experiment seemed to prove that the glandular extracts acted on the anterior pituitary gland at the base of the brain. Previously, it had been believed that control of hair growth lay in the thyroid gland and thyroid treatments have been given with very little success.

For five years, Dr. Bengston has experimented extensively and physicians believe the results highly encouraging.

In one case, he said, a 58-year-old man, who had been bald for two years, had a complete growth of gray hair after taking the treatment for several months. After additional treatments, his hair turned black.

POLICE IN DRIVE TO END FALSE ALARMS

Negro Suspect Is Nabbed Near Box Where Fatal Call Was Sounded.

Opening their drive to halt potential killers from turning in false alarms, police today questioned William Wells, Negro, 31, of 425 West Sixteenth street, arrested when he fled after a fake call was sent from a box at Fifteenth and Lafayette streets Tuesday night.

The box, with its call numerals, 3-2-3, 3-2-3, is the same one where, early Sunday, a fake alarm was sounded which called Lieutenant Lewis L. Stanley, Engine House 16, to his death.

Lieutenant Stanley died when his pumper truck was struck by an automobile at Sixteenth street and Central avenue.

Four companies, their members with heavy hearts and grim determination, answered the alarm Tuesday.

Wells, police said, fled through an alley as apparatus arrived. A shot from the revolver of patrolmen W. Welsh halted Wells' flight.

He denied to detectives that he touched the fire alarm box. He told an incoherent story of going after phonograph needles. He said he was in a hurry and ran.

Wells is charged with vagrancy and carrying concealed weapons. Police say a razor was found in his possession.
